SAFE HARBOR FOR TUNA FLEET

Albacore Tuna boats lie anchored in the placid waters of Richardson Bay while waiting to unload their hauls of Tuna at the Coast Guard pier in Sausalito. The boats remained in harbor most of yesterday due to wind blown seas off the Farallon Islands where large schools of fish are running. According to Zek Grader of Ocean Traders in Sausalito, as many as 160 boats have been using the harbor to transfer their catches to trucks bound for canneries in San Pedro and Astoria, Ore. President Vows Freeze Will End After 90 Days

But Stabilization Machinery Is Still Needed, Nixon Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon announced today that his 90-day wage-price-rent freeze would not be extended beyond the Nov. 13 expiration date but said some form of stabilization machinery would be necessary after that.

In an unusual appearance before a joint session of Congress, the President also set as a national goal the creation of 100 million additional jobs over the next 10 years.

He said such a program was needed to cope with a new era in America's international economic relationships which have seen a radical shift in the balance of economic power and "new challenges to our leadership and to our standard of living."

(The President's address will be broadcast at 6 p.m. today on KTIM radio.)

After telling the assembled senators and House members the freeze would end Nov. 13, Nixon declared: "But I assure the Congress and the American people that when this first temporary and necessarily drastic action is over, we shall take all the steps needed to see that America is not again afflicted by the virus of runaway inflation.

"The system of wage and price stabilization that follows the freeze will require the fullest possible cooperation not only between the executive and legislative branches, but also by all Americans."

The President urged the Democratic-controlled Congress to enact as its first post-recess priority the $5.9 billion in tax cuts he proposed Aug. 15 when he announced his drastic new economic policies.

The proposed tax breaks—totalling $3.2 billion for private individuals and $2.7 billion for business—will create half a million new jobs in the coming year, Nixon contended. Some labor leaders have disputed this, claiming the tax approach favored business and would not help unemployment.

Nixon's appearance before the joint session was his third since assuming office. It indicated the importance he attaches to rapid consideration of the economic measures which are aimed at cutting unemployment and halting inflation, both of which he claimed were lega-

As for the 100 million job goal in the next 10 years, Nixon said new tax incentives would be needed and said he would propose a program of tax reform in the next session of Congress.

"I shall present new proposals in both these areas: tax reform to create jobs and new approaches toward ensuring the maximum enlistment of America's technology in meeting the challenges of peace," he said.

Nixon did not spell out what type of wage and price stabilization would follow the freeze. He announced he would meet with representatives of business, labor, agriculture and Congress within the next few days to develop a plan.

He called a meeting with labor leaders for Friday.

He pledged that whatever form of stabilization follows the freeze, it would be only temporary—"a way station on the road to free markets and free collective bargaining in a new prosperity without war."

He added:

"Let us also remember that nothing would be more detrimental to the new prosperity in the long run than to put the nation's great, strong free enterprise system in a permanent straitjacket of government controls."

Turning to the international scene implications of his program, Nixon recalled that in the quarter century since the end of World War II the United States has given "generously of itself and its resources" to help other nations achieve economic prosperity.

"In the years ahead, we will remain a good and generous nation," he told Congress, "but the time has also come to give a new attention to America's own interests."

Sale Agreement On Lake Ranch

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Owners of the 2,513-acre Lake Ranch have agreed to sell the property to the federal government for inclusion in Point Reyes National Seashore.

The agreement was announced in a document filed yesterday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

According to the document, the government will pay $3.5 million for the ranch, which has been termed "a biological jewel."

The document listed the seller as Lake Ranch Associates, owned by William A. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore., and Donald Sweet of Menlo Park.

Lake Ranch Associates purchased the land in 1963 for $1,950,000. It had asked $7 million for the property — a price the government refused to pay.

The U.S. Attorney's office filed suit in U.S. District Court in August 1970 to acquire the ranch after the owners sold six 40-acre parcels for prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

While the lawsuit was pending, Rodney H. Hamblin of the U.S. Attorney's office and Lawrence Kuechler, representing the ranch owners, continued negotiations which produced yesterday's compromise settlement.

The settlement calls for the associates to buy back the six parcels which were sold and convey them to the government with the rest of the ranch.

Acquisition of the ranch brings to almost 50,000 acres the government has acquired or is in the process of acquiring through condemnation for the 57,000-acre national seashore created by Congress in 1962.

The Lake Ranch property — named for three large lakes and numerous smaller bodies of water — was described as "the gem of the peninsula — a biological jewel" by ecologist Joel Gustafson of the Pint Reyes National Seashore Foundation in a hearing before the House Interior Committee.

The land, in the southwest corner of the Point Reyes Peninsula, includes a 1,200-foot inland ridge which falls down to a coastal bluff above a rocky beach. The ranch includes about two miles of shoreline.

Aqueduct Revenue Bonds Hit

Marin Municipal Water District should finance its share of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct with water rates or property taxes, and not from revenue bonds, district financial consultants recommended yesterday.

The district — which plans to join the Sonoma County Water Agency in the project — could save between $500,000 and $1 million over 50 years by using the agency's funds instead of selling its own bonds, the consultants said.

This saving, however, would come only if voters approved a referendum authorizing a contract with the Sonoma agency for the district's entire share of the capital costs, the consultants said.

The alternative, selling district revenue bonds, would be in two stages, with voter approval required again later for additional bonds to complete construction.

The result of choosing the referendum to finance the project would be that the voters get only one chance to ballot on the controversial aquaduct. Critics of the project again assailed it yesterday before district directors, but to no avail.

The district's share of the project's capital cost is almost $24 million. Additional payments for interest and to the Corps of Engineers for Warm Springs Dam bring the district's total share to $43 million.

If revenue bonds were to be

Shift In Emphasis At National Seashore Asked

By WAT TAKESHITA

Point Reyes National Seashore should be redesignated the Point Reyes National Park by congressional action so that the emphasis will be on preserving natural areas rather than on recreational use.

That was one of several recommendations hammered out by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday after a three-hour discussion of the preliminary master plan for the Seashore.

Commissioner Polly Smith was especially concerned about spelling out the need for giving top priority to protection of natural areas. "We owe a tremendous amount to the conservation groups for getting the seashore, and I'd like to reflect some of their concerns in the general management objectives," said Mrs. Smith.

She and Jerry Friedman, chairman of the Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, said the master plan calls for "high volume visitation" to the seashore. "High volume visitation should be secondary to the preservation of natural resources," Mrs. Smith insisted.

Douglass Nadeau, head of the National Park Service team that prepared the master plan, and Seashore Supt. John L. Sansing explained that they too want to preserve as much of the natural areas as possible. "We're not encouraging high volume of use," said Nadeau. "But we feel the pressures for high volume use will be inevitable."

The parks and recreation commissioners agreed on the following recommendations to be sent to the Marin County Board of Supervisors:

1. It is imperative that a permanent citizens advisory committee be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior to advise the National Park Service so that the public's wishes will be incorporated into the plan before hard and fast decisions are made.

2. Through proper legislative channels, the Seashore's classification should be changed from National Seashore to National Park in order to achieve a change in emphasis from recreation to natural area.

3. The wilderness proposal should be expanded to include important and fragile areas such as Double Point, all or most of the esteros, southern beaches and other areas needing special protection. The park service plan calls for a single wilderness area of 5,150 acres around Black Forest, between Mount Wittenberg and Bear Valley Gap.

4. National Park Service should be asked to convert all internal transportation systems to public conveyances at the earliest possible opportunity.

5. Facilities for private automobile transportation should be limited only to those needed for the ultimate internal public transportation system.

6. The "land classification" map in the master plan should be revised so that more areas will be left untouched.

7. The general management objective would be to retain the area in its natural state insofar as possible, and high volume visitation should be secondary to preservation of natural resources.

The commissioners said they are also concerned about plans for vehicle access to the Seashore area but decided that the county planning department would be the proper agency to comment on that.

Merritt A. Robinson wanted to make sure that private automobiles are limited to peripheral parking areas and not allowed to circulate inside the park.

At his suggestion the commissioners also asked Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske to prepare a resolution, asking the State Department of Fish and Game to give the National Park Service control over fishing and mineral rights within the seashore area.

Leroy Gerner suggested that conservation groups help put up signs in sensitive areas of the seashore, asking public cooperation in protecting environment. Gerner said asking for public cooperation may bring better results than ordering compliance with threats of penalty.

Chairman Albert J. Boro thanked the park service officials and the conservation groups for working toward preservation of environment at the seashore.

The National Park Service has scheduled two public hearings on the seashore master plan on Sept. 22 and 23 at the Civic Center. Both hearings will start at 9 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers on the third floor.

Bomb Expert Killed In Ulster Explosion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A booby trap attached to a fake bomb blew up today and killed a British army explosives expert, an army spokesman said. The Irish Republican Army's militant wing said it set the trap.

The blast at Castlerobin near Belfast occurred while a demolition team was examining what it thought was a bomb. The device was a fake, the spokesman said—but it was attached to a booby trap that apparently was aimed at wiping out the whole team.

The soldier died shortly after admission to a hospital. Two other soldiers were seriously injured, the army said.

A spokesman for the militant wing of the outlawed IRA said in Dublin his organization was responsible for the soldier's death.

It was the 101st violent death in Northern Ireland in two years and the 41st since Aug. 9, when the government of Premier Brian Faulkner authorized internment of suspects without trial and triggered the latest round of troubles.

In Dublin, Joe Cahill, leader of the privisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) was detained in the Bridewell police station today when he arrived from New York and made a pledge to step up terrorist violence in Northern Ireland.

Cahill was barred from enter-

Midair Collision; Three Are Killed

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Two small planes collided in flight near the Santa Monica Airport today, reportedly leaving three persons dead.

One plane, with a body inside, crashed in an alley in the Venice section and burst into flames. The other crashed in a backyard about a block away. Firemen said there were two bodies inside.

Democrat Boas Will Seek Mailliard Post

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Supervisor Roger Boas today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination next June in the Sixth Congressional District.

The district, now represented by Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, includes the western portion of San Francisco and most of Marin south of Novato.

Boas, 50, a car dealer, said he announced his candidacy early to give him time "to really travel throughout the district" and to build "a grass roots campaign." No one else has announced his candidacy for the nomination, but San Francisco Supervisors Robert Mendelsohn and Ronald Pelosi also have indicated their interest in running.

Mailliard is expected to seek reelection to an eleventh term.

Boas, citing his "great concern over the fate of our cities and suburbs" and his 10 years of experience as a supervisor "in trying to save and enhance them," said at a press conference that he had "decided to carry the fight to Washington."

He said that congressmen re-

Inmates Seize Prison In N.Y.

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—Rioting prisoners seized five cell blocks at Attica State Prison today, held 33 guards prisoners, beat, stripped and released eight others and set a series of fires that destroyed the chapel and garage.

The prisoners refused to talk with anyone but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller or Russell G. Oswald, state corrections commissioner. Oswald met with Rcokefeller to discuss calling out the National Guard but no decision to do so was made. Oswald then left Albany to visit the prison, which is about 25 miles east of Buffalo.

One of the eight guards thrown naked into the prison yard was seriously injured, officials said.

Busing Foes Take To Streets; 12 Arrested In Pontiac Flap

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Parents opposed to busing took to the street Wednesday, carrying American flags and daring buses to run over them. They sang "God Bless America," chanted the pledge of allegiance and when that failed, many cursed school officials.

Twelve persons were arrested at the Pontiac, Mich., bus depot, bringing to 25 the number of persons arrested in the past two days since a courtordered busing plan—the first in a northern city—went into effect.

One large woman carrying an American flag and taunting a bus driver with "You can't run over the American flag" was moved from the bus's path by police. Other protesters chanted the pledge and sang "God Bless America."

Before the day was over, eight white students and one black were injured in scuffles at Lincoln Junior High School.

In San Francisco, top city officials urged San Francisco parents to comply with a federal court order requiring busing of half the city's 48,000 school children.

Thousands of parents are expected to have their children boycott the buses when school opens on Monday.

Parents of about 300 Boston children scheduled to attend opening day classes at a new racially mixed elementary school, refused to comply Wednesday and brought their children to their old neighborhood schools.

Assault On North Supplies

SAIGON (UPI)—Two battalions of South Vietnamese infantrymen rode American helicopters into battle today as part of the Saigon government's new offensive to disrupt Communist supply lines along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

More than 700 troops of the 1st Regiment of South Vietnam's 1st Infantry Division were carried in 92 U.S. helicopters to landing zones southeast of the abandoned U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh 14 miles south of the DMZ.

Neither of the ARVN forces met initial resistance, UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported. Kellerman arrived at Landing Zone Orange, one of the two sites on an elephant grass-covered hill six miles southeast of Khe Sanh aboard the fourth helicopter to land.

Kellerman said the landing site was seven miles east of the border of Laos. South Vietnamese spokesmen at Quang Tri said reports that 1,000 new troops had landed two miles from the Laotian border were "completely false."

As the new South Vietnamese thrust was announced, the U.S. command said no American forces were involved in fighting today but that 16 GIs were killed in the war last week and 84 others wounded. The death toll was three less than the previous week. It brought to 45,487 the number of Americans killed in the war since Jan. 1, 1961.

The American helicopters were guided into their landing zones by teams of American airborne pathfinders who went in aboard the first 'copters and stayed on the ground until the combat assault was finished.

The South Vietnamese assault following the most concentrated American B52 raids in nearly a month. The bombers struck six times at Communist installations around Khe Sanh and twice into the DMZ Wednesday night and early today, military spokesmen said.

Olive trees were introduced into the United States by Spanish missionaries in the 18th Century.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Guerrillas To Release Envoy

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Tupamaro guerrillas said Wednesday they will release British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson, kidnapped and held a hostage since Jan. 8. The British embassy said today they have received no word when or where he will be freed.

Jackson

Jackson's planned release apparently was prompted by the escape of 106 Tupamaros — including the terrorist organization's leader and founder, Raul Sendic — from Punta Carretas prison on Monday. They tunneled their way to freedom during the night.

A communique sent to a local newspaper Wednesday evening said "We have decided to grant amnesty to British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson. His arrest in the people's prison no longer has meaning."

Bombing Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Members of the Jewish Defense League were charged Wednesday with bombing the Manhattan offices of the Soviet trade corporation Amtorg and the unsuccessful attempt to blow up the Russian U.N. mission at Glen Cove, N.Y.

The indictments handed down by a Brooklyn grand jury named seven JDL members in the April 22 Amtorg bombing and two of those, plus another unnamed person, in connection with the June 12 Glen Cove conspiracy.

Named in the four count indictment were Eli Schwartz, 21, JDL national youth chairman; Chaim Bieber, 41; Stuart Cohen, 18; Eileen Garfinkle, 20; Sheldon Seigel, 25; Jacob Weisel, 25, and Ayraham Hershkovitz, 26. Seigel, Weisel and a "John Doe" were charged in the Glen Cove incident.

Muskie's Remark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Sen. Edmund Muskie said Wednesday he did not think he would be hurt politically by his statement that a ticket with a black vice presidential candidate could not be elected next year.

The Maine senator, regarded as a leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, made the remark at a private meeting with leaders of the black community in Los Angeles Tuesday.

The meeting was supposed to be off the record but the comment was leaked to the news media.

Muskie said his answer to the black meeting was "frank, honest and candid" and that such a situation was wrong, but he believed it was a political reality.

Off Gulf Coast

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Fern packing 90-mile-an-hour winds hung menacingly in the open sea off the Texas coast today, keeping uneasy residents on the shore poised to evacuate if necessary.

The storm's fringes drove squalls deep enland and sent whitecaps flooding beaches along a 300-mile line from Corpus Christi, Tex., into Mexico.

Coastal dwellers boarded their houses during the night and sat beside radios waiting to see what the hurricane would do.

Weapon Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee believes American weapons are becoming so expensive and complicated that even a sharp increase in the defense budget may not meet minimum national security needs.

The committee Tuesday denounced weapons that cost more per pound than gold, aircraft munitions which cost hundreds of thousands of dollars per round and tanks which cost four times more than they did a decade ago.

If the trend is not reversed, "then even significant increases in the defense budget may not insure the force levels required for our national security," the committee said.

The warning came in a report on a $21 billion weapons procurement bill, which the committee shaved by $1 billion in a continued drive for economy.

Back On Food

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — A hunger strike has ended for antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and nine other federal prisoners protesting the nation's parole system.

The end of the strike came Wednesday as the 10 ate solid food for lunch for the first time since Aug. 5.

Sister Elizabeth McAlister, a defendant in the Harrisburg conspiracy case, announced the end of the fast at a news conference after visiting the inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for federal prisoners.

She said Berrigan and the others "never envisioned it as something never ending."

Last Nerve Gas

HIGASHIONNA, Okinawa (UPI) — The United States removed the last of 13,000 tons of poison nerve gas from Okinawa today, ending a controversy which has lasted several years.

Three convoys of 10 trucks carrying 184 tons of the gas drove the eight miles from a storage area to a pier to complete a 56-day operation to move the gas to Johnston Island near the Hawaiian Islands.

U.S. Envoy Asks Secret Paris Peace Discussions

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter, making his first appearance as chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, called on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong today to join in secret negotiations aimed at breaking the deadlock.

The appeal was not expected to produce any immediate results. Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong negotiator, was in Warsaw and missed the talks for the third consecutive week. Xuan Thuy, the Hanoi negotiator, concentrated on the South Vietnamese presidential elections which he called a tragicomedy.

Porter said his arrival gave both sides an opportunity "to take a realistic look at the situation and make a fresh appraisal of the basis for successful negotiations here."

"I would think that spokesmen of both sides would have things to say which would be in the interest of the other side to hear on a more privileged basis and which all parties could take time to consider without the requirement for immediate public response," Porter told the 128th session of the conference.

"If you are willing to depart from the practice of using this forum to produce a weekly press polemic, I believe we can find ways...in which all parties represented here can present their views, respond to adversary views, and find areas of compromise," Porter told the Communist delegates.

It was the third time since the talks with the Vietnamese Communists started here that the United States has proposed secret meetings. It was at such a meeting with the North Vietnamese that America's first negotiators to the talks, W. Averell Harriman, and his aide, Cyrus Vance, arranged for the Nov. 1, 1968, bombing halt and the expanding of the then two-sided conference to include the Viet Cong and the South Vietnamese.

Similar talks between Henry Cabot Lodge, the second U.S. ambassador to the talks, and Hanoi's chief negotiator Thuy broke down in the summer of 1969 with no progress being made by either side.

Conference sources said Porter conferred with Thuy for some 15 minutes in private before entering the full session and delivering his maiden speech.

Porter made no comment to newsmen before entering the meeting, but Thuy again accused the United States of rigging the South Vietnamese presidential elections Oct. 3.

"Last time I told you the White House was mounting a tragi-comedy in Saigon," Thuy told newsmen before entering the closed-door conference. "Now, the first act is finished and we pass to the second act —with only a single actor."

Larkspur Panel Resets Meeting

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission meeting scheduled for last night was cancelled due to a lack of a quorum.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, the meeting to review the city's new parks and recreation master plan has been reset for Oct. 13.

Palestinian Guerrilla Leaders Boycott Arab Peace Meeting

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A Jordanian delegation to a scheduled peace conference with Palestinian guerrilla leaders in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, returned to Amman today when the guerrillas failed to appear.

"After being assured by the Saudi authorities that the resistance movement had not sent a delegation to the peace conference, we decided to go home," said Riad El-Mofleh, head of the delegation.

The conference, which had been postponed twice, was sponsored by Egypt and Saudi Arabia in a move to reconcile differences between the guerrillas and King Hussein's government following Jordan's war against the Palestinian movement which culminated in mid-July.

Hussein has been denounced by several of the more militant Arab regimes for nearly wiping out the estimated 3,000 guerrillas who used Jordan as a staging area for attacks against Israel and Israeli-occupied territory.

In Israel, a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said an army patrol killed two Arab guerrillas in an orange grove in the Jebaliya refugee camp in the occupied Gaza Strip.

The spokesman said the guerrillas fired on the patrol when they were challenged.

Yasser Arafat, chief of the largest and most moderate guerrilla group —Al Fatah — said in a statement issued in Beirut Wednesday that the Palestinians would delay going to Jeddah until their views were conveyed to Arab leaders.

"We accept reconciliation (with Jordan) but not at the expense of our revolution," Arafat said. He charged the Jordanian delegation was "intentionally formed to foil reconciliation attempts" because of its makeup, which included the chief the chief of Jtrdanian intelligence and his deputy.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) spearheaded opposition to the conference and said Wednesday it was a maneuver designed to liquidate the guerrillas.

Werber Appears On Felony Drug Counts

Frank N. Werber, 41, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Superior Court to felony charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine and a misdemeanor charge of possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Trial was set for Nov. 1.

Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio and former owner of the Trident restaurant in Sausalito, was arrested June 10 by Marin drug agents who were informed by federal agents that Werber had drugs at his DaSilva Island home.

The federal agents said they had seen the drugs earlier that day when they went to Werber's residence to arrest him on a warrant charging him with being a convicted felon in possession of firearms.

Werber has another case pending in superior court charging him with possessing heroin, LSD, marijuana, cocaine, peyote, codeine and mescaline when drug agents raided his home March 26.

Werber was convicted of marijuana possession and cultivation stemming from the seizure of six seabags of pot at his home in 1968.

That conviction was upheld by a state District Court of Appeal last month and Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is expected to ask later this month that a six-month jail sentence and $2,000 fine be executed.

Charges Are Dismissed Against Ex-Councilman

Misdemeanor charges against a former Mill Valley councilman, Rodric Lee Robinson, 46, were dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed charges of being drunk in public and resisting arrest at the request of the district attorney's office which reported it had insufficient evidence to prosecute.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony said Robinson's version of what happened when he was arrested July 5 in Sausalito differed from a Sausalito police report.

When Anthony attempted to ascertain the accuracy of the police report, he said, Sausalito Police Sgt. George Rudometkin failed to return several telephone calls.

"Since the situation did not seem very serious in the first place," he requested dismissal of the charges, Anthony said.

Robinson, who now lives in Tiburon, was arrested along with Harvey E. Bragdon, 39, chief of current planning for Marin County, after police received a report of a disturbance in the 1200 block of Bridgeway.

Police said a woman who allegedly had been in a scuffle with Bragdon asked them to get her a taxi to take her home.

Robinson approached the officers and volunteered to drive the woman home, police said.

When they refused his offer, officers said, Robinson became abusive and began pushing and shoving the policemen.

Anthony said yesterday that Robinson said he talked with the officers but did not interfere with them or become at all abusive.

Bragdon was fined $75 in municipal court in August after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk in public at the time of the incident.

Youth Suffers Cut In Two-Car Crash

Steven Penny, 18, of 540 Alta Avenue, Rohnert Park, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a cut above the right eye suffered in a two-car accident at 1:20 p.m. yesterday at Old Redwood Highway and Ronsheimer Road near Cotati.

The California Highway Patrol said his car and a car driven by Susan Tucker, 20, of 213 Cinnabar Avenue, Petaluma, collided at the intersection.

Petalumans Oppose Hospital Proposal

Petaluma Hospital District board members have received a compromise proposal for meeting future growth problems, but it has drawn immediate opposition from the medical community.

Hillcrest Hospital Administrator Joseph E. Horner said he proposed a plan Wednesday in which the district would work in phases to replace Hillcrest with a new eastside hospital. He said that under the plan both hospitals would be operating for a while.

Horner said he felt the plan would be better financially for the district since it could construct the new hospital using borrowed funds based on surplus revenue from the existing hospital. He said the district then would not need to be concerned about passing a general obligation bond vote to finance construction.

Horner said the board heard representatives of the medical community complain about the plan and say they would prefer the district to operate only one hospital. Many doctors have built large office complexes near Hillcrest Hospital and oppose the construction of an eastside hospital that would pose an inconvenience to them and their patients.

The hospital board initially supported the eastside hospital plan when hospital planning consultants recommended against enlarging the Hillcrest building because of site problems. The eastside location was recommended because it would be more centrally located for district residents which stretch from northern Marin County to Rohnert Park.

ing the United States Wednesday by U.S. immigration authorities.

Police cleared the area around passport control when the airliner landed in Dublin and four plainclothes detectives led Cahill away when he disembarked. Police sources said Cahill had been detained "for questioning" but gave no further details.

Cahill, 51, told newsmen who boarded the Irish Airlines Boeing 747 at Shannon, Ireland, that the IRA provisional wing would fulfill its pledge to step up what he termed urban guerrilla warfare in Ulster unless Britain granted the illegal organization's ultimatums.

"This is a directive given by headquarters and it will be carried out," Cahill said.

The IRA provisionals, who broke with the less militant official wing of the organization, have demanded dissolution of the Northern Ireland Stormont parliament and the release of persons imprisoned without trial under Ulster government emergency laws.

In London, Prime Minister Edward Heath and his cabinet ordered Parliament recalled to debate the situation in Northern Ireland.

A government announcement said the House of Commons will return from its summer recess Sept. 22 and Sept. 23 and the House of Lords will reassemble for one day, Sept. 22.

turn home every two years and make statements about reevaluating and reordering national priorities, "but it's the same old story. As soon as they return to Washington, they forget all about the people who sent them there.

"Certainly that is true of Congressman William S. Mailliard," he said.

Boas said that Mailliard and other congressmen had not failed to vote for continued financial support of the Vietnam War, or for funds to build a supersonic airplane.

But, he said, when it comes to protecting the urban environment, they have failed to provide adequate support for mass transportation, air and water pollution control, housing, redevelopment, sewage treatment, solid waste disposal, schools and teachers, crime control, earthquake protection, parks and open spaces.

Boas promised to work to make "this a cleaner, safer and more decent area in which to live — a place where the needs of the people come first."

Firemen In Novato To Get Raises

Novato firemen will get a bigger pay check at the end of this month because of a 4 per cent pay hike granted in July.

District directors last night unfroze the pay hike, retroactive to July 1, after advice from the Marin County Counsel's office that it wouldn't violate President Nixon's wage freeze, Chief Jack Kidder reported.

Directors had granted the raise in July, but held up issuing it because of the wage freeze.

Firemen will receive their retroactive pay and increased salaries in their checks at the end of this month, Kidder said. They are paid twice a month, but the mid-month checks have been made up already, he said.

Kidder reported that 20 persons have applied for the one available fireman job. Written examinations will be held Saturday and agility examinations Sept. 18.

There also is an opening for a part-time bookkeeper-secretary and applications will be accepted at fire headquarters, Grant Avenue and First Street.

Marinite In Plea Charge To Heroin

HONG KONG (UPI) — A California menswear salesman from Marin County, charged with trafficking in dangerous drugs changed his plea of guilty to innocent in a Hong Kong court today.

Richard Edward Fagan, 24, of Lucas Valley, was arrested at Kai Tak International Airport Aug. 31 when he flew in from Bangkok with 688 grams of heroin worth $3,300.

Fagan pleaded guilty this morning but said he did not know the package he brought from Bangkok contained heroin. Judge W. S. Collier said he could not accept Fagan's plea of possessing drugs but without knowing it.

The divorced salesman had worked for Hastings at Northgate Shopping Mall in San Rafael from 1965 to 1967, then for Gene Hillers on Bridgeway, Sausalito, until February.

The case was remanded until Sept. 20.

Windows Broken

Vandals broke five windows valued at $159.75 at a new construction site at 75 Lovell Avenue, San Rafael, between 4 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday, Robert Schwingler of 511 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police.

sold, voters would be asked on the Nov. 2 ballot to approve sale of $19.85 million to finance the first two stages of construction from the Russian River. The final stage, costing about $4 million, would come before voters later to complete the financing.

Carl D. Kadie Jr., representing the consultants, Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco, surprised directors with his observation that the district's share of the project in Sonoma may be subject to property taxation by Sonoma County. He acknowledged that this may be the case regardless of which financing scheme is adopted.

Under current law, however, the district cannot contract with the Sonoma agency to avoid selling district revenue bonds. Legislation is pending in Sacramento to give it this additional power.

(The legislation won unanimous endorsement yesterday from the Senate Water Committee, and went to the Senate floor without oppostion. Approval by the upper house will send it back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

(The bill, AB 2423 by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, will become law immediately once signed by the governor.)

But because the legislation is not yet law, district directors passed resolutions calling for both the referendum and the bond election. Once the legislation becomes law, the bond election resolution will be rescinded.

Objections to both methods of financing came from Thomas A. Thorner of Kentfield, an attorney and president of Marin Alternative, which opposed the project. He asked why the district did not consider using general obligation bonds, which he said could save about $1 million more in interest.

Kadie concurred with Thorner's estimate of the additional saving in interest, but said the district's credit rating would drop because of the large amount of outstanding general obligation bonds.

No mention was made that general obligation bonds require two-thirds voter approval, while revenue bonds and the referendum require only a majority approval to pass.

Liquid Silver, Gold Hijacked

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Authorities admitted they were baffled today by the hijacking of a Railway Express Agency (REA) truck carrying an estimated $426,000 worth of liquid gold and silver.

The FBI and state police learned of the hijacking Wednesday when REA said the green van failed to arrive at Newark Airport after leaving West Paterson, N.J.

"It's liquid gold and silver," said one FBI agent. "That's all we know about the hijacking for the moment."

An REA spokesman said the truck and driver, Alfred Basile, were cut off on an isolated area in Clifton, N.J. by two cars and eight masked gunmen.

Police said Basile was forced into one of the cars and driven around for two hours before being released. His hands were handcuffed behind his back but he was uninjured, police said.

Planning Bill To Assembly Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill creating a North Coast planning commission to include Sonoma County has been assigned to the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee, bypassing the regular assignment that would have put it in the local government committee.

The chairman of the local government committee, John T. Knox, D-Richmond, is author of a competing bill that would include Sonoma in a new regional planning agency of the nine Bay Area counties.

The North Coast commission bill, SB 920 by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, will be heard by the governmental organization committee at 3:45 p.m. on Sept. 23 in the Capitol.

The bill bypassed Knox's committee at the instruction of Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-North Hollywood.

Collier's bill would create a North Coast Area Planning and Development Organization, but would give local governments the power to veto any of the organization's policies or actions.

Driver Is Critical From Crash

A Petaluma man was critically injured and four others suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident at 2:15 a.m. today on Highway 101, a mile north of Petaluma.

David D. Carson, 23, of 742 Marshall Avenue, was transferred from Hillcrest Hospital with a head injury to the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

Also injured were the two other drivers, Vernon Shepperd, 26, of San Francisco, who was treated at Hillcrest for leg cuts, and Nancy Curry, 24, of Santa Rosa, who was treated for head cuts.

Also treated at Hillcrest were two passengers in Shepperd's car, Russie Monarfa, 22, of San Francisco, eye cuts, and Donald Tobener, 34, of San Francisco, cuts of the knees and elbows.

The California Highway Patrol said Carson's southbound car struck the rear of Shepperd's car, sending it across the center divider strip into the path of the northbound car driven by Miss Curry.

Marin City Man Hurt In Wreck

A 22-year-old Marin City man was injured Tuesday when the Golden Gate Bridge District paddle truck he was working in was hit by a car on the bridge.

Larry Adam of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, and Terry O'Rourke, 31, of San Francisco, driver of the truck, were treated at Children's Hospital in San Francisco for minor injuries.

California Highway Patrol said the paddle truck had stopped in the northbound lanes of the bridge with its lights flashing at 5:10 a.m. when a car driven by Robert B. Stemme, 53, of 3221 Shelter Bay, Mill Valley, struck it from behind.

Stemme was not injured.

Recycle Depot Permit Backed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee yesterday approved a six-month use permit for a private firm to operate a recycling depot on Greenfield Avenue.

The action follows similar approval by the city's planning commission — an action which one commissioner has appealed to the city council.

According to Thelma Foster of the public works department, Commissioner John H. Colteaux's appeal will be heard Sept. 14 by the council.

Colteaux has complained the recycling depot, to be operated by Whole Systems at 275 Greenfield Avenue, would not be a fitting operation for the east entrance to town and has urged it be located elsewhere.

Marin City Woman Injured In Accident

A 51-year-old Marin City woman was reported in satisfactory condition today following an automobile accident Tuesday, according to Marin General Hospital.

Ella McCall of 49 Cole Drive suffered a concussion, neck sprain and chest injury in the accident. Details of the accident were not available.

SCHOOLS

bama with both city and county schools, registered students without incident Wednesday under a new federal court-ordered desegregation plan. The plan is the only one in the state calling for large numbers of students to be transported by bus to achieve a racial balance in schools.

Of the 68,000 students in the Mobile system, 6,300 were assigned to schools outside their attendance zones.

In Birmingham, Ala., more than 500 persons demonstrated in front of city hall and the federal building, protesting court-ordered desegregation.

A Nashville, Tenn., school official said Wednesday about 80 to 85 per cent of the city's students attended school Wednesday, despite the urging from antibusing leader Casey Jenkins that people keep their children home.

The new federally prepared desegregation plan in Dougherty County, Ga., was met with criticism. School officials at Monroe High School complained Wednesday their school had only about 20 to 30 per cent whites in a total enrollment of 1,100. The plan, they said, may have excluded some whites or white parents were able to use false addresses in order to send their children to other schools.

One busing plan ran into financial difficulty. Dr. Charles Lindly, Rapid City, S.D., city school superintendent, said his school district has no money to finance the busing of Indian students to school each day.

"If we ever started busing all the students in town, there would be no end to it," Lindly said. "We have a serious financial situation here as elsewhere and we have $800,000 in deficit spending this year."

Lehman L. Brightman, president of the United Native Americans, said he would give the school board until Oct. 7 to start busing or he would file a lawsuit.

Mrs. Irene McCabe, a 36-year-old mother of three and leader of the National Action Group (NAG) which has led white opposition to busing, called on school Superintendent Dana Whitmer to close all schools "until they can be made safe for our children."

Whitmer refused to close the schools and the school board backed his decision at a Wednesday night meeting.

Mrs. McCabe, wearing a wine-colored minidress, was cursing as she stormed out of a head-to-head session with Whitmer.

OBITUARIES

Jeannette M. Llanes, 49, Dies

Jeannette M. Llanes of San Rafael, a 14-year-resident of Marin County, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 49.

Mrs. Llanes, who resided at 185 Novato Street, was a native of San Francisco.

She is survived by her husband, Franklin C. Llanes of San Rafael; her mother, Agnes Fulton of San Francisco, and two brothers, Forest M. Fulton of Novato and Robert C. Fulton of Campbell.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be held at St. Sebastian's Catholic Church in Greenbrae at a date and time to be set.

Private burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

EDITH GARDINER

Funeral for Edith M. Gardiner, 89, a member of the Novato Senior Citizens, was held in Bowling Green, Ohio, last Friday.

Mrs. Gardiner of 84 Orchard Way died unexpectedly of natural causes on Aug. 31 while visiting a niece in Bowling Green, according to her daughter, Shirley French, of Novato.

Mrs. Gardiner was a native of Roscommon, Mich., and had lived in Novato for eight years. She was a member of the Novato Methodist Church and Order of Eastern Star.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, Kenneth Kiely, of Bay City, Mich., six grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Holly, Mich.

COL. CHAMBERS

Lt. Col. (ret.) Laurel Lee Chambers of Mill Valley died today in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

A native of Gary, Ind., he had lived in California and Marin County 15 years, residing at 232 Marin Avenue. Chambers served in the U.S. Army for 30 years, most of that time in the Judge Advocate General's office. For 10 years after leaving the Army he was employed as a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison. He was a member of the Gary Masonic Lodge and the Oklahoma Bar Association.

Chambers is survived by a son, Doug Chambers of San Rafael; a daughter, Judy Chambers of Sonoma and a brother, Galen Chambers of Indiana.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

LAURENCE EASTON

Private funeral for Laurence Parsons Easton, member of a pioneer California family, was held yesterday in San Mateo.

Easton, 74, died Sunday in a San Francisco Hospital after a long illness. He and his wife, Grace, lived at 129 Bolinas Avenue, Ross for the past 36 years.

His father, the late Ansel Mills Easton, founded the town of Easton which is now the Broadway section of Burlingame. His grandfather, Ansel Ives Easton, in partnership with Darius Ogden Mills and W. C. Ralston developed the Buri Buri grant which included most of the northern end of San Mateo County.

Easton was a graduate of the Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass. He was a member of the American Legion Post 179 of San Anselmo.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister Louise Easton Ward and several nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

MARY BOTMAN

Private funeral for Mary Stahl Botman, retired cook and housewife, was held yesterday in Novato.

Mrs. Botman, 87, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Finland and came to this country in 1904. She worked as a cook in San Francisco for several years. Her husband, the late John Botman, was a contractor In Burlingame and San Mateo. Mrs. Botman moved to 595 Midway Boulevard, Novato, a year ago, to make her home with her daughter, Virginia Mundt.

She is also survived by a brother, William Stahl of Monterey; two grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Occupancy Age Lowered On Housing

The Marin County Housing Authority has reduced the minimum age for occupancy of public housing in Marin County from 21 to 18 years, according to Keith Kelly, deputy director of the authority.

The new regulation, adopted by the authority board Tuesday, and allowing persons 18 or over to rent units in public housing, came, Kelly said, in recognition of recent legislation reducing the required age for California voters from 21 to 18.

The Marin County Housing Authority board also:

ARCHITECT — Authorized the San Rafael architectural firm of Crawford and Banning to submit a proposal for remodeling administrative offices of the authority and redevelopment agency.

REPLACEMENT — Authorized the authority staff to replace furnaces and flues in all 28 units at the Homestead Terrace project.

MODERNIZATION — Awarded a contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera for repaving of parking areas in Marin City and repair of a slide behind high rise housing in Marin City. The firm's low bid for the work was $19,240.

Report Gloomy On Wine And Beer

A beer and wine license will be difficult to get for a public administration building like the Marin Civic Center because it would be precedent-setting.

That opinion was expressed yesterday by Stanley Pierce, district administrator for the Santa Rosa district office of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

Pierce said he had received an application for a beer and wine sale license from Donald A. Giovanoni and Camille Bamater, operators of the Civic Center Cafeteria. The application was forwarded to the division office in San Francisco, which in turn will get a ruling from the main office in Sacramento.

Pierce declined to speculate on what the ruling might be but offered these pessimistic comments:

"I know of no place in the state where liquor is allowed in a public facility like this. In auditoriums, yes, but this is an administration building."

Pierce said the department did not look too favorably on the location because the cafeteria is in a public building and is near the courts and the county library.

"You've also had a heck of a lot of problems in that building," he added, referring to the shoot-out and bomb explosion of last year and the Free Angela demonstrations.

A beer and wine license in the Marin Civic Center would set a precedent statewide, said Pierce.

He has received three protests against the application from Marin residents, including one from a minister. Even without the protests, he said the application would have posed a difficult question.

With the protests, a public hearing would be required even if the Alcoholic Beverage Control department recommended approval. If the department denies the license, the operators of the Civic Center cafeteria could demand a hearing.

Last June 15, the Marin County Board of Supervisors supported the idea of beer and wine sale at the Civic Center cafeteria, located on the top floor of the Hall of Justice, two floors above the courts.

Jurist's Grandson In Guilty Plea

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) —Sterling Foster Black Jr., 20, of Albuquerque, the grandson of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, pleaded guilty Wednesday to possessing dangerous drugs. Sentencing was set for Sept. 27.

Black was arrested a week ago by a policeman who said he was walking erratically and waving his hands. He was released to the custody of his parents pending the sentencing hearing. His father is former New Mexico Sen. Sterling F. Black of Los Alamos.

Architects Are Honored For Project

Three Marin architects have been awarded the 1971 "Homes for Better Living Award" for their design, "The Californian," 296 clustered apartments on an 11.9 acre site in Orange County.

The men, Howard Backen of Belvedere, Bruce Ross of Tiburon and Robert Arrigoni of Nicasio, are members of the architectural firm Backen, Arrigoni and Ross of San Francisco.

The story of their prize-winning design is featured this month in American Home magazine.

The award sponsored by the American Institute of Architects, House and Home and American Home magazines, was for multiple family design dwellings.

The author of the article, Nancy Gray, calls the complex "one of the freshest and most livable adventures in apartment design today."

The article displays pictures of the project built in Tustin.

Baltimore Canyon Access Is Assured

Public access to the upper portion of Baltimore Canyon hiking trail above Larkspur has been assured, but access to the lower portion is still under negotiation.

Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks and County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske announced yesterday that agreement has been reached with Kent Woodlands Properties Inc., for the county to buy a floating easement for the nominal price of $1.

The county is trying to get a similar agreement with the A.A. Tiscornia Estate, which owns the lower portion of the Baltimore Canyon trail.

The hiking trail starts at the end of Madrone Avenue in Larkspur and follows Larkspur Creek through the Tiscornia land, then the Kent Woodlands Properties land and into property owned by Marin Municipal Water District.

Joske said he is hopeful that an agreement for a public easement can be reached with the Tiscornia Estate. "If we can't, we may have to go to court."

Marin County Board of Supervisors last July pledged their support to maintain public access to the forested Baltimore Canyon, even if it means going to court.

Maintenance Of Chinatown A Must

TORONTO (UPI) — The maintenance of Toronto's Chinatown is essential for making sure this city is not afflicted by the same problems plaguing many American cities, according to a report presented to the Toronto City Council.

The Chinese area is "under great pressure" for change, but should be preserved since it lends stability to the city's downtown area — something that has been lost in many American cities, the report said.

District Cancels Quake Insurance

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board has agreed to cancel its earthquake insurance for its treatment plant for a saving of $3,400 per year.

According to Ralph C. Noah, district manager, the action followed a poll of other sanitary districts from San Francisco to Santa Rosa showing none carried such insurance.

On other matters, the board was told the district had forwarded its first sewer improvement report to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The water quality control board earlier this year halted all new construction in the Ross Valley by refusing to allow sewer connections until improvement of sewage clearing lines is made.

Noah said he felt the water quality staff would authorize about 37 sewer connection permits for single family homes based on the district's progress report. Additional report will be made monthly.

Tiburon Gets Extension Of Annexation Deadline

The City of Tiburon last night won sufficient time to let voters decide on Oct. 19 whether or not areas on both sides of Tiburon Boulevard should be annexed to the city.

The time extension was granted by a 3-to-2 vote of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission at the Civic Center.

Commissioners J. Wayne Womack, Roy Farrington Jones, and Hugh G. Marchant voted for the time extension, until Nov. 16.

Commissioners Louis H. Baar and Arnold M. Baptiste dissented, arguing that Tiburon had not completed the annexation procedure in the allotted one year, and the procedure should be terminated for a fresh start.

A score of citizens in the audience appeared ready to rekindle the entire annexation war that waged a year ago between Tiburon and Mill Valley, both seeking to annex the tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center.

However, Chairman Marchant managed to limit most of the arguments to the question of the time extension and not spread to the merits of the annexation proposal.

Commissioners agreed that if Tiburon cannot complete the annexation by Nov. 16, no further extensions would be given. Marchant was the only one who said he is willing to give another extension if there is an unavoidable delay.

Tiburon proposes to annex these two parcels:

1. Strawberry peninsula south of Tiburon Boulevard and east of Highway 101, including the Strawberry Shopping Center — total 738 acres.

2. The area north of Tiburon Boulevard and east of Highway 101, including Eagle Rock, Bayview Heights and Bel Aire subdivisions —total 297 acres.

Majority votes will decide whether or not one or both of these parcels will become a part of the City of Tiburon.

Mayor Denis T. Rice explained that one of the reasons for the delay in annexation was the change in city manager, which left the city without a manager for about four months.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning and several citizens backed Rice's request for a time extension so that voters can decide.

Leading the opposition were Douglas de La Fontaine, chairman of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District; attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann of Strawberry; and Paul Jouvre of 30 Eagle Rock Road.

Kaufmann charged that Tiburon made so many procedural errors in processing the annexation that lawsuits will hold up any annexation for at least two years or more. Therefore a two-month extension would be meaningless, said Kaufmann.

Local Agency Formation Commission also:

NOVATO —Approved Novato's annexation of 35 acres at the corner of San Marin Drive and Hill Road, where townhouse developments are planned.

MUIR BEACH — Approved the Muir Beach Community Services District's annexation of the 35-acre Leland E. Stevenson property on Shoreline Highway two miles north of Muir Beach. Stevenson wants water supply for development of one-family homes.

CEDARS — Gave Cedars Development School the right to annex its 19-acre parcel between San Rafael and San Anselmo to the San Anselmo Sanitary District. Septic tanks are failing on the school property, located just south of Tamalpais Cemetery.

ROSS — Granted Mario Ancona of 81 Rock Road and Russell Merrett of 75 Rock Road, Kentfield, permission to take a portion of their properties out of the Ross town boundary and put them into the county area. The only access to the homes are via the unincorporated area of Kent Woodlands. At present the properties are partly in Ross and partly in the unincorporated area.

NEXT MEETING — Set 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13 as the next meeting. Meetings are held in the board of supervisors' chamber at the Civic Center.

Warrant Issued In Check Case

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Superior Court for Vanna Estelle Dugger, 29, of San Anselmo, charged with car theft and fraudulent possession of checks.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when she failed to appear in court to enter a plea Tuesday.

She was arrested June 16 when she attempted to cash a check at a San Rafael bank.

The check had been stolen earlier that day from Beverly Stents of 78 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, police said. Mrs. Steven's car had also been stolen from in front of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, police said.

Meagher Is Chosen New Reed Principal

Mike B. Meagher, a Los Angeles County school administrator, has been hired as principal for Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools, Reed Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello reported.

The 34-year-old Meagher was chosen for the $17,300-a-year post Tuesday night by the Reed School District board which met in closed session for 30 minutes before announcing its decision.

Since 1966, the new principal has been employed with the Pomona Unified School District and most recently served as vice principal for Pomona High School, the superintendent said. For five years before going to Pomona, he was an elementary and junior high school teacher for the Azusa School District, also in Los Angeles County.

Meagher, a native of Arkansas, attended elementary and high schools in Texas. He is a 1959 graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a degree in business management and received a masters degree in education from Los Angeles State College. In addition, he has done graduate work in administration at the University of Southern California.

The new principal, who was chosen from a field of 30 applicants, is married and the father of two children. He replaces Irwin Karp who resigned the position in June to devote his time to a private school he owns in Santa Rosa.

The Reed School District Board Also:

MUSIC TEACHER — Agreed to employ Ruth Coelho as a part-time instrumental music teacher at a salary of $4,015 a year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of elementary teachers Patricia Axelrod and Carol Finn. Mrs. Axelrod had been on a leave of absence from the district for the past year and Mrs. Finn resigned to accept a teaching job in Sonoma County.

LEAVE — Granted a year's leave of absence to Reedland Woods School social science teacher John Li Santi who will do graduate work this year.

INTERDISTRICT TRANSFERS — Approved interdistrict transfers for seven students.

ASSOCIATION — Agreed to pay the $15 annual member fee in the Marin County School Boards Association.

CLASSROOM — Agreed to rent a classroom to the Marin County schools office for $1,800 a year for special education classes for youngsters with speech and language difficulties.

AIDES — Employed Georgia McKinley and Nancy Behrens as teacher aides.

AIDE RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of teacher aides Jo Anne Bertolli and Jacqueline Cloidt.

LANDSCAPING — Reejected a $41,030 bid from the Tamal Construction Company of San Anselmo for landscaping of Reedland Woods School. The bid was the only one received for the work.

PORTABLE — Authorized the superintendent to take the steps necessary to move a portable classroom from Bel Aire to Reed School.

MEETING — Postponed the board's next regular meeting from Sept. 21 to Sept. 22 since a quorum will not be present on the regular meeting date.

State Unhappy With Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— President Nixon was in trouble with California voters prior to the announcement of his new economic program, the California Poll reported today.

Mervin D. Field's poll said a public opinion sample of 1,008 potential voters taken just prior to Aug. 15 showed Nixon would probably have been defeated at that time by any of four possible Democratic contenders.

In the survey, completed between Nixon's announcement of his trip to Peking and of his wage-price freeze, Nixon trailed Sen. Edmund Muskie (50 to 43 per cent), Sen. Edmund Kennedy (49 to 43), Mayor John Lindsay (48 to 43) and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy (47 to 44).

The president had small leads when paired against Sen. George McGovern (48 to 41) and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (49 to 41), and large leads against a half dozen other potential Democratic hopefuls.

Newhall Files His Papers For Mayor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Scott Newhall, former editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, Wednesday filed his official declaration of candidacy for San Francisco mayor.

"I have had many journalistic battles and business battles in my life," Newhall, 57, said as he submitted a 100-word declaration to Registrar of Voters Emery Mihaly, "and I have yet to lose one."

Start Of Corte Madera's Fall Rec Program Stalled Over Funds

Corte Madera's fall recreation program was set back at least a week last night when disgruntled town councilmen refused to appropriate needed funds pending a full accounting of funds allocated last year.

The refusal, spearheaded by councilman Robert P. Simmons, prompted an hour-long discussion between councilmen and members of the audience who turned out in support of an expanded program.

"How can we appropriate funds when we don't know if we had a good program for the money (last year)?" Simmons asked.

Simmons was joined by Mayor Holmes S. Norville and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst in requesting a full accounting of costs incurred by the city including hidden costs such as staff time spent on recreation by the town manager, clerks and finance officer.

According to Simmons, the recreation department was given $56,000 last year but warned it would have to account for the funds this year. To date, he said, he has only been given partial figures which do not fully reflect where the money was spent.

At the heart of the controversy is a question whether Corte Madera tax dollars were used to augment fee-supported recreation programs which are open to residents of other communities.

The fall program, featuring such exotic courses as belly dancing and yoga, was scheduled to begin Sept. 20 with registration the week before.

Since the council does not meet again until Sept. 20, the program will be at least a week behind schedule if the council appropriates the funds.

The council did however, authorize expenditure of $3,000 for four free programs designed for children, teen-agers and senior citizens of Corte Madera.

In related action, the Council approved an agreement with the Marin Senior Coordinating Council to provide bus transportation for senior citizen outings.

Cost to the town for the yearlong transportation agreement totals $2,000 with an equal amount of matching county funds.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

LIBRARY — Heard a progress report on the Corte Madera Regional Library now under construction. The library is a joint town-country venture and is scheduled to open Dec. 1.

SHOPPING CENTER — Gave final approval to an ordinance rezoning about 58 acres east of Highway 101 from light industrial to regional shopping district. That acreage along with 17 acres previously rezoned is proposed for a 75-acre shopping center.

HIGHWAYS — Registered formal objection to a state highway committee proposal that Highways 1 and 17 be removed from the state highway system.

TREE — Authorized removal of a 75-year-old Monterey Pine tree at Pixley Avenue and Tamalpais Drive. According to the town engineer the tree is dying and is a safety hazard.

CLAIMS — Rejected three claims against the town — one totaling $10,634 and filed by Wayne Allan York of 473 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, for burns sustained July 5 from unexploded Fourth of July fireworks which detonated when he picked them up. The others were filed by Evelyn Tilles of 1411 Casa Buena Drive for repair of stolen equipment amounting to $100 and the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. for automobile repairs totaling $810.

EASEMENT — Set Oct. 4 for a public hearing on a request from the Cal Mortgage Co. on Paradise Drive to shift a maintenance easement from one side of a drainage ditch to the other.

HOME OCCUPATION — Approved a home occupation permit for Lynette Gray who operates a Poodle clipping service in her home at 158 Granada Drive.

CURB AND GUTTER — Referred to staff a petition signed by 41 Corte Madera Avenue residents requesting installation of curbs and gutters.

DOUGHBOY — Agreed to support the Marin County United Veterans Council in its effort to locate the doughboy statue, formerly in front of the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium at Civic Center. County supervisors have approved locating the statue near a drainage ditch 100 yards from the auditorium.

RETAINING WALLS — Adopted a policy statement saying it will consider liability on an individual basis for repair of retaining walls on lots adjacent to Redwood Avenue and Crescent Road. Many of the walls are deteriorating and pose a potential hazard of land slides. Whether repair will be done by property owners or the town will be decided on an individual basis.

SEPTIC TANKS — Acting as the Corte Madera Sanitary District board, adopted a policy statement saying it will no longer grant septic tank permits. Left undecided, however, was an appeal of a sanitary commission decision denying a permit to Per S. Nakkim of Mill Valley for his lot at 4 South Way. The board is expected to act at its next meeting, Sept. 20.

Approval To Church Use For School

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the use of a church education building to house a Montessori School and Day Care Center.

The First Presbyterian Church had requested the use permit to allow the school to operate in its education building at 939 B Street.

The board heard that the school would include 10 to 30 children and would operate between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The commission also agreed to establish separate and small committees to study the six aspects of the proposed environmental design plan for Petaluma. Groups will focus on environmental land use, recreation, residential, commercial, industrial and unincorporated land use.

Commissioners approved the final map for Deman Center subdivision to be built at Petaluma Boulevard north near Stony Point Road and also heard Planning Director William C. McGivern report that the federal government, will select a portion of Sonoma County to do a study on future development and growth patterns. He said he hoped the Petaluma area would be selected.

College Must Rehire Teacher Despite Speech

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—A judge ruled Wednesday that the College of San Mateo must allow an English instructor to teach this year despite his criticism of a former school president.

The decision was handed down by San Mateo County Superior Court Melvin E. Cohn in the case of Larry Stewart.

The college Board of Trustees had refused to renew Stewart's contract in June—13 months after he made unflattering remarks about ex-president Robert L. Ewigleben at an antiwar rally.

Cohn said the trustees were required by law to notify the 35-year-old instructor in writing of their action by May 15.

However, the judge said, there was no notification. He said the school therefore had to keep him on the staff.

Since Stewart has already taught for two years, he could be awarded tenure at the end of the coming school year.

Marin City Firm Lays Down New Land Policies

The California Development Co., already faced with a suit by two Marin County agencies seeking to regain control of Marin City lands, has laid down a new condition for relinquishing 60 acres of redevelopment land in that community.

According to Keith Kelly, deputy director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, the development firm has asked that the two groups waive a density provision for 167 acres of land on the ridge above Marin City.

Under the provision, the company, which owns the ridgeland, is required to pay the agency and authority from $1,000 to $2,000 for each dwelling unit built on the land in excess of the 224-unit density already approved for the property by the Marin County Planning Commission.

In exchange for the waiver and title to the ridgeland (still held by the redevelopment agency), the company has agreed to turn over control of the 60 acres of redevelopment land to the agency and authority. California Development Co. is still exclusive developer for Marin City and thus has legal control of the redevelopment property.

On Tuesday the authority board rejected the company's new demand as "totally unacceptable," Kelly said. In addition, the board reaffirmed its Aug. 26 decision (made in conjunction with the redevelopment agency) to take California Development to court to regain, both the 60 acres and the ridgeland which the firm purchased from the agency in 1962 for $441,000. The agency has held the development firm's final payment on the ridgeland in escrow and retained title to the land.

Earlier, California Development had made a verbal commitment to give up its interest to the redevelopment land in exchange for the ridgeland title, but apparently changed its mind, according to Kelly, and decided to ask for the waiver as well.

Hearing Set On Ordinance

Directors of the Tiburon Fire Protection District last night set Oct. 13 as the date for a public hearing on a proposed ordinance to require installation of sprinkler systems and fire alarms in many downtown businesses.

Wellman H. Topham, board secretary, said the hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in Fire Station No. 1, 1679 Tiburon Boulevard.

The ordinance would require sprinklers and alarms, installed at the owner's expense, in most Main Street businesses along the water and in other establishments to be designated by the fire chief, Topham said.

Know anyone having a birthday?

I-J BIRTHDAY QUIZ STARTS MON., SEPT. 13

New daily feature on the Comic Page

Is someone you know having a birthday? Friends, children, relatives, neighbors?

Birthdays are fun. And to help make them even more so, the Independent-Journal is starting a new feature, "BIRTHDAY QUIZ", by Gordon Greb, distinguished professor of journalism at San Jose State and at one time a member of the staffs of the I-J and KTIM.

The I-J will publish names submitted by readers of people having a birthday "today" . . . and also a quiz on famous persons, one of whom was born on the same given day. Idea is to guess which one it is. (We'll also give the answer).

TO SEND IN BIRTHDAYS, DO THIS:

Send in, in writing, the name, the birthday and telephone number of the person whose name you wish to have published. Send in at least 4 days prior to the day of birthday. Mail in or drop off at any I-J office. No telephone calls can be accepted. Print information clearly.

- Send to: BIRTHDAY EDITOR, Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902.

Ferry Line Granted Permit Extension

SAN FRANCISCO — Harbor Carriers yesterday was granted a one-year extension of its permit by the Public Utilities Commission to start serving Sausalito from San Francisco and Alcatraz from both San Francisco and Tiburon.

The PUC also ordered the company to stop providing any unauthorized passenger service and to stop violating rules on the public posting and filing of timetables.

The staff of the PUC had recommended that Harbor Carriers' permit to serve Sausalito be revoked. The staff said that the service never has been provided, although the PUC granted a permit for the service several years ago.

Harbor Carriers contended its failure to serve Sausalito was because it could not get the city's permission to land. The Sausalito City Council recently rejected the company's second bid to land there, and the company has appealed to Marin Superior Court to overturn the rejection.

The Tiburon City Council had objected to the Alcatraz service, arguing it would aggravate traffic problems. The federal government does not permit landings on Alcatraz, but Harbor Carriers got the PUC permit with an eye to the possibility the island will be open to the public someday.

The PUC granted the extra year to begin serving the routes because of the uncertainties of getting landings at both Sausalito and Alcatraz. This deadline will avoid the undesirable situation of having a certificate to perform a service continuing indefinitely when the service cannot be started within a reasonable time, the PUC said.

Bill Regulates Young Skippers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill prohibiting persons under 10 years of age to operate powered boats unless accompanied by a person at least 14 years of age has been approved by the Senate.

Under current law, an infant is legally qualified to operate a boat. The prohibition would apply to any boat with more than five horsepower.

The bill, SB 1194 by Sen. George Deukejian, R-Long Beach, also would require operators between 10 and 14 years of age, if unaccompanied by an older person, to hold a boating safety certificate issued by the state.

The measure appropriates $50,000 to the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development to train the young skippers.

The bill went to the Assembly, where it was assigned to the commerce and public utilities committee for hearing.

Panel To Eye Interim Lease

A temporary lease in San Rafael for the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus maintenance facility will be considered by the building and operating committee at 9:15 a.m. tomorrow in toll plaza offices.

The district's own site on Highway 17 east of the San Rafael Post office will not be ready for use when the bus system begins operation in December.

The district's bus transit manager, H. Donald White, said the proposed temporary site is the Ghilotti Brothers property on Jacoby Street. He said the district wants to lease two and a half acres and 10,000 feet in the company's warehouse on the site.

The finance-auditing committee will meet at 9:30 a.m., and the full board at 10 a.m.

Six Arrested For Being Nude

Six men were arrested by state park rangers yesterday for being nude on a state beach.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of the misdemeanor charge were: John Cotton Lamb, 25, John Thomas Probst, 26, Neelon Frank Crawford, 24, all of San Francisco; Angelo Horacio Muirraqui, 49, of Daly City; Marvin Emmitt Nelms, 18, and Joel Ray Siler, 20, both of Hurst, Tex.

Rangers said the men were running around on the crowded beach and in the surf at Red Rock Beach, south of Stinson Beach, and could be seen from the beach overlook on Shoreline Highway.

Nelms and Siler werehled at the jail in lieu of $65 bail to appear in Western Municipal Judicial Court next Wednesday. Probst posted the $65 to appear in court Wednesday, and Lamb, Muirraqui and Crawford posted the bail to appear in court Sept. 22.

Cyclist Hits Deer; In Serious Condition

Frank P. Chilton, 33, of 285 Oak Street, Penngrove, was reported in serious condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County with head injuries suffered in a motorcycle collision with a deer.

The California Highway Patrol said his motorcycle struck the deer of Petaluma Hill Road, north of Hunter Lane at 3:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Rohnert Park Has First Look At Office Sketches

The Rohnert Park City Council got its first look last night at preliminary sketches for a new city office building.

Architect Lawrence Simons presented his rough plan for a 9,000-square-foot building designed to accommodate city offices for another 10 years until a larger and permanent city hall will be built.

Councilman Arthur Roberts said the plan centered on a large chamber for public meetings with two wings of offices. He said one wing would house city offices while the other would be rented by the Cotati school district. He said the council made few initial suggestions, but did request that the council chamber be enlarged from 40 feet long to 54 feet to accommodate more citizens at meetings.

Simons estimated the building cost at $138,000. Roberts said the city is looking for a building site on Commerce Boulevard near Copeland Creek. The building currently housing offices on Southwest Boulevard would be turned over to police and fire department use.

The plan will be discussed further at the Sept. 20 council meeting.

Moscow Talks Set On Ship Collisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union aimed at avoiding ship collisions and other "incidents at sea" will begin Oct. 12 in Moscow, the State Department announced.

Incidents between the Navy ships of the two countries—ranging from collisions to "buzzing" of ships by aircraft—have been taking place at the rate of about one a month recently.

Work Retreat Is Postponed

Marin's Juvenile Delinquency Prevention commissioners have psotponed their retreat and rescheduled it for Oct. 2.

Chairman James C. Upshaw said the Oct. 2 retreat will be held at the Marshall Lloyd Center on Kensington Road at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Discussion leader will be Mrs. William Perdue, director of the center.

Commissioners hope to come up with an action program for delinquency prevention at the retreat.

The retreat date was previously set for yesterday, but was changed to match the schedules of the commissioners and the discussion leader.

Fire Alarm Switchboard Is Approved

The Kentfield Fire Protection District board last night authorized a San Francisco firm to install a fire alarm control switchboard at the fire station.

According to Chief Kenneth T. Kamp, the control unit works much the same as police burglar alarm systems.

He said schools, hospitas, businesses and private residences will be allowed to hook up to the unit provided internal fire detection systems meet specifications.

The new system will not require taxpayers support, he continued, explaining the control unit is installed free by the firm, General Systems Industry, with businessmen and residents contracting independently with the firm.

Kamp said contract arrangements still must be ironed out before the fire alarm system is installed.

Kamp said about $2,900 was raised through the department's annual raffle and will be used to support department activities and to purchase equipment.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Unsure Future For Occidental

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several years ago we purchased 50 shares of Occidental Petroleum at $49. It is now around $17. Should we hold or take our loss? If we sell what should we buy? — N.S.

A. Whether or not Occidental will be hurt seriously by its Middle East interests remains to be seen — but, in any case this uncertainty hangs heavily over the stock. Negotiations with OPEC nations are not encouraging; thus those oil firms — including Occidental — most closely involved should be avoided by investors.

As a replacement, Greenman Brothers (ASE) appears to have strong potential for continued growth. Company is a wholesaler of toys, hobby equipment and sporting goods, and operates 28 toy departments in Eastern discount stores.

Both sales and earnings have risen annually since 1963. In the six months through July, sales jumped 24 per cent to $12 million. Full fiscal year earnings could reach $1.25 a share, up from $1.02 in the previous 12 months. Renewed confidence in the American economy should be a strong spur to consumer spending and directly beneficial to this wholesaler/retailer.

Q. In March of 1965 I purchased 650 shares of Wellington Fund at $16.57 a share. I am 73 years of age and am disgusted with this fund's performance. As I need income, what would you advise I do now? — C.S.

A. For a five-year period, 1966-1970, Wellington Fund posted only a 5 per cent gain in its net asset value, an unexciting performance indeed. In all fairness, the fund's primary investment objectives are conservation of principal and reasonable income, capital appreciation being secondary.

Wellington does return a relatively good yield in comparison with most of the other mutual funds. However, you can obtain a higher return, with comparable safety and somewhat better growth potential, by investing in a quality utility stock. These include: Boston Edison, Toledo Edison and Wisconsin Power & Light, all of which are selling to yield over 6 per cent.

Diamond Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sales of gem and industrial diamonds by South Africa's central selling organization in the first half of 1971 totaled $308,087,648, an increase of $27,135,203, or 9.6 per cent over the corresponding period of 1970, it was announced by Harry Oppenheimer, chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Ray Delagnes Is New Owner Of Corte Madera Car Firm

There is a new owner for Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth, which has been company-operated by Chrysler Motor Corp. recently and now becomes a dealership owned by Ray Delagnes of San Francisco.

He has been in the automobile business for some 25 years, most recently in Concord where for five years he was general manager of Freeway Chrysler-Plymouth. The Corte Madera dealership will continue under the same name as before but Delagnes plans to make many changes to "improve the image" of the agency.

He intends to move to Marin County from San Francisco.

TWO-THIRDS of the year has gone by and Marin County real estate sales are 53 per cent ahead of last year. Total completed sales under multiple listing reached $70.2 million at the end of August, according to figures of the Marin County Board of Realtors. This compares with $45.8 million for the eight-month period of last year.

Sales for the month of August alone were high — $13,350,550 in reported new sales and $12,415,583 in completed sales. A year ago the comparative figures were $9,156,750 reported and $6,989,580 completed. In single family dwellings the highest number of sales are made in the $30,000 to $40,000 range.

AT THE PRESENT RATE of commercial construction at Northgate Industrial Park, there should be office space available for some time.

Builder Al Villa is already engaged in putting up a 70,000-square foot building called La Plaza at 4330 Redwood Highway, which is well under way and should see some occupancy within the next month or so.

Nearby, Dohemann and Co. is winding up completion of the third office building in the Margarita Plaza complex. This is close to being half leased.

And now Johnny Ribeiro Builder, Inc. has taken out permits for a five-building complex at 4360 Redwood Highway near Villa's project, which it will rival in size, with over 72,000 square feet.

RIBEIRO, whose building projects are continuous and on the grand scale as far north as Hamilton Industrial Park, in which he is now the principal, also has a San Rafael job on his drawing board — a new commercial building at 50 Lovell Avenue.

This will have 9,156 square feet of which 8,000 square feet will be for warehousing, with the balance accessory office and display space, to be available for leasing.

VIRGIL BREEN of Larkspur is retiring from the San Rafael real estate firm bearing his name, but he will continue to be associated with the company on a consultant basis. He has been active in it for 18 years.

The company has recently been incorporated, with a change of name from Virgil Breen and Co. to Breen and Co., Inc. Larger offices have been taken in the Herzog Building at 1005 A Street, and it is possible some expansion in the sales staff may take place.

New general manager of the firm is Robert Fonarow of Fairfax, a broker who has been with the Sea Ranch in Sonoma County for more than three years. He moved to Marin County last summer.

Gives Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The board of directors of Del Monte Corp. has declared a dividend of 27½ cents per share, payable Nov. 16 to shareholders of record Oct. 15. This is Del Monte's 127th consecutive quarterly cash dividend.

Investors Waiting For Nixon Speech

NEW YORK (UPI) —Investors, generally waiting for President Nixon's economic message before a joint session of Congress at 12:30 p. m., pushed the stock market slightly lower through the first two hours of trading today.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.06 at 101.28, while declines led advances by around 75 issues.

Prices were mixed in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were DPA Inc. Down slightly on 20,000 shares, and Syntex fractionally higher on 19,000 shares.

On the Big Board, steels and motors were fractionally irregular, as were chemicals and rails.

Youths Bringing Back Army Surplus

PORTLAND (BW) — Westerners have always been casual in their style of dress. Some call it a lack of sophistication, but others say it's an expression of regional individuality and, besides, who's going to argue if it's comfortable? says California Business, the Western Financial newsweekly.

"It's the current thing to look crummy," says Bud Winters, general manager of Ed's Outdoor & Surplus Store in Seattle, "and I can't think of anything crummier than to be wearing old surplus Army-Navy clothing as fashion."

Young people in the West — and a growing number of oldsters — have been shying away from the traditional retail clothing outlets and have started shopping for clothes at thrift and surplus stores in increasing numbers.

West Coast surplus store managers and owners indicate business has never really boomed since the first few years after World War II, but the old clothes craze among people today and the growing interest in recreation and camping has brought some sales zip back to the business.

In Portland, the breath of life in an otherwise olive drab industry came too late for Allied-Sav-Mor Stores, the largest chain of surplus stores in the city. Allied closed five stores last year.

With his largest and only competitor under a tombstone, sole survivor Dan Baxter of Andy & Bax's Army-Navy Surplus Stores, says business is still soft. "It's very hard to find good government surplus. The government has cut back quite a bit in releasing goods. They're watching their budgets pretty close."

"Price more than anything is bringing in the kids," says Winters in Seattle. "You can pick up a well made pair of Navy bellbottoms for about $1 and a shirt for about 69 cents."

"It's in style to wear old clothes" adds Debbie Douvier, a cashier in the same store. "Everyone seems to be buying surplus clothes — hunters, workers, kids."

In Fresno, a shop owner too busy to give his name says people are tired of having to pay $10 for a pair of work jeans. "If it's for work, who cares if it has fancy snaps and wide belt loops and tailored flares? People are buying here because the clothes are better made."

The Popular Surplus Store chain in Phoenix reports surplus clothing sales have been picking up, especially in denims and field jackets. The store says old uniforms are becoming harder to find, usually turning up in thrift stores, such as the Salvation Army.

Bernie Edelheit, manager and owner of California Surplus Sales in San Francisco, says in his 26 years in the surplus business the big sales years were after World War II when there was little being made in commercial clothing.

"Now the kids are bringing 1940 back again. Camping and recreation have also helped sales but business is nowhere near what it was like after the war," he says.

Guilty Plea In Sale of LSD

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Mill Valley man has pleaded guilty in San Francisco Superior Court to a charge of selling LSD, and his companion, who failed to show up for trial, forfeited bail.

Charles S. Wismer, 21, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling the LSD to an undercover agent on April 14. Judge Frank Shaw set Sept. 27 for hearing a probation report and sentencing.

Roger G. Leibowitz, also of Mill Valley, failed to show for trial on Aug. 30, so forfeited $2,500 bail. A bench warrant was issued by the judge for his arrest.

A third man, John R. Goodwin, 25, of Sausalito, arrested later in connection with the same sale to an agent in a motel room, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

Seascape Show Set At Gallery

Bob Pepper of Enchanted Knolls will present a show of his land and seascape works at the Genesis Coop Gallery, 2 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, between Sept. 11 and Oct. 8.

Many of Pepper's paintings are of the Marin, Monterey and Mendocino coastlines.

Mayor Hopeful Unable To File

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Stanley Cotton, who is running on a platform which calls for incorporating the Mafia as a non-profit corporation, was unable to file for mayor Tuesday because he couldn't raise the necessary fees.

Cotton, 45, tried to file without paying the $838.88 fee by arguing that he wouldn't take the mayor's salary if elected and therefore should be able to file for $1. Filing fees are based on the annual salaries of the offices sought.

Cotton, an ex-convict who wants to "legitimize" the Mafia as a "Non-profit, humanistic charter, charitable organization," said he would seek donations to pay the fee and get his name on the November ballot.

Pleads Innocent To Felony Counts

Floyd Kermit Ware, 20, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two felony charges of burglary and a felony count of child molesting.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Ware was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging him with burglarizing two Mill Valley residences Aug. 31.

At one of the residences, he allegedly ripped the nightgown off a 12-year-old girl and gagged her before being frightened away by a neighbor, police said.

A First — No Casualty List

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon did not issue a casualty list from the Vietnam War Tuesday—because it had no casualties to report for the first time since Sept. 2, 1965.

The first list in 1965 contained the names of 13 war dead, and every day since then, except on weekends and holidays, the Defense Department has released a list of those victims whose next of kin had been notified.

At the height of the war the list sometimes ran a dozen or more pages. In recent weeks it has dwindled to as few as one or two names.

In the past six years the lists have reported the combat deaths of 45,471 Americans, and the names of 9,742 others who died of non-hostile causes.

Grey Wolf An Essential Predator

By DARRYL STEWART
Toronto Telegram Syndicate
(Third of 12 articles)

The wolf has long been regarded as the embodiment of all that is evil. Gruesome tales of wolf attacks resulted in stories such as "Little Red Riding Hood" and the "Three Little Pigs."

Most accounts of wolf attacks originate in Northern Europe, especially from Russia, where packs were driven by starvation to seek food at the edge of villages. There, they would attack domestic livestock and in these circumstances, some reported wolf attacks on man are valid.

The gray wolf is by nature a peace loving animal that fears man and prefers to shun him than seek him out. Indiscriminate hunting in the past has caused the wolves to be considered an endangered species. Only in certain remote parts of Alaska and Canada, are there really sizeable wolf packs left.

The gray wolf's champions have been trying hard to educate outdoorsmen to understand this predator's role in nature. The deer and moose on which they depend are sought by sport hunters, making game sometimes hard to come by.

Where wolves have been absent or exterminated — Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin — white-tailed deer have become so numerous, they have caused extensive damage to the forests. In winter many have died from starvation.

But many hunters still remain convinced that the wolf is a serious threat to their sport.

Grey Wolf

It is difficult to make an objective appraisal of the influence that wolves actually had on the colonisation of America. It is written that in many areas of the eastern United States, the rate of colonisation was greatly retarded by livestock losses incurred by wolves. Most pioneer farms were small and often isolated, and there were no up-to-date methods of dealing with this problem. Under such circumstances, the pioneers had to cope with the only means at their disposal, the death-dealing rifle.

In the East, bounties for killing wolves were paid from as early as 1630. In that year, the Massachusetts Bay Colony established the first bounty system in America by offering one penny for every wolf shot. Many were able to earn a living from this system, giving some indication of the number of wolves which must have been shot during this period.

The war on wolves continued for almost 200 years. By the middle of the 18th century it was evident that the wolves were losing. Indiscriminate shooting, coupled with the extensive destruction of forests east of the Mississippi River, spelled doom for the wolf. By 1900, the last wolves were killed in many eastern states. They were first wiped out in Massachusetts by 1850 and from New York and Pennsylvania not long before the turn of the century.

In the winning of the West, both the wolf and the bison were driven from the plains, almost simultaneously.

Some wolves found refuge in the mountain wilderness of the north and northwest; a few remained on the Plains.

Today there appears to be a change of attitude in some areas. In the regions adjacent to the Superior Nation Park Forest, a three-million-acre tract in Minnesota, one of the largest concentrations of gray wolves in the country is now protected.

In Canada's Algonquin Park in Ontario, a new pastime, "wolf howling" is growing in popularity. Last summer, a record number of 3,500 visitors took trips to hear wolves in response to human imitations of their calls.

The importance of predators such as the gray wolf in the nature of things cannot be overemphasized. The predator, by its very existence, ensures the continuance of its prey species. It is almost invariably the weak, old and infirmed specimens that are taken, thereby leaving the fittest and strongest to perpetuate a healthy, robust population.

Fines And Probation For Rock Musicians

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Two members of the San Francisco rock music group Quicksilver Messenger Service yesterday were fined and given probation on guilty pleas to charges of possessing marijuana.

One of the defendants, David Freiberg, 32, of Novato, the group's organist and bass player, also was given a 12-month jail sentence with 10 months suspended.

Freiberg, in addition to the jail sentence, was fined $500 and put on probation for three years.

George A. Bonney of Corte Madera, Quicksilver Messenger's road manager, was given two years probation and fined $200.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley gave Freiberg a stay of execution of the jail sentence until Oct. 4 because of professional commitments.

"I'll do what I have to do" to comply with terms of the judgment, Freiberg said outside the court. He noted he also is to appear on a traffic charge in San Rafael on Oct. 4.

"That will be a wonderful day," he said.

Freiberg and Bonney were arrested on the charges last November at San Francisco International Airport.

The State Fair Misses Mark

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The California State Fair ended a 20-day run Wednesday night with total attendance well below the goal of one million persons.

Attendance for the first 19 days of the fair, which was marred by several nights of violence two weeks ago, was 871,419, compared with 931,008 during 1970.

Fair officials blamed four nights of clashes between rock-throwing youths and tear gas-spraying police early in the run for the failure to reach the one million mark or surpass last year's turnout.

Underground Press Wins Credentials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The underground press has gained a toe hold in the congressional press corps with the admission of Thomas K. Forcade, a representative of the Underground Press Syndicate, to the House and Senate Press Galleries.

Forcade's application was approved Wednesday on a 3-to-2 vote by the Standing Committee of Correspondents which supervises the galleries. Forcade gained notoriety in May of 1970 when he appeared before the U.S. Commission on Obscenity and Pornography and hurled a cream pie in the face of Otto Larsen, a commission member.

HEALTH REPORT

Annual Physicals Now A Sophisticated Process

By ALISON GODDARD
(Fourth of a five-part series)

NEW YORK — When a woman is over 40 she needs a checkup more than ever in her life. At this critical time it's essential that she keep track of herself and her health. But health checkups aren't what they used to be. Sophisticated technology, automation and computers have entered the picture.

This new approach to checkups, known as Automated Multiple Health Testing Services, might have been conjured up by a science-fiction writer. It all began prosaically enough when Kaiser Permanente in California incorporated automated checkups as part of its health insurance program about a decade ago. The idea has since spread rapidly. Some 150 AMHTS facilities are in Louisiana, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, New York and Missouri as well as in California.

Where such facilities exist, the traditional visit to the doctor's office, followed by a few tests sent to the lab, is now reversed. Instead, the patient enters the AMHTS diagnostic center, which usually consists of a labyrinth of small rooms. First, a computer takes her medical history, flashing such questions at her from its screen as Do you get tired easily? Have you even been told you have a heart murmur? The woman types her answers on a special keyboard, while in the next room another busy computer prints out a concise summary of her replies.

DURING THE next hour-and-a-half, she is guided by nurses and other technicians through a comprehensive series of examinations. She has an electrocardiogram, a chest X-ray, a breast X-ray. Her lung capacity, hearing and vision are tested with the latest automated equipment. Her blood pressure is taken; her blood and urine are analyzed by high-precision devices. All in all, she may have as many as 35 separate and fast-moving tests.

When these tests are completed, she has her first contact with a doctor. He quickly checks the computer printouts of her medical history and test results. Then he completes her physical examination. As a final step, he interprets the various results to her and tells her about any followup that might be indicated.

Although AMHTS was designed originally to help diagnose illness, it's being used more and more to prevent illness. Automated checkups have revealed unexpected "silent" heart attacks, early emphysema, glaucoma and pernicious anemia.

"It can detect disease before the patient has any symptoms," says one of its champions.

"It can help avoid such complications as loss of work, hospitalization and disability," says a second.

"It can prevent untimely deaths," adds a third. In fact, a six-year survey at one AMHTS center revealed that cancer deaths had been cut by 33 per cent, disabling digestive diseases by 20 per cent, and severe heart disease by 15 per cent.

THIS AUTOMATED system, asserts Dr. Sidney Garfield, who pioneered the Kaiser plan, "mobilizes the vast medical manpower that is today tied up in the deficiencies of an obsolete system." Others add that by using a minimum of the doctor's valuable time and a maximum of automated machinery and trained assistants, higher quality medical care can reach more people, while still keeping the overall costs low.

The system does have its critics, who claim that since computers and other automatic devices lack human judgment, "they will dehumanize medical care." The ultimate value of the system, however, its champions acknowledge, depends on the kind of followup it gets.

Norma Burrell, nursing supervisor of AMHTS at the Rhode Island Hospital in Providence, says, "We try to see that the patients who pass through our center make a followup appointment with their personal physicians and that they keep this appointment."

This is particularly important for the woman over 40, she adds, since many physical changes do occur at this age and many chronic problems can develop.

The value of regular automated checkups for the over-40 group is confirmed by Dr. Morris F. Collen of the Kaiser Permanente Program. Dr. Collen points out that those between 45 and 55 who have periodic checkups don't get sick as often as their contemporaries who haven't had the benefit of such checkups.

She Gives Birth To Her Fourth Set Of Twins

COMPTON (UPI) — Mrs. Wanda Paschall, 25, has given birth to eight children — and they're all twins.

The Compton housewife returned home from the hospital Wednesday after delivering her fourth set — Twyonia, five pounds, 9½ ounces, and Toshia, four pounds, 11 ounces.

Other twins include six-year-olds Tracy Lee and Theresa Marie and four-year-olds Anthony Dwight and April Denise. Fourteen-month-old Benjamin Jr.'s twin was stillborn.

Mrs. Paschall said her great-grandmother was a twin who gave birth to two sets of twins, while one cousin in Texas had six sets of twins and another cousin had twins and triplets.

BEGINS IN BOMBAY

Firsthand Look At India's Privation

BY PAT BALMES

To open the eyes of their five children to the contrast between their lives in Marin and the privation in India, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodward of Tiburon took them along when the cancer researcher went to work in one of India's largest hospital this summer.

"I wish I could send those of our younger generation who are destroying our colleges to see India's poverty, so they would appreciate what we have in this country," said Dr. Woodward.

The Woodwards moved to Tiburon three years ago when Dr. Woodward began work in radiation therapy under a fellowship with National Cancer Institute at Mt. Zion Hospital. This summer he received a Damon Runyon Foundation grant to demonstrate cryo-surgery (freezing of tumors) and treat patients in India.

The children who went along to learn were Lorinda, 13, Cheryl, 12, Mark, 9, and twins, Larry and Bryan, 8. Their adventure began when they stepped from their airplane at 2 a.m. on May 1 in Bombay.

"Two things hit you right away — the odor and the heat," says their mother, Betty Woodward. "You come to the stark realization that what you've heard is true!"

People were sleeping in the streets. Small animals roamed the city. Open sewers and overpopulation make the situation ripe for disease, according to Dr. Woodward.

"AT THIS point you are near turning around for home. It was as hot as you could possibly imagine. The only saving grace was the monsoon rains. You can't get a sun tan," says Betty.

Calcutta and Bombay "hit tourists pretty hard." However, if a tourist only visited Delhi, which is "much nicer," he would never know what India was really like, according to the Woodwards.

Billboards "all over India" printed in the common language, Tamil, recommend two children per family. The government offers gifts to people for being sterilized. Population control is "catching on."

However, Mrs. Woodward relates that the cook's wife at the Bellore hospital refused sterilization after her fifth daughter was born because, according to their religion, a man must have a son to be immortal. Her in-laws forbade the operation.

In Bellore Dr. Woodward found a "remarkably good" multi-specialty hospital of 1,100 beds, staffed by a majority of Indian doctors and some medical missionaries from America, Canada, New Zealand, England and Australia.

The Christ College medical school was founded in the 19th century by Dr. Ida Scudder, the daughter of an American medical missionary who was visiting her father in Bellore when three Indian women died in childbirth because they would not allow a male doctor to care for them. Inspired, she founded a woman's medical college and today there are still more women than men medical students.

Wives of resident Indian doctors are active in hospital functions and donate their time to leprosy rehabilitation.

"THE INDIAN women wanted us to be as happy as we could be in their country. They realized that we were dropping in our standards. Friendly and helpful, they were anxious for us to see their villages. A woman from India's educated class would say, 'This is how Indians live.' She was never apologetic but frank, not trying to cover up. The Indian personality is very accepting," Mrs. Woodward says.

A typical village hut is bare of furniture except for a table and two trunks. People sit on the floor, sleep on mats and eat from banana leaves with their fingers. Clods of cow manure, placed in wall chinks on a hut's sunny side to dry, are used for fuel, they said.

Oxen, water buffalo and donkeys are used for farm work and transportation. Little trains of burros carry laundry to the river where Indian women beat the clothes clean. Even hospital laundry is done this way.

"WE DID a lot of discussing life, pointing out differences to the children between what Marin people have and what the people of India have," says Mrs. Woodward of their three months spent walking around Bellore seeing the inhabitants' life.

They saw road repair gangs; women carrying crushed rocks and men putting it in place.

"You feel smothered with population, just people all around you," recalls Mrs. Woodward.

They chose to live beyond the overpopulated "little town" of 50,000 inhabitants, staying in an adobe house, gracious by Indian standards, on the medical school's campus.

Their daughters went to high school and sons to grammar school on the college campus where Indian doctors and nurses' children study. Foreign doctors' children, "too little to leave home," attend this school until third grade when they go to an American boarding school in Kodi.

"The boys found that school enjoyable," said Mrs. Woodward. "An American child is allowed to get away with anything. My children were allowed to walk in and out of the classroom." She stopped allowing them to attend when she discovered they were being spoiled by their Indian teacher.

AWAY FROM material diversions available to Marin children, the young Woodwards "got back to nature," chasing lizards and iguanas, watching ants and termites build huge castles, building bird traps of sticks and running in the surrounding hills.

Injections the children received before going to India are "not completely protective," according to Dr. Woodward. They boiled water, scrubbed fruits and vegetables in detergent and cooked them and "cooked to death" the ground beef they ate almost every night for three months.

"Now they don't want 'junk' to eat, but really enjoy a juicy peach," says Betty Woodward.

The children began counting the days until their return. After he had been in Bellore two weeks, eight-year-old Bryan demanded his passport and "three tickets" for an immediate solo journey to Tiburon via Hongkong, Tokyo and Honolulu.

When the family left India in August, returning by way of European cities, the eldest daughter, Lorinda understood the dramatic contrast between the United States and India when she asked,

"If Europe is so much like the United States, why do people visit there?"

BACK HOME in Tiburon, Dr. and Mrs. Woodward say they feel "guilty in a way" for having left such an impoverished country to return to Marin's high standard of living.

ON THE AGENDA

'Our Changing Morals' To Be Topic Of Discussion In Novato

Other panel members will be Mrs. Illion Jones, who will speak from a grandmother's point of view, and Mrs. George Hayford as the mother of teenagers and a member of the church youth group. The panel will discuss present day ethics and how they are affected personally; whether they think moral codes are really changing and if differences in age colors understanding.

A question and answer period will follow the discussion.

THE PLEASANT Valley School Parent-Teacher Association will have a coffee to welcome parents of new pupils at 8:30 a.m. Monday in the library of the school in Novato.

MRS. WALTER J. Clark, president, Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside at the first meeting of the fall term on Monday at 10 a.m. at the Red Chimney restaurant in Stonestown.

"Our Changing Morals" will be the topic of a panel discussion to be held at the Novato United Presbyterian Women's meeting to be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the church in Novato. Men and young persons are also invited to attend.

Lt. Col. (ret.) Howard B. Scholten will be the principal speaker. He was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base for five years prior to his retirement in 1968. He has since then been the chaplain at the San Rafael Military Academy and worked with young men at the Mount Tamalpais Radar Station. During the summer Chaplain Scholten has been the acting pastor at St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato.

Presidents of the 42 clubs in the district, comprising Marin, San Mateo and San Francisco counties and the district chairmen and officers will attend. Marin County will be represented by 9 federated clubs — officers and chairmen, headed by Mrs. Richard Hardin of San Rafael, district vice president.

MARIN CHAPTER of Hadassah will hold its annual membership luncheon at noon on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Wagner in San Anselmo.

Speaker will be Mrs. Gershon Lindberger, president of the Northgate Chapter of Hadassah in San Bruno, and Dick Saltzman will play the vibes.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Stanley Baer and Mrs. Donald Herzog, luncheon chairman, both of Mill Valley.

THE TENNIS Section of the Petaluma Newcomers Club meets Mondays and Wednesdays at McNear Park in Petaluma and will continue through fall and winter.

Mrs. Robert Edwards, chairman, says there are openings for the 10 a.m. sessions.

GO-TO-CHURCH Sunday will begin the fall term of activities for Bethel 48, International Order of Job's Daughters. Members will attend St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

A luncheon to honor past honored queens, past guardians and past associate guardians will follow the service. Marshall and guide will be elected at a meeting to follow the luncheon.

Arrangements have been made by Pam Holman, Debbie Daunt, Krissy Adamson, Cheryl Cazneaux and Alice Adamson.

THE DECORATIONS Guild of the Marin Art and Garden Center is having the Christmas Greens Sale kick-off luncheon Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Fort Mason Officers Club in San Francisco.

William J. Fisher, interior decorator, will speak on "New Trends in Interior Decoration."

CLIPPED WINGS is having a champagne reception Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donald L. Blinco in Tiburon for former United Air Lines stewardesses.

Speakers will be H. David Sokoloff, president of the California Association of Mentally Retarded and Mrs. Sokoloff, Marin House board member.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. John Conway and John Ehrmann, both of Novato.

SECOND IN a nine-week-series of classes for expectant parents, sponsored by the Education for Childbirth Association, will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Mrs. Gunhild Brown's office in Greenbrae. Instructor is Mrs. Margaret B. Farley, registered physical therapist.

Expectant parents may begin the series up to the third session and must have written permission from a physician to enroll.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Fast-Talking Freddie Needs To Be Cut Down — And Fast!

DEAR SUE:

I complained about my getting fat to my new boy friend (actually, I've only gained four pounds and a "gentleman" wouldn't notice), but he said it's all psychological, on account of my being repressed, physically and emotionally.

Last week he said my pimples (I only had two) also happened because I say "no" when it's only natural for a boy and girl, etc., etc. . . .

Freddie figures the cure for almost everything is sex, and he can quote "experts" to prove it.

When a girl doesn't really feel repressed, but she gains four pounds and gets a few zits, well, what would you say, Sue? — NO PARKING PERMITTED

DEAR NPP:

Cut down on sweets, fats, starches — and Freddie! — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

What next? The guys we go with have decided chewing tobacco is the greatest thing since bubblegum. They say pretty soon everybody will do it.

You know how boys are. The more we fuss, the more they do. Is "chewing" really back in style again, and think what that will do to kissing. — YE-C-C-H.

HELEN SAYS:

DEAR YE-C-C-H;

Chewing tobacco back in style? The boys are handing you a lot of bull (and not Durham). I doubt the fad will last past the first plug — especially when they discover how hard it is to talk without dribbling. — H.

P.S. I know a fellow whose first "chew" was his last. Someone (perhaps a girl friend?) whacked him on the back so hard he swallowed instead of spit. Among other things, he lost his taste for tobacco!

SUE SAYS:

DEAR YE-C-C-H: (How DO you spell that sound, anyway?):

Maybe all you girls should start going around in weird granny dresses with corn cob pipes in your mouths.

But you'll win faster if you flatly refuse to kiss the guys until they're kissable again. (Not exactly, "Chew and we're through," just "I'll stay over here by the window till you get back to gum.") — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I am a boy of 15. My future wife is 18. When I asked her to marry me I meant in three years or so.

But she wants to get married right now, and I'm not even through high school. No job, no money, no nothing.

I love her and don't want to lose her, but what can I say? — T.I.L.

DEAR T:

Tell her true love waits and so should she. — SHE

DEAR T.:

My parent's eye sees an immature, demanding, impractical girl — and a boy who is about to be trapped.

Make sure you stand up like a man when you tell her true love waits. I doubt that it is, or that you'll either one be waiting three years hence. — HELEN

Send your "Generation Rap" questions and comments to Sue and Helen Bottel (one or both), care of this newspaper. They will appear each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday in the Independent-Journal.)

Vows Said In Church At Tiburon

Robin Delano Ericson of Belvedere and John Raikes Vance Jr. of Corte Madera exchanged marriage vows Saturday afternoon in a cermony at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

Mrs. Wyman Johnson of Seattle, Wash., was matron of honor for the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ericson of Belvedere. Bridesmaids were Mmes. Michael Molloy of Mill Valley and Nicholas Kerry of Larkspur and Gil Prebil of San Rafael. All except Mrs. Kerry were the bride's classmates at the University of Santa Clara.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Col. and Mrs. John R. Vance of Corte Madera, was served as best man by Nicholas Kerry of Larkspur. Seating the guests were Scott Dillingham of Chico, James Allen of Phoenix, Ariz., and Tom Grimm of Seattle, Wash.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Belvedere Lagoon. On their return from a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula the couple will live in San Rafael.

Both of the couple are graduates of Redwood High School. Robin was graduated from the University of Santa Clara and holds teaching credentials from Dominican College. She teaches second grade in the Nova Albion School of the Dixie School District in Marin.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of California at Santa Barbara and holds a law degree from the University of San Francisco. He is awaiting U.S. Army orders.

FOR JAPANESE COUPLE

Underwater Wedding A Success

By FREDERICK H. MARKS.

TOGA, Japan (UPI)—The bride's veil kept trying to float away during the wedding reception and the participants weren't talking to each other. But enthusiasm among the guests wasn't dampened at all.

After waiting six years, Katsuhisa Kumagai and his wife Tae, both 29, finally were married Aug. 15. The couple had registered to live as man and wife six years ago, but they didn't have the money for a formal wedding ceremony. This happens often among couples in Japan.

THE KUMAGAIS, both professional divers, decided to add a touch of the bizarre to their wedding ceremony by holding it 25 feet under the water of a small cove in northern Japan.

Fifteen guests were invited to attend the ceremony, nearly all dressed in black wet suits and wearing scuba tanks on their backs. The one exception was a diver friend of the Kumagais who wore his hard hat suit, the dress worn by deep sea divers.

The guests dove to the bottom of the cove first. When all were in their places, the bride and groom floated down. Mrs. Kumagai was dressed in a colorful burnt orange wet suit and yellow flippers and wore a white veil on her head. She carried a bouquet of plastic pink roses.

FRIENDS OF the couple had placed several tables on the floor of the cove. On one table an arrangement of plastic flowers waved eerily in the currents of the water.

A second table served as an altar for the Shinto wedding. The third table, by far the largest, was used for the reception. Cases of soft drinks and beer were laid out on the table.

The Kumagais exchanged their vows and signed the proper forms, which had been transcribed on a sheet of plastic, and then the reception began. Bottles of soft drinks were opened and the guests, one after the other, raised their soda and beer in toasts to the couple.

AS EACH toast was made — silently — the participants, removed their mouthpieces and drank their soda.

The ceremony lasted about 45 minutes. When it was over the guests joined hands in a large circle and slowly floated to the surface.

After everyone clambered out of the water and removed their diving paraphernalia, a second reception was held in a small grassy field. Bottles of sake were opened and more toasts were made.

Nearby, the Kumagais' two-year-old son continued to sleep blissfully — as he had done while his parents were underwater being married.

Couple Says Vows In San Rafael

Carol Falkenberg of Fairfax became the bride of John Sundberg of Santa Cruz in a Sunday morning ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Falkenberg of Fairfax. She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California at Davis and is a kindergarten teacher in Fairfield. She is the sister of Ray Falkenberg of Fresno and Tom Falkenberg of Fairfax.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sundberg of Glen Rock, N.J., are parents of the bridegroom. He is a graduate of Glen Rock High School and Wooster College in Wooster, Ohio. He is a doctoral candidate at the University of California at Santa Cruz.

The newlyweds will live in Pleasanton.

Food Mill Ideal For Baby Foods

The one way to serve babies natural unseasoned baby foods without additives is to prepare them at home. An indispensable utensil for straining the foods is a food mill. It takes the work out of straining and mashing fruits and vegetables and is ideal for foods such as cooked egg yolk and chicken livers.

In cooking vegetables for baby, it is particularly important to preserve all the natural vitamins and minerals. Scrub and rinse, but do not peel, vegetables.

Cut vegetable into small pieces and cook in the barest amount of water in the shortest possible time until soft and water is absorbed. Strain through a food mill. Do not add salt or other seasonings.

Almost any vegetable is suitable for straining. Spinch, however, because of its lack of bulk and its slippery nature, is easier if it is strained along with another vegetable such as potato.

For homemade applesauce, wash apples; don't peel or core them. Cut them into 8ths and place in a small heavy saucepan.

Add a small amount of water (about 2 tablespoons for 2 medium apples.) Cover and cook over medium heat about 5 to 8 minutes or until apples are soft. Strain through a food mill. Do not add sugar. Two medium apples make about ½ cup applesauce.

Marin Represented In Pandora Calendar

Several Marin women artists have drawings included in the San Francisco Women Artists' 1972 Pandora calendar.

They include Clara Bass of Forest Knolls, Eleanore Bender of San Anselmo, Houlgate Davenport, Maggie Rosen and Leah Schwartz of Mill Valley; Harriette Frances and Orene Neal of San Rafael, Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield, Suzanne Gomberg of Tiburon, Allie Hyde of Corte Madera, and Helen Rich and Nelcy Tarics of Belvedere.

Excellent Cleaner

Cologne doused on a cotton ball makes an excellent cleaner for the telephone receiver. The cologne leaves the surface fragrant and shiny and the alcohol in it acts as an antiseptic, say homemaking consultants of National Family Opinion Inc., a consumer market research firm.

A Good Diet

A good diet provides high quality protein for body growth and maintenance, as well as sufficient amounts of needed vitamins, minerals and essential fatty acids to support the body functions and supply needed energy.

Alienation Is Topic Of College Lectures

College of Marin is sponsoring four lectures in October to explore problems of alienation between parents and children.

Dr. Hiam Ginott will present the first lecture, "How To Drive Children Sane," Oct. 6 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater of the college.

A leader of child psychotherapy and parent guidance seminars in the United States, Europe and Israel, Dr. Ginott has written three books, "Group Psychotherapy with Children," "Between Parent and Child" and "Between Parent and Teen-Ager" and has a weekly syndicated newspaper column, "Between Us."

DR. GINOTT is a graduate of Columbia University, an adjunct professor at New York University graduate department of psychology and a clinical professor at Adelphi University.

"Self-Enhancing Education" is the topic to be covered by Thelma Harms on Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Miss Harms, who believes that education needs to be reevaluated since current insights have revealed how children learn, has a master's degree in child development from the University of California.

As head teacher for the University Nursery School for 11 years she has taught many courses in the U.C. extension division for parents and teachers. She contributed articles to "Young Children," a book joining creative expression to academic skills due to be published next year.

AN ABILITY to relate science to the public is the specialty of Dr. Albert Hibbs, who will discuss, "Can A Chipmunk Teach the New Math?" Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Dr. Hibbs has hosted the award winning educational television program, "Exploring." He has devoted his scientific career to studying the space program technicalities and has worked with school boards and civic groups offering scientific and engineering explanations.

Ralph Groves, who will speak on "Understanding Your Father's World and What You Can Do About It," Oct. 27 at 8 p.m., spent two years talking to as many young persons as possible in 43 states and then spent another year traveling around the world reviewing the United Nations and world-wide youth projects.

When he returned to California he founded Monastery One, an organization which aids young men to determine the meaning and purpose of their lives. His speaking experience began 20 years ago when he headed a community improvement project in Southern Marin.

by Laura Wheeler

Mrs. Elwyn M. Baker of Novato has been elected president of the Marin County Chapter of the National Association of Women in Construction.

A five-year member, Helen Baker said that the organization seeks to further the education of women engaged in the construction industry. Its members are women working full time in any facet of the construction industry.

Mrs. Baker hopes that the WIC chapter can work with the Marin County Industry and Education Council in "revamping the education system at high school and junior high school levels."

A native of Lansing, Mich., she was graduated from high school there and later attended American River Junior College in Sacramento. She and her husgand have lived in Marin eight years and are parents of three grown sons.

They are members of the Novato Squares Square Dance Club and are active in square dancing throughout Northern California. Mrs. Baker also enjoys sewing.

The other new WIC officers are Mrs. Thomas Childers, vice president; Mrs. Ruth Truett, recording secretary; Mrs. Alice Kearney, corresponsing secretary; Mrs. John Ribeiro, treasurer; Mmes. Fred Grange, Marguerite Kreuzer, Ted McGuire and Stanley Wisnes, board of directors.

'Manon' To Open 49th Opera Season On Friday

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The San Francisco Opera's 49th season opens Friday night at the Opera House with a new production of Massenet's "Manon," starring Beverly Sills, in her first performance with the company since 1953, and Nicolai Gedda.

The gala opening will be followed by Strauss's "Der Rosenkavalier" with with Gedda in the role of the singer and the long-awaited Bay Area appearance of Christa Ludwig.

On Sunday afternoon patrons of the 11-week opera season will be treated to the first of seven performances of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," with Teresa Kubiak in her San Francisco debut as Butterfly and Stuart Burrows as Lt. Pinkerton. Burrows will also be heard as the singer in "Der Rosenkavalier," following Gedda's one-night stand.

Conductors for the first three operas will be Jean Perisson, who won critical acclaim last season with "Carmen" in the pit for "Manon"; Silvio Varviso, "Der Rosenkavalier," and James Levine, "Butterfly."

DRAMA

"The School for Wives," Moliere's comedy about the eternal battle of the sexes, will open a two-week engagement Monday at San Francisco's Geary Theater as a special attraction of the American Conservatory Theater.

Staged by the Phoenix Theater of New York, which is also presenting "Harvey" at the Geary through Saturday, "Wives" stars Brian Bedford as Arnolphe, the role that won him Broadway's 1971 Tony Award as the best actor of the season.

Others featured in the Moliere play will be Joan Van Ark as Agnes and David Dukes, a young veteran of many ACT productions, as Horace.

The comedy will be at the Geary through Sept. 25.

ART

An internal sculpture exhibit on perception is currently on display at the Exploratorium in San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts.

The exhibit, called Tacticle Environment, is encased in a geodesic dome about the size of a large weather balloon. Visitors enter through a light-lock room into totally dark maze to feel, bump, slide and tumble through and past hundreds of materials and shapes which constantly blend, chance and contrast.

Other attractions:

Curran Theater — "Company," a Civic Light Opera production, Tuesday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Thursdays and Saturday, 2:30 p.m.; Sundays, 7 p.m.

Geary Theater — "Harvey," through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

Marines' Memorial Auditorium — "Mother Earth," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 7 and 10 p.m., and Sundays, 3 p.m. (six-week return engagement.)

On Broadway — "The Moonlight File," Tuesday through Fridays, 8:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 7 and 10:30 p.m. and Sundays, 3 and 7:30 p.m.

California Palace of the Legion of Honor — Paintings by Thomas Akawie, "19th Century French Paintings from the Combined Collection," through Nov. 7; "California Printmakers," through Sept. 19.

San Francisco Museum of Art — "Four Americans in Paris: The Collection of Gertrude Stein and Her Family," through Oct. 31.

Oakland Museum — Gustav Stickley: "An American Craftsman," through Oct. 24; "Three Painters: California," through Oct. 17; "Plant Prints" by Henry Evans, through Oct. 10.

Dinner-Concert In San Anselmo

The Kensington Trio's 1971-72 dinner-concert series will open Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The trio — consisting of pianist Wilbur F. Russell, violinist Stephen Golden and cellist John Bodo — will perform Vivaldi's Sonata in C Minor; Rameau's Suite No. 1 and Schumann's Trio in F, Op. 80.

Dinner service will be buffet style in order to lower prices, but Richard D. Willette of the Tamal Food Service, which plans and prepares the dinners, says food will be essentially the same as last years more expensive gourmet dinner concerts.

Further information or reservations may be obtained by calling the Tamal Food Service in San Anselmo or by writing the Kensington Trio at P.O. Box 734, San Anselmo.

Typewriter Taken From EOC Office

A $400 IBM typewriter was stolen last week from the Marin Economic Opportunity Council at 918 C Street, San Rafael Police reported yesterday.

The typewriter was reported missing from EOC's manpower office Tuesday, police said.

An old typewriter sitting on the floor of the office had been placed under the IBMcover, police reported.

Actor Divorced

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Claudia Martin, 27, daughter of entertainer Dean Martin, and actor Kiel Mueller were divorced Wednesday, ending their two-year marriage.

Hub Board Backs Horse Ring Plan

The San Anselmo School District board has expressed initial support for a proposal that a vacant portion of Hidden Valley School property to be used for a horse ring but wants more time to study it.

According to W. Kenneth Lowry, district superintendent, there was a favorable consensus of opinion among board members at Tuesday's meeting but additional details still must be worked out.

The proposal, suggested by the Horsemen's Association of Sleepy Hollow, calls for construction of the ring on the lot above the school.

The association said it would conduct clinics, horse shows and related activities for students if the district would provide the land.

The item will come back to the board at its Sept. 21 meeting.

The San Anselmo School District also:

AGENDA — Discussed a recent court decision (Dorothy Carlson vs. the Paradise Unified School District) which struck down a board action because the item was not fully explained on the board's agenda.

COURSE OF STUDY — Adopted the Marin County course of study for the basic instructional guide for students in the regular program.

PERSONNEL — Employeed Ruth Smith of Novato as a half-time teacher at Hidden Valley School at a salary of $8,493 per year, Sophia Spencer of San Anselmo as a clerk at Red Hill School at a salary of $497 per month, and five teacher aides and assistants.

Nixon Will Confer With Hirohito's Son

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon will meet next Tuesday with Prince Hitachi, the 35-year-old son of Japanese Emperor Hirohito.

The White House said Nixon would meet with the prince and his wife in his oval office and then adjourn to the first family's living quarters to have tea with Mrs. Nixon.

DRAMA REVIEW

One Comedy Not To Be Missed

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The Marin Shakespeare Festival has once again distinguished itself with a delightful production of the Bard's comedy, "As You Like It."

Opening last night at the Forest Meadows amphitheater as the company's final offering of the season, it's showcase theater with a very talented and youthful cast, headed by Laurie Walters as Rosalind and Robert Feero, a veteran of the John Brebner company, as Touchstone, a clown of the court.

And the play marks the debut of Marlene Egan as one of the troupe's directors. She unfurled her directorial banners excellently.

"As You Like It" is a charming romp in which an individual can lose himself in a fantasy world away from the rigors of life. It has the same heartwarming appeal of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," but is far more gentle.

"AS YOU LIKE IT" — A two-act comedy by William Shakespeare. A production of the Marin Shakespeare Festival. Marlene Egan, director; Jackson DeGovia, set designer; Edward Stewart, lighting; Karen Johnson, costumes. The cast: Robert Feero, Touchstone; Eric Hoffman, Orlando; Jim Mairs, Oliver; Paul Ventura, Adam; Sydney Erskine, Denise; James Haran, Duke Frederick and Duke Senior; Mark Dennis, Charles, court wrestler and Hymen; Laurie Walters, Rosalind; Beverly Ross, Celia; Lalo Yeshevsky, Le Beau and Silvius; Dora Smekens, Hesperia; Sydney Erskine, James William Hill; Bruce Janger, Marc E. Nelsen, David Saxton, Dora Smekens, Bruce Tanner, Tom Wagner, lords and ladies; Tom Wagner, Amiens; Douglas Broyles, Jaques; Kenneth Perez, Corin; Birnham Woode, Sir Oliver Martext; Janie Atkins, Phebe; Sydney Erskine, Audrey; Marc E. Nelson, William, and Paul Ventura, Jaques de Boys.

Mrs. Egan, who, with her husband, Robert, played the lead roles in the company's second production of the season, "Much Ado About Nothing," made clever use of Touchstone to introduce the play, and Feero could not have been more engagingly charming, something he never lost throughout the play. In short, his characterization was perfect.

Miss Walters was exciting to watch throughout, too. She's a fine young actress, slight of build, with beautiful vocal shadings which were never lost in the outdoor setting, and she maintained her femininity in the little game of charades as a matchmaker for herself and her friends.

The zestfulness of Miss Walters and Feero was matched by other members of the cast, too. Beverly Ross made an ideal Celia; Eric Hoffman, a convincing moonstruck Orlando, and Janie Atkins, as Phebe, and Sydney Erskine as Audrey, saucy shepherdesses.

James Haran as both Duke Frederick and Duke Senior; Douglas Broyles as Jaques, and Lalo Yeshevsky as the courtier Le Beau and later as Silvius, a lovesick shepherd; and Jim Mairs as Oliver rounded out major assignments very nicely.

What further enhanced the performance were the musical interludes which were smoothly woven into the play's action. The music for Shakespeare's lyrics was a joint effort of Tom Wagner, Bruce Tanner, Marc E. Nelsen, Bruce Janger, James William Hill and Sydney Erskine.

The colorful costumes, designed by Karen Johnson, fit perfectly into the spirit of the production.

"As You Like It," as it has been laid out by Mrs. Egan, should not be missed. It has lots of warmth, moves along very swiftly as a two-act play and brings to the Festival's stage a group of very responsible young actors.

It can be seen again tonight in the open air theater on Dominican College's San Rafael campus at 8 o'clock and at the same time Friday and Saturday with Sunday's performance at 7:30 p.m. It will also be around for several more long weekends, too.

41 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

With 41 cases reported last week, streptococcus infections led all other communicable diseases reported last week to the Marin County Health Department, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer.

There were 36 cases of gonorrhea, 10 of syphilis, two each of infectious hepatitis and measles, and one each of tuberculosis and salmonella.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 9, the 252nd day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Virgo.

American scientist Joseph Leidy was born Sept. 9, 1823.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the term "United States" was made official by the Second Continental Congress.

In 1919 almost the entire Boston police force went on strike, demanding recognition of a new union. The walkout ended three days later, but Gov. Calvin Coolidge ruled that strikers were not permitted back.

In 1943 American and British troops from North Africa invaded Italy at Salerno.

In 1969, 83 persons were killed when a jet liner and a small plane collided in the air near Indianapolis.

A thought for today: Massachusetts Gov. Calvin Coolidge, who later became the 31st president said, "There is no right to strike against public safety, anywhere, anytime."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Best Action Depends Upon How High The Contract Goes

The right way to play a hand depends not only on the cards you have been dealt but also on how high you have bid. You would handle the very same cards one way at a game contract but a different way at a slam.

TOP CARDS

Declarer wins the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades and draws two rounds of trumps — with the king and ace. He then runs the diamonds, discarding clubs from his hand on the third and fourth diamond.

West ruffs the fourth diamond, but the defenders get only one spade and one club. South therefore makes his game contract.

If South tried a heart finesse at the third trick, West would win with the queen of hearts and would lead a spade to East's king. Back would come the jack of clubs, and the defenders would take three club tricks and a penalty of 200 points.

TRUMP ROUNDS

By drawing two trumps and then running the diamonds South had the chance of capturing the queen of hearts if it happened to fall doubleton. If the queen didn't fall, South would be safe if the player with the last trump had three or more diamonds. And if that failed, South might still be all right if East had the ace of clubs.

DIFFERENT PLAY

If South has overbid the hand to a slam, he must play the hand differently. Bold play would bring in 12 tricks if the East and West hands were exchanged.

Declarer takes the first spade with dummy's ace, leads the king of hearts and then tries a finesse with the jack of hearts. That succeeds (with the East-West hands exchanged), and South draws the last trump with the ace. Declarer runs the diamonds, discarding two spades and a club; and finally he leads a club toward the king, giving up only one trick.

The best play for slam is the method that goes down two when the contract is only a game!

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 8 7 4
♥ - 7 6
♦ - 7 3 2
♣ - J 10 9 4.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

A conservative player would pass, but most experts would talk themselves into raising to two spades.

Judge Denies Angela Dismissal Plea

By MARY LEYDECKER

The judge in the Angela Davis case yesterday finally turned down her plea to dismiss her case, rejecting her claim that the grand jury which indicted her was racist and not representative of the community.

Judge Richard E. Arnason ruled that no evidence had been presented to show that "any of the judges had consciously, deliberately, intentionally, arbitrarily or otherwise discriminated against any definable class" of citizens.

Miss Davis's attorneys had charged that black, young and poor persons had been excluded by superior court judges in making nominations for the grand jury.

Many hours had been spent in arguing the matter and hearing testimony, including that of four judges who said that they had sought out blacks for the grand jury.

The decision yesterday by Arnason, a Contra Costa County jurist, left only a handful of pretrial matters still pending in Miss Davis's case. A motion still to be taken up is one asking that her trial not start Sept. 27 as scheduled.

When all other pretrial motions are decided, Miss Davis's attorneys are expected to file a motion for change of venue, asking that the trial be moved from Marin.

Miss Davis, along with San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, is charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the shoot-out Aug. 7, 1970 at the Civic Center.

After Miss Davis left court yesterday, Magee was brought in to tell Judge Arnason why he had filed a motion last week asking to withdraw his waiver of his right to a speedy trial.

(Magee had earlier agreed to have his trial held after Miss Davis's is completed.)

Yesterday, however, the convict, his hair closely and erratically cut after the Aug.21 violence at San Quentin, said he had only filed the motion in order to get into court.

What he really wanted, he said, was for the judge to order his legal papers returned. They were taken when all cells in the prison's adjustment center were stripped following the bloodbath.

He also asked for paper and a pencil in order to file petitions, writs and responses, with which he has flooded the courts for years.

"This is ridiculous," snapped prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. "He filed that motion Friday. He must have had paper and a pencil, then."

The judge, however, ordered that he be supplied with paper and ordered the warden of San Quentin to return his other documents to him.

Harris had also objected to the return of the legal papers, saying they were being held by the district attorney who is investigating the Aug. 21 violence.

The judge agreed to hear on Sept. 22 Magee's complaint that he is not able to prepare his defense because of the current tight custodial situation at the prison.

Miss Davis is due to return to court tomorrow.

Library Friends Slate Book Sale

A two-day book sale will be held tomorrow and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Coop Shopping Center in Corte Madera by the Friends of Marin County Library.

Mrs. John W. Bissinger of Kentfield, chairman of the sale, said some books will be priced as low as five cents. Included are children's books, history, biography, poetry, music, humor, cook books, mysteries, and complete sets of fine books.

Club Closed

The Marin City Boys' Club is closed for painting and remodeling and will reopen again on Sept. 27, director Manford Chandler reported. When the facility reopens, Chandler said a complete auto mechanics workshop and photography lab will be available. Fall hours are 3 to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

20 Artists Will Exhibit In Tiburon

More than 500 paintings and works of sculpture by 20 artists will be displayed Saturday and Sunday at the Pandemonium gallery in Tiburon.

The show will be on from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days at the Pandemonium's outdoor show located in the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad yards opposite the Tiburon Ferry landing.

Atlantic Flier's Reasons Given

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Mrs. Sara Krasnoff loved her 14-year-old grandson but was obsessed with a desire to keep him from the "disgrace" of psychiatric treatment.

That's why, the boy's father said Wednesday, Mrs. Krasnoff and Mitchell Gelfand disappeared for almost two months and made scores of transatlantic flights.

Mitchell's father, Leonard Gelfand, told the bittersweet story of how her love became tangled in her old-fashioned ways and left her confused and running from reality until her death last week in Holland.

"I believe the thought that Mitchell might have to see a psychiatrist frightened her into doing this," he said. "She was from the old school, and psychiatrists meant disgrace to her."

Court Says Local Government Obsolete

Bill Ding lives in Happyville, a city that has both an ample tax base and a well-run government. He pays a city tax of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation. For this, the city keeps the streets he uses in good repair, provides adequate police and fire protection, offers good recreation and library services, maintains an attractive system of parks, and even picks up the Ding family garbage.

Bill Dong lives in Gloomytown, a city that has a low tax base, suffers from depression for lack of employment opportunities, and has been afflicted with inefficient government for some years. He pays a tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. The streets are full of chuck holes, police and fire protection are inadequate, as is the library. City recreation service is nil, and the only parks have deteriorated into weed-grown hangouts for undesirables. Dong must pay a private company $6 per month to pick up his family's garbage.

ARE BILL DONG and his Gloomytown neighbors entitled, by a class action suit, to force Bill Ding and the other taxpayers of Happyville to pay additional taxes which will be diverted to Gloomytown so that its residents theoretically may enjoy the same services for the same price which Happyville provides?

They are, according to the California Supreme Court.

The differences between Happyville and Gloomytown are the differences between "wealthy" and "poor" school districts, as seen by the court in its decision Aug. 31 that California's system of public school support is unconstitutional.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS in California derive their principal support from the property tax, although the percentage of the school dollar that comes from this source varies from district to district — as the percentage of city income from the same source varies from city to city. This is so not only because of different tax rates, but primarily because the taxable values behind each child vary widely from district to district — as the taxable values behind each resident vary from city to city.

Also — although the court took no note of this — management efficiency varies also from school district to school district. Some provide their children with maximum education per dollar; others fritter the money away — just as some cities do.

It is unconstitutional for one district to have plenty of money for schools with a low tax rate while another has too little despite a higher tax rate, said six of the seven California Supreme Court justices. This violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment, declared these learned jurists.

WHAT THE JUSTICES really said — although they probably didn't see this far — is that local government is a thing of the past. What they said, in essence, is that no local jurisdiction can have any control over its taxing and spending, because all must have equal amounts for equal services.

How much those amounts would be, if the justices' distortion of the Constitution were carried out, would have to be determined by some "expert" — who might turn out to be someone able to see no farther than the six judges of the California Supreme Court..

CAPITOL REPORT

Incentive Program Gets Toehold In Government

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — In private life, Assemblyman Robert C. Cline is a management consultant from Canoga Park, in the San Fernando Valley. At least, that is how the young Republican earned his living before he was elected to the Assembly in 1970.

So, it's to be expected that he would come up with "Cline's Law." And it is, in fact, a law. Governor Reagan signed Cline's AB 1751 just before the legislative recess. It will become effective 60 days after this year's session adjourns.

Cline's law authorizes county boards of supervisors to pay awards to citizens who come up with practical, money-saving ideas for government. The amount of the award is to be based on the size of the saving realized when the idea is put to use.

NOTHING STARTLING about Cline's law. Just common sense. But, it could help cut the cost of county government and save the taxpayers money.

Industry has been doing this sort of thing with its employes for years, saving millions of dollars and sharing the savings with the suggestion makers. The state government has a similar program, of sorts. But, those programs are for employes only.

Now citizens can get in on the act — at the county level — starting about the first of next year. And, that's good. In addition to the potential for cost-cutting and savings and awards, it should increase citizen interest in government operations. That, in itself, is a big plus.

Cline's law may even clear the hurdle of the bureaucrat who is too set in his rut to change his ways. It calls for independent review groups, established by the county supervisors, so that good ideas won't get the fast shuffle.

EVEN WITH CLINE'S law there remains one big problem. It's the same problem which exists whenever attempts are made to reduce the number of government employes.

Suppose someone comes up with a great idea to streamline an operation, make it more efficient and save time and money. Suppose the idea is put into the works and three or four bureaucrats are left with nothing to do. What happens? Easy! Dream up extra work.

It's one of Dr. Parkinson's laws: in government the work load increases to meet the work force. More people, more work. Not more productivity, just more work.

One of the main reasons for this feather-mattress conundrum is that office managers and division chiefs and section leaders are usually paid on the basis of the number of people they supervise. The greater the number of employes under their wings, the higher the salary. So, who is going to eliminate positions?

There's gotta be another way. And there is: base salaries on productivity instead of the number of personnel.

SUPPOSE THE ANNUAL operating budget for a department is $1 million a year. With that budget, and a certain number of employes positions, the department is expected to turn out so much work — process so many forms, handle so many caseloads, whatever.

Now suppose some smart administrator comes along and says to the department head or division chief: "Look, if you and your people can do the work and hold annual costs down to $900,000 the state will split the saving with you. You save 10 per cent — $100,000 — and half of that money will be divided among the employes in the department — a bonus.

"The remaining half — $50,000 — will go into a reserve fund along with the savings from other departments."

Who knows, there might even be enough for a tax cut, or at least to prevent an increase.

MAN BITES DOG

"Since we've moved to this location we've cut our welfare load 93 per cent."

"Americanization doesn't seem to be working any better than Vietnamization."

Promotion Ad's Realism Impresses

Sympathy For Families Of Quentin Victims

Compliments to you for the splendid editorial on Aug. 24, "A Lesson for All in Prison Tragedy." Friends brought it to me today.

I was a resident of Marin County for a number of years and have had the privilege of being friends with some of the fine people who work at San Quentin.

I feel a personal grief for those officers who suffered such a cruel and ignominious death and the greatest sympathy for their wives and children.

'Children Learn By Parents' Example'

Your editorial of Aug. 31 clearly points out several misunderstandings relative to birth control services for minors. Dr. Peter Batten, the resigning health officer of Marion County, Ore., makes the false assumption that providing contraception to minors without parental consent encourages sexual promiscuity. Experience at our clinic over the past several years has shown that the opposite is true: teenagers who seek birth control have more stable relationships, higher educational goals, better self-esteem, and more respect for their parents than those teenagers who come to us already pregnant. An interesting correlation is that many of the youngsters treated at the county VD clinic are using no method of birth control at all. It seems apparent that teen-agers who use birth control are more mature, responsible, and moral than those who do not.

The second false assumption is that sex education is a fact in Marin County schools. The truth is that even bare-bones instruction in human reproductive anatomy and physiology is seldom taught, let alone instruction in contraception. In the few schools where teachers attempt to instruct their students parental reaction often forces the classes to be dropped.

Let's put the blame where it really belongs — with the adult community. Last year in Marin County there were 1,503 divorces filed, 1,084 final decrees granted as against only 1,383 marriage licenses issued. Why don't you address yourself to adult promiscuity and immorality? After all, children learn primarily by their parents' example.

Proof Lacking Of Fluoride Danger

A short time ago you published a letter by Betty Franklin, executive director, Pure Water Association of America, citing some "concerned hypocrites about fluoride and fluoridation," and the names were impressive, if they are indeed concerned about the addition of fluoride to water for the purpose of promoting tooth health and the reduction of tooth decay.

However, nothing in Betty Franklin's letter demonstrated proof that fluoride added to water for the purpose stated above is actually and factually detrimental . . .

How Escape Science In School System?

As a somewhat ancient square I can always find something irritating in the news these days and as a result I am usually too jaded to react much to the inanities which regularly appear in the press and on radio and TV. However, the I-J Marin Magazine of Sept. 4 contained an article which set me wondering as to the state of education in Marin County. I refer to the one about the young man who has chosen organic gardening as his career. I do not object to his right to make his choice of career or to his life style, as it is described, although his method of gardening and way of living both seem to me to be impractical to say the least. What really bugs me (if you will pardon the expression in this context) is that a person can graduate from Tamalpais High School and be a student in the College of Marin and still maintain a belief in planting by the moon and astrological charts. How is it that he did not learn what truth is and how to test for it by the scientific method? Can anyone escape exposure to science and reason in Marin schools? What is there in the ambience that promotes non-science? Something is wrong, somewhere, for the young man, as singled out, actually represents almost a caricature of a presently common, rigidly stylized, non-imaginative and ignorant type.

I am aware that some adults, especially uneducated ones, and some presumable educated ones, influenced by "old country" family traditions, plant by the moon or would do so if they planted anything. It is a harmless custom in itself since all it does is restrict the time available for planting. But to believe seriously, in these times, that moon phases and zodiacal signs can influence the development of plants is bad. It is bad because it allows non-science and superstition to block the search for truth. It promotes reluctance to face reality, and failure to utilize established knowledge.

To be sure, I think that no educational system, however good it may be, can succeed in educating every person. The adages "you can lead a horse (or jackass) to water, but you can't make him drink" and "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear" sometimes apply. Some persons just seem to be born knotheads and may remain that way through a long life. For instance, Mr. William D. Fusselman's column on Fridays in the I-J suggests to me that he may be one of these.

Kennedy Should Clear Air By Unequivocal Disavowal

WASHINGTON — "I will not accept if nominated and will not serve if elected." Those were the unequivocal words of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman when the Republicans were trying to draft a military hero as their candidate. Very few politicians have had the courage to shut the door so irrevocably against the knocking of hope, however faint.

If Sen. Edward F. Kennedy were to make such a statement, the murky, confused picture of the Democratic rivals would be greatly clarified. Instead, when pressed on the matter of his own possible candidacy he has equivocated, denying any intention of running and yet leaving the door just slightly ajar.

The result is to increase the uncertainty over the outcome of the Democratic convention next year, with the lurking suspicion that in the event of a deadlock Kennedy is bound to be the nominee. This talk is more and more frequently heard.

REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS concerned about President Nixon's re-election shake their heads with mixed emotions. Could this young man be elected President with the memory of the tragic misadventure of Chappaquidick Island and its troubled aftermath still green? Yes, the gloomier oldsters in the GOP say, having in mind the magic of the Kennedy name.

As to his comparative youth — he is 39 — that cuts both ways. The polls show that most of the 18-to-21-year-olds not only have no memory of Chappaquidick, but if the name does mean something they consider the incident irrelevant to the question of Kennedy's fitness to be president. While older voters have a different attitude, the young — two-thirds of whom are registering as Democrats — may decide the election.

There is an even more serious reason why he should forego 1972. That is the dark shadow of tragedy hanging over the Kennedy family. The Washington Post reported recently that the Massachusetts senator gets more assassination threats than anyone except the President. The murder of Robert Kennedy occurred little more than three years ago and his assassin, Sirhan Sirhan, still sits in Death Row in that prison of infinite horrors, San Quentin.

WHAT PUTS A POINT to this is that four to six more years in the Senate would establish Kennedy as one of the ablest and outstanding men in that body. He has already taken the lead in two of the most-neglected areas and with an able staff he has brought to wide public attention issues vital to America's position at home and abroad.

One is medical care. The series of hearings he has held in various parts of the country have made abundantly clear two things. First is the inadequacy of the Nixon administration's program. The second, obvious enough as it should be, is the woeful lack of proper medical care for millions of Americans. The Kennedy subcommittee has thoroughly explored the reasons for the wretched deficiencies in whole regions.

The second service Kennedy has performed is through his committee on refugees, to make known the plight of the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese who have been wounded and maimed, driven out of their farms and villages and left to subsist in miserable camps. During the congressional recess Kennedy flew to India for a firsthand survey of the plight of the Bengalis — perhaps as many as eight million — who fled from East Pakistan when the West Pakistan army adopted a scorched-earth policy in putting down an alleged revolt.

The statements Kennedy made while in India served to increase what had been the all-too-little awareness of perhaps the greatest mass tragedy of this century, with more to come in famine and death unless far more help comes from the western powers.

UNDERSCORING the suspicion of the senator's ultimate intentions are the dedicated Kennedyites, many of whom are to be found in the camp of Sen. George McGovern, the only avowed candidate for the presidential nomination. For all the denials repeatedly put out, they are regarded as merely waiting the moment when they can shift to the surviving member of the family to whom their devotion is given.

Many of them are able, brilliant even. But this is not 1960, nor is it 1968. The magic of the days when these younger men considered themselves assigned to be the movers and shakers of a new era cannot be recreated in another Kennedy name.

For more than 20 years Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has been selling Brooklyn Bridge to the out-of-town yokels.

Not literally, of course. In Chiang's bracket the Brooklyn Bridge is peanuts.

What he has been selling is the myth that some day he and his ageing army of 600,000 men would return to the mainland from which they retreated in 1949.

Only in Chiang's case it was not a myth. He believed it. And he believed it so hard that many others believed it, too, including leaders of the United States, who spent billions of dollars supporting Chiang and his army and nurturing the thought that some day he would retake the mainland from the Communists.

NO ONE BELIEVES it anymore. Probably not even Chiang.

It is an idea that cannot be accepted without a touch of melancholy.

For more than 20 years, Chiang served as a sort of Asian Don Quixote, shattering his lance against the windmills of time and fate, lending strength to the hope that perhaps, after all, chivalry was not dead.

Never mind that Chiang's one-man rule of Taiwan had borne little resemblance to the West's concept of democracy.

He had been among the early founders of the United Nations set up as the guardian of man's ideals.

As he approaches his 84th birthday on Oct. 31, he is the last of the Big Five—Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, De Gaulle and Chiang.

WITHIN COMING WEEKS men who profess to be able to see through the mists which hide reality and give form and substance to unreality will debate Chiang's right to a seat in the world body he helped to found.

The debate will not be over whether China has a right to the seat.

It will be asked who and what is China. Are Chiang and 15 million men, women and children on Formosa China? Or are the mainland Communists China — they and nearly a billion persons living on the mainland?

The returns already are in. This year or next Chiang will lose his last status symbol as leader of a great nation.

Then another decision will be forced upon him —whether to swallow his words that for him it is all or nothing, or to try to stay in the U.N. on whatever terms he can get.

It may be progress but it is sad.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Sept. 9, 1961

Treasury Secy. Douglas Dillon said he expected unemployment to fall below 5 per cent within a year.

Four San Francisco youths, aged 16 and 17, were found guilty of first degree of William P. Hall, 27-year-old Ross School teacher.

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 9, 1951

The temperature hit 103 degrees in San Rafael.

Rockets of the type used by Russia in World War II landed behind allied lines on the central Korean front.

Marin Needs Bicycle Paths, But They're Not Whole Answer

Marin needs more bicycle paths.

Bicycles no longer are for kids or for riding just for enjoyment or exercise.

More and more residents are climbing onto bicycles for short commutes to the drug store, the post office, or the grocery store, freeing the highways of additional automobiles and the air of unwanted carbon monoxide.

And more would travel farther if safe connectors between cities were provided.

ALMOST DAILY, newspapers carry stories of youngsters who have broken an arm or a leg by riding into or being hit by a car.

Riding alongside a highway — even one that has been widened and striped — is not safe.

The pedestrian-bicycle path under construction along Tiburon Boulevard is a good idea — in part. The path definitely should be separated from the highway.

But it doesn't make any more sense to pit bicycle against pedestrian than it does to pit cicycle against automobile.

The Tiburon pathway is being built on the old railroad right of way; a bridle path is planned nearby.

Perhaps it will be separated by shrubs, a fence or something. Imagine what a mess that would be — horses, bicycles and pedestrians!

THE GREATER USE of bicycles creates other problems, also, like where to park and how to safeguard the bike against theft.

Cities will have to take bicyclists into consideration in planning municipal parking lots, perhaps with locks provided on the racks.

The Civic Center in San Rafael has bicycle racks built into the sidewalk, with depressions the size of a wheel to set the bicycle in. These seem to be less obstrusive than the portable racks used in some cities.

In order to better protect persons whose bicycles are stolen, better licensing requirements also are needed.

The cost of providing a network of bicycle paths throughout the county would be high indeed. But the cost of the environment and the high loss of lives each year in automobile accidents is at least as high.

Phu Quoc Island: Prison, Red Refuge

By BARNEY SIEBERT

SAIGON (UPI)—Cambodians, South Vietnamese and Americans all agree that Phu Quoc Island, site of Indochina's largest prisoner of war camp, is an important way station on a Communist infiltration route.

But they disagree on the direction the men and supplies are moving.

South Vietnamese officers and their American advisors at Phu Quoc say the supplies and men move south from Cambodia, island-hopping on small sampans the 10 miles from the Cambodian coast to the 35-mile-long isle.

The South Vietnamese say that arms and men are then carried eastward on junks and sampans the 50 miles to the coast of South Vietnam.

Some officers blame supply movement through Phu Quoc for throwing off schedule the nine-month-old drive to pacify the U Minh "Forest of Darkness," along the Gulf of Thailand, 135 miles southwest of Saigon.

American officers on Phu Quoc say they have intelligence reports that "important" inmates who escape from the 32,000 prisoner compound near the south tip of the island are met by Communist guerrillas in the northern part of the island and escorted to Cambodia to join Communist forces there.

Lower ranking POWs who escape from Phu Quoc link up with 130-man Communist guerrilla force that controls the northeast two-thirds of the island, and remain there as reinforcements, U.S. officers said.

At least 48 prisoners have escaped from Phu Quoc prison in the past four months. The most recent escape occurred Aug. 24 when guerrillas ambushed 15 South Vietnamese military police guarding 22 prisoners sent out of the barbed wire compound to cut timber. In the battle which followed, eight MPs were killed and six wounded. Nine prisoners were killed and seven wounded. Five prisoners escaped, spokesmen said.

In May groups of prisoners twice tunneled under the prison's barbed wire barriers and escaped, 27 in one group, 16 in another, military sources said. At least five of the 48 prisoners were believed to be important enough that they were shipped on to Cambodia, U.S. officers said.

Cambodian officers have a different idea about Phu Quoc.

Lt. Col. Chau Ben, deputy commander of the 10 battalions of Cambodian infantry which guard the deepwater port of Kompong Som and the area around it, said his intelligence shows the supply traffic is moving in the opposite direction, from Phu Quoc to Cambodia.

Ben said in an interview that most of the supplies Communist guerrilla bands in the southeast end of his district are using have been shipped in from Phu Quoc. "I think the Communists had the guns stockpiled on Phu Quoc since before we got into the war (March 18, 1970)."

Most of the Communist guerrillas on Phu Quoc are in the uninhabited jungles in the northeast part of the island, but U.S. officers say there is one platoon stationed just north of the prison compound.

Patrol craft based at An Thoi are charged with intercepting the supply sampans but seldom catch any. A chain of small rocky islands links Phu Quoc and the Cambodian mainland and the sampans can move from islet to islet when patrol boats are out of range.

Why We Are In Vietnam: Committee Finds New Reason

WASHINGTON — The "Why Are We in Vietnam Committee," otherwise known as WAWIVC, held its monthly meeting at the State Department last week, and for the first time there was an air of pessimism in the room. As everyone knows, WAWIVC was set up many years ago to provide presidents of the United States with solid reasons for American involvement in Vietnam.

Some of the reasons the committee has come up with in the past are:

A. To halt Communist aggression from the North.

B. To let Red China know we mean business.

C. To prevent Southeast Asian countries from falling like dominoes.

D. To keep American boys from having to fight on the shores of Hawaii.

E. To prove to Hanoi we are not a helpless giant.

F. To make sure the South Vietnamese people can choose their own leaders in democratic elections.

THIS LAST ONE was everyone's favorite. President Nixon kept repeating it in every speech about Indochina. Secretary of State Rogers, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon and Ambassador David Bruce in Paris all said the same thing: "The United States wants nothing for itself. It is only in South Vietnam to assure that the people there can decide their own fate."

You can imagine what happened at the WASIVC meeting when they were informed that President Thieu would be the only one on the ballot in the presidential election on Oct. 3.

The chairman of the committee said, "Gentlemen, I have just heard from President Nixon. He is very disappointed that no one has chosen to run against President Thieu and is once again hard put to explain what the United States is doing in Vietnam."

"WELL, IT ISN'T our fault that Vice President Ky wouldn't run against Thieu, or that General Minh bowed out of the race weeks ago," an assistant secretary of public affairs said.

"How did we know that Thieu would rig the elections so badly that even the opposition would see through him? a USIA psychological warfare expert said.

"Thieu should have warned Ky and Minh that they either had to run against him in democratic elections or they would be shot," a CIA man said.

"THAT'S NOT the point, gentlemen," the chairman of the committee said. "The fact is that Thieu is running alone. This is not our concern except that since it's now difficult for President Nixon to defend the American presence in Vietnam to guarantee free elections, we have to find him another reason to explain why we are still there. Now think."

"Suppose," an AID man said, "the president says the reason we are in Vietnam is to protect the American dollar?"

"I don't follow you."

"Well, we all know every high official in the South Vietnamese government has a secret Swiss bank account where he has stashed away millions of dollars. Now, if these officials traded their dollars in Switzerland for marks or French francs while the dollar is floating, it could hurt us badly.

"But as long as we remain in South Vietnam these officials will have faith in us and will keep their dollars in Switzerland."

"It's too complicated," the chairman said. "I want something simple."

"SUPPOSE WE SAY we're in Vietnam because we must protect freedom wherever it is found," a Pentagon man said.

There was dead silence in the room.

Finally the chairman said, "There has to be a reason that no one has yet thought of."

A State Department man scribbled something on a sheet of paper and then raised his hand. "This is it. The president must go on television tomorrow night and tell the American people the only reason we are in Vietnam is because it's there."

Wife Reports Husband Drafted Into Red Army

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (UPI) —Deborah Brackman Kreminiova, forced to leave the Soviet Union and her Russian husband last week, said Tuesday she has received word her husband was forced out of medical school and drafted into the Soviet army.

"I thought I would see him in maybe four months, but now it looks like at least two years," Mrs. Kreminiova said from her parents' Long Island home.

Mrs. Kreminiova, 22, a Russian studies major at Barnard College, married Valeri Kreminiova, also 22, Aug. 17 while visiting the Soviet Union with a student group. She was forced to leave last week after her visa expired.

She said a friend of hers, a Brown University coed who had just returned from the Soviet Union, smuggled notes to her from her husband saying he had not been allowed to return to Leningrad medical school and was drafted.

Quick Delivery Of Mail Vowed

San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy has announced that by Oct. 31 about 95 per cent of outgoing local first class mail will be delivered within a day.

Cassidy said letters mailed in San Rafael to points within the Bay Area and as far north as Eureka will reach the addressee within a day if mailed before 5 p.m.

More than half of the 52 million pieces of first-class mail handled annually are for delivery in the city where deposited or in nearby communities, he said.

Hub Drug Raid— Three Arrested

Three San Anselmo residents were booked into Marin County Jail after one of them allegedly sold marijuana to an undercover drug agent.

Agents said the sale was made by Paul Edward LeClair, 20, of 23 Durham Road. Following the sale, agents said, they followed LeClair to a residence at 178 Los Angeles Boulevard, where they arrested LeClair and two residents of the house.

Two and a half pounds of marijuana, an ounce of suspected cocaine and a small amount of suspected LSD were found at the residence, agents said.

James Franklin Reel, 22, and Martha Ann Martini, 28, both of the Los Angeles Boulevard address, were booked on suspicion of possessing narcotics, dangerous drugs, marijuana and marijuana for sale.

Le Clair was booked on suspicion of selling marijuana. He was held in lieu of $1,000 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Reel was held in lieu of $3,125 bail to appear in court tomorrow, and Miss Martini posted $1,000 bail also to appear in court tomorrow.

Bernstein's 'Mass': A Profound Offering

By DAVID E. ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Leonard Bernstein's "Mass," which officially opened the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, is a profound religious expression and a powerful dramatic and musical experience.

If such a ritual celebration as a mass can be said to have a story, this one is about the contemporary crisis of faith as centered in the celebrant, played and sung with perfect pacing by Alan Titus.

Using singers, dancers and bands, as well as chorus and orchestra, Bernstein anchors his piece in the traditional dramatic development of the mass leading to the Eucharist, or Holy Communion.

But as each portion of the ancient ritual develops there is a "contra," the penetration of the contemporary disbelief done in pop, rock and jazz forms. All of the time Alvin Ailey's remarkable dancers provide their own interpretation and comment on the proceedings with some of the most exciting choreography Washington has seen.

Always, however, the focus of the tension is on the celebrant, the priest who would lead his disbelieving congregation —not excluding the audience —in worship.

We first meet the priest in simple garb —blue jeans and a workshirt —and he reminds one of a troubador as he sings the lovingly lyrical "a simple song," and gathers his congregation about him.

As the mass progresses, he is slowly but increasingly vested, first with a robe and then with the other trappings of ecclesiastical office. Almost unnoticeable at first, it becomes obvious that the robing begins to set him apart from his fellows. Antagonism begins to build between the certainty of the faith expressed in the traditional mass and his fellows.

At the same time, the robing dramatically implies the weight or burden the faith puts on a man.

"Mass" was written especially for the inauguration of the Kennedy Center and the memory of the late John Kennedy is very much a part of the work.

But "Mass" is even more a work that has been written out of all the violence and hopes of the 1960s. Uncomfortable, yet comforting, "Mass" is timely in touching all contemporary social problems, in its cry for peace and, as the great art it is, timeless in its affirmation that man will endure and love his brother.

Bus Integration And Football Fans

With all the brouhaha over school busing raging across the land, including that metropolis on the foggy side of the Golden Gate, I decided to seek out a local sports angle last Saturday by attending the long-awaited integration of 49er and Raider fans.

"Could these bitter enemies co-exist on a bus?" I wondered as I arrived at Wiltshire Towers in San Rafael where Shaun Wiltshire's popular doubledecker London carriage was about to transport them to the Oakland Coliseum.

To my knowledge, this was the first time in the history of the intense cross-bay professional football rivalry that fans from both allegiances were to travel to a game in the same vehicle. I thought this would be like putting Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier in the same phone booth, so I wore my brains bucket, nose guard and Chicken Delight button, fearing the worst.

Heretofore, Shaun Wiltshire, founder and president of the Marin Chapter, Raiders Boosters Club, has used his jolly red transit for the exclusive use of his Raiders membership. But since joining the 49er Goal Rushers Club recently — "... as a public relations gesture," he explained — Wiltshire has set up transportation headquarters for both organizations. Wiltshire will run his bus for both groups during the season and on the three conflicting home dates this year will charter another vehicle for the Niners. Although they'll go their separate ways, the pre and post-game gatherings around the Towers' watering hole should be interesting.

Saturday's joint maiden voyage was without incident, other than some good natured needling. To ease the anticipated tension, Wiltshire threw a pre-game barbecue around the pool at his motel, "... to let the friendly rivals get acquainted," he said, "and to show the 49ers we Raiders have some class." Shaun even went so far as to decorate a couple of tables in 49er gold and red. And at the victuals dispensary he showed no favoritism, dishing out beef, beans and salad in equal portions to both groups.

Although there were more than twice as many Raider Rooters aboard the London import, the 49er group seemed quite relaxed and confident as we tooled eastward. Aboard were such long-time Niner Nuts as ex-Dist. Atty. Roger Garety, bowling baron Bill Nave Jr., barrister Richard Barry, furniture tycoon Milton Schwartz, Pacific Tel and Tel vice-president John Dills, and about a dozen others in the group of 65 — 32½ upstairs and an equal portion downstairs, one passenger being neutral.

As the 49ers were favored, their rooters did most of the needling en route, extolling the virtues of Brodie this and Washington that, constantly reminding their adversaries of San Francisco's 38-7 triumph the last time they invaded Oakland.

But the diplomatic Wiltshire averted any hard feelings by uniting the passengers in a harmonious version of the double-decker's theme song, "Oh, San Rafael, oh San Rafael, oh where the hell, is San Rafael? In old Marin, that land of sin . . ." etc. The lower deck sang the bass while the upper deck provided the overtones. I said flatly.

He also thoughtfully explained to 49er filberts the post-game procedures of locating the bus in the huge parking lot. "If you get lost," he said over the sound system, "just remember the bus' number is 7836. And if you can't remember that, keep in mind that it is red. And if you can't remember that, it's a doubledecker."

Turning to me, he explained: "I've lost a few Raider fans in the past who've had to hitchhike home, but I can't afford to lose any 49er fans." By the way, everyone found the bus, which is difficult to miss — even for a 49er.

During the game I was "fortunate" enough to sit two rows in front of a 49er filbert with one of those blasted air horns that lift you right out of your seat, to the left of a Raider tooter armed with a trumpet, (Charge!) and directly in front of vociferous Oakland advocates Rex Hickman, vice president of First American Title Co. of Marin, and Laverne Robinson, den mother for the upper deck of Wiltshire's double-barreled carriage.

After the Raiders scored the winning touchdown, Hickman and Mrs. Robinson pummeled me with their bulky souvenir programs and I, a director of the 49er Goal Rushers, thought: "Boy, is it going to be a long ride home."

But I eased my pain with the eternally hopeful thought: "Wait 'til next year. Just wait!" But it was still a long ride home.

SAILS ON SILVER BREEZE

With sails silhouetting the sky backdrop, Knarr Class yachts are making a pretty picture this week on San Francisco Bay. Atlanta Next Foe For S.F.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers are still in second place in the National League West today but the first-place San Francisco Giants are running a bit scared with their lead cut to five games.

Bill Singer set the Giants down with two hits Wednesday night and with relief help from Jim Brewer got his eighth win against 16 losses. His fast ball was sinking and the Giants had only two base runners until the ninth inning when Singer walked two men with one out.

Brewer came in to walk Willie Mays and fill the bases but then got Bobby Bonds to hit into a game-ending double play.

The Dodgers return to action tonight in the opening game of a three-game series against the Padres at San Diego. The Giants have an off day, flying to Atlanta where they open a weekend series against the Braves Friday night.

On Monday, the Giants and the Dodgers meet at Candlestick Park in the beginning of a two-game series which may determine the winner in the NL West.

The Giants, with slugger Willie McCovey sidelined because of a hand injury, did not hit with their customary vigor against the Dodgers.

They got a total of only 11 hits in dropping the three games here after losing a double-header at home Sunday.

Manager Charlie Fox had no explanation. He was speechless after the third loss but Hal Lanier and Juan Marichal were not.

Marichal took his 10th loss against 14 wins. He went five innings, walked three and did not strike out a man, a rare thing for him against the Dodgers.

Always smiling, he complained after the game that the balls used were large —too large for his hands to grip.

"Before the game they gave me a small ball to warm up with," he said. "After the game start, they gave me nothing but big ones. I don't like to make excuses but my hands are small. They don't even take the grease off the balls either."

Lanier told anyone who cared to listen:

"If they (the Dodgers) think they're in, they're out of their cotton-picking minds. We're not dead yet. We haven't been hitting but we're still in front like we've been all season."

The only Giant hitters against Singer were Ken Henderson and Chris Speier. Henderson got a leadoff double to right in the first inning. He got as far as third on an infield out but expired there. Speier beat out a hit to the right side of the infield in the second inning. All night long off Singer the Giants hit only four balls fair out of the infield.

TRYING TO BREAK SPELL

49ers, Rams In TV Game

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners are having an unusual time of it in preseason games —for the first time since 1962 they have a chance to win four exhibitions.

They haven't beaten the Los Angeles Rams in a preseason game since 1962 but they'll try again tonight with perhaps more chances for success. The game will be televised on Channel 2, 8 o'clock.

San Francisco coach Dick Nolan does not place too much stress on exhibition games but the Forty Niners have lost only one —to Oakland —tied one and won three this year.

The Rams, displaying a lack of passion about winning under new coach Tommy Prothro, have a 3-3 record.

The game means nothing in the final standings but will probably draw 55,000 fans to Memorial Coliseum.

Both sides are reported healthy. Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel suffered a rib separation in the 20-14 loss last Friday to San Diego but has recovered. If he so much as stubs a toe, however, Prothro has indicated he will send in a backup man —Jerry Rhome or Karl Sweetan.

John Brodie, the National Football Conference's most valuable player last season when the Forty Niners won the Western Division, played his first full game against the Raiders and threw two touchdown passes.

Gabriel was sacked five times by the Chargers but should get better protection tonight. Guard Tom Mack, sidelines for four games with a dislocated great toe, will return to action. Joe Scibelli, hampered last week by a thumb fracture, should be improved and tackle Charlie Cowan, laid low by gout, is reported healthy again.

All of Gabriel's potential targets are in A-1 shape — running back Les Josephson and Willie Ellison, backfield starters, flanker Lance Rentzel and wide receiver Jack Snow and tight end Bob Klein.

This is the last exhibition came and Brodie will try to sharpen up his passes. Starting in the backfield with him will be Ken Willard and Doug Cunningham with Gene Washington and Dick Witcher as wide receivers and Bob Windsor at tight end.

Backup quarterback Steve Spurrier is on the injured waiver list and if Brodie needs a rest, rookie Joe Reed, an 11th round draft choice from Mississippi State, will get a chance.

The Rams open the regular season against the Saints at New Orleans on Sunday, Sept. 19. The Forty Niners begin defense of their Western Divison title on the same day against the Falcons at Atlanta.

Hunter's Thoughts Of No. 20

OAKLAND (UPI)—Big Jim Hunter admits he wants to win 20 games for the Oakland A's this season and he won't be sorry if he hits the magic figure on the road.

The Catfish took number 19 Wednesday night as he blanked California 1-0 on four hits Wednesday before a sparse crowd at the Oakland Coliseum.

When Kansas City lost, it cut Oakland's division-clinching magic number to seven.

Hunter, who never pitched in the minors, will shoot for number 20 next Monday in Kansas City, where he broke in to the majors in 1965.

He admitted that he wants to win 20 "just to get it over with" and that he would be glad to win it in Kansas City.

"I don't think the fans here in Oakland care if I won 20 or not," he said bluntly. "Look at the small crowd we had tonight (3,264) and the small crowd that came to see Vida Blue last night (6,678). But it doesn't matter to me if there's just two people in the stands or where it happens. All I want to do is win number 20."

The game was a heartbreaker for Rudy May to lose.

He also hurled a four-hitter and the A's lone tally came in the fifth on Angel Mangual's single, two walks and a pair of throwing errors on pickoff attempts.

What's more, it appeared to at least two players that the Angels had tied it up with one down in the last inning when the awesome looking Roger Repoz belted one into the night.

"I thought it was gone," Hunter said later. "I was surprised to see Mangual even bother to run back to the fence."

Mangual caught it against the fence for the out.

YOUNG TENNIS SENSATION

Chris To Face Billie Jean

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Chris Evert never believes she'll survive until tomorrow.

But with her life-or-death style on every point, she doesn't have to worry.

She earned one more tomorrow when she defeated hard-muscled Australian Lesley Hunt 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 Wednesday to advance to the semifinals of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Now the familiar faces from former years who have been shunned by the crowds and shunted onto the side courts whenever Chris played are looking toward Billie Jean King to call a halt on Friday. Mrs. King, the 1967 champion and top seed, moved into the showdown with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over Laura DuPont of Wilmington, Del., another upstart who beat Nancy Richey Gunter in the previous round.

Even the U.S. men have been unable to compete with Miss Evert's charm. In the absence of many stars, including Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver, the U.S. players have marched almost unnoticed toward an all-American title match.

Four American men made it to the quarterfinals, and fifth-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., seemed on his way to joining them with a 7-5,4-4 lead over Yugoslavian Nikki Pilic Wednesday when the match was suspended because of darkness.

In quarter-final matches today, unseeded Frank Froehling of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., opens on the center court against Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia. Their match will be followed with third-seeded Arthur Ashe of Miami against Manuel Orantes of Spain and No. 7 Clark Graebner of New York against Tom Okker of Holland.

Graebner advanced to the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Ray Moore of South Africa while Okker beat England's Roger Taylor 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. In another match, Army private Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif. was leading 7-5, 3-2 when self-exiled Czechoslovakian Milan Holecek retired with a pulled hamstring muscle.

However, the match that brought the crowd of 8,901 to life was between Miss Evert and Miss Hunt.

The match hardly seemed even, a 21-year-old veteran, ranked 10th in the world with the Australia and French titles in her past, going against a 16-year-old schoolgirl, unranked in her own country.

The match wasn't even after the first set. Clutching her racquet with both hands, coldy surveying her opponent and always being there to bat the ball back just one more time, Miss Evert survived one more day, longer than anyone expected.

Hobie Cats, 14 and 16-foot sailboats, will be racing in San Pablo Bay off McNear's Beach Park east of San Rafael this weekend in the Northern California Championships.

There will be three races each day, Saturday and Sunday, starting at 11 a.m.

49ers Trade Randolph For Future Draft Pick

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers Wednesday traded veteran safety Alvin Randolph to the Green Bay Packers for an undisclosed future draft choice.

Randolph, 27, is entering his sixth pro season. The 6-foot-2, 196-pounder from the University of Iowa was the 49ers thirdround draft choice prior to the 1966 season.

The 49ers also released four rookies to reduce their roster to 44 players. They were wide receiver Sam Dickerson of the University of Southern California, linebacker Marty Huff of Michigan, center Willie Parker of North Texas State and cornerback Dave Walker of Utah.

Randolph has been used as a backup man to cornerbacks Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor and safeties Mel Phillips and Rosey Taylor. Randolph is expected to join Green Bay in time to make the trip to Buffalo for a pre-season game against the Bills this weekend.

JAWING GIANTS — An I-rated argument broke out last night as San Francisco Giants' Alan Gallagher raced onto the Dodger Stadium field to get between umpire Augie Donatelli and coach Wes Westrum after the arbitrator called Bobby Bonds (left) out to end the game after the Giants had loaded the bases with one out in the ninth. The heated exchange changed nothing as the Giants bowed 3-0, diminishing their lead to five games.

Packers Cut Pitts, Five Others

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Another part of the Vince Lombardi era is gone at Green Bay.

Elijah Pitts, one of the many fine running backs developed by Lombardi during his glory years at Green Bay in the mid-1960s, Wednesday cleared waivers and was placed on the Packers' taxi squad.

Also relegated to the Green Bay taxi squad were Cal Withrow, Leo Harden and Ken Duncan, while kicker Dale Livingston and Rookie Pat Houlton were released outright.

Kansas City traded wide receiver Frank Pitts, a spot starter, to Cleveland for a draft choice and recalled four players — Mike Adamle, Chuck Hixson, Bruce Jankowski and Dennis Homan — from waivers.

The New England Patriots traded running back Eddie Ray to San Diego and acquired wide receiver Mike Haffner from Denver for a draft choice next year. The Pats also released wide receiver Jim Livesay and claimed linebackers Ed Weisacosky from Miami and Chip Bennett from Cincinnati.

San Diego traded offensive tackle Tony Liscio, acquired from Dallas in the Lance Alworth deal, to Miami for center Carl Mauck. The Chargers released three veterans — Joe Owens, Dave Grayson, a former Oakland Raider, and J. R. Wilburn — and three rookies — Lee Thomas, Gary Nowak and Mel Rogers.

The New York Giants acquired quarterback Randy Johnson from Atlanta as part of the deal which sent Dick Shiner, also a quarterback, to the Falcons last week.

Philadelphia trimmed quarterback Jim Ward and defensive back Ray Jones, their No. 2 draft pick last season.

Minnesota assigned veteran Dale Hackbart and Godfrey Zaunbrecher to the taxi squad and cut Kreg Kapitan, Kent Kramer, a former San Francisco 49er, and Mike Walker.

Los Angeles claimed running back Lee White, a former first-round draft choice, from the New York Jets and assigned Bob Thomas, Ken Geddes, and Larry Crowe to the taxi squad and Mike Wilson to the injured list.

Chicago trimmed veterans Phil Clark and Ray Ogden and John Neidert, Ted Wheeler, Larry Bowden, Sid Bailey and Willie Lewis while Oakland identified four of the nine players waived Monday as Glenn Ellison, Tom Gipson, Bubba Thornton and Lloyd Edwards.

Cleveland cut veteran defensive back Erich Barnes, Don Gault and Charley Brinkman and assigned the three to the taxi squad and released Larry Zelina while Pittsburgh announced that waivers had cleared on Bob Leahy, Chuck Beatty, Hubie Bryant, Terry Cole, Paul Rogers, Ralph Anderson, Rick Sharp and Burt Askson.

Buffalo dropped Waddie Harvey, J. C. Collins and John Leypoldt and New Orleans waived David Haverdick and George Jakowenko and relegated Craig Robinson, Jim Cooch and Richard Harvey to the taxi squad.

In Friday action, the Jets play New England at Memphis, Green Bay is at Buffalo and St. Louis entertains Cleveland. On Saturday Atlanta is at San Diego, Cincinnati at Washington, Baltimore meets Oakland at Jacksonville, Fla., Kansas City is at Dallas, Miami at Minnesota while on Sunday, the last day of pre-season play, Denver is at Chicago, Detroit at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at the New York Giants and Houston at New Orleans.

Hockey Signups Slated Sunday

Marin County youths will have two more junior hockey teams to choose from when they sign up Sunday between 10 a.m. and noon at Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera.

The new pair of squads are the Mites, 8 years of age or under, and the Midgets, 16 and under. The two will join the already existing Bantams, 14 and under; Pee Wees, 12 and under; and the Squirts, 10 and under.

Those signing up will get two hours of free skating, Don Anderson, league spokesman said.

In addition, he added, hockey and skating instruction will be provided between noon and 2 p.m.

Pro Kicker Award

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) —Now the pro football kickers will be honored with their own award. It'll be called the Golden Toe Award and will be presented —along with $1,000— to pro football's leading kicker or punter. A shoe company is sponsoring the award to recognize the pro athletes who are putting the "foot" into football.

BANDUCCI AT THE HELM

New Grid Era At Marin

When rookie coach Bruno Banducci opened football practice Aug. 23, he ushered in a new gridiron era for Marin Catholic High School.

An assistant last year, the All-Time San Francisco 49er guard great was elevated to the helm with aspirations he could improve on the school's recent so-so performances, exemplified by last year's 4-5 won-lost record.

However, the University of Santa Clara alumnus realizes it will be tough, if only because school enrollment hovers around the 900 mark, far below that of rivals in the area.

He also is aware that lack of line size and inexperience in several spots could adversely affect game results. "We don't have strong boys up front," Banducci says in viewing the opening practice turnout. However, if enthusiasm and coaching skills win championships, the Blue and White could go undefeated.

Unfortunately for Marin Catholic followers, it will take more. Yet, the foundation is there. With quarterback Steve Sherry returning, the coach claims, "We will put the ball in the air. We have a good passing offense."

Banducci points out that his drop back passer will throw the bomb on occasion. A likely recipient will be junior varsity graduate Russ Knudsen, a promising flanker prospect blessed with good hands and moves, according to the coach.

"We also like to throw to our running backs," Banducci adds, referring to his reliables Pat Parnow, a co-captain, Don Nelson and Rich Cervisi, another J.V. offshoot.

Chuck Lauderback, John Schalich and converted linebacker Jack Stahl, a tight end, are other possible targets.

This passing emphasis is geared to pressure opposing cornerbacks, force defensive mistakes and indecision, while capitalizing on Sherry's tossing talents. But, if the line fails to hold, Sherry may sprint out to either run or pass.

This action would burden linebackers with problems of containment and could possibly open the Marin Catholic running game, something Banducci would like. With a solid running attack, the pass rush would slacken the pressure on Sherry to cover for the run. In addition, a good ground assault would facilitate the line's development around returning guard and co-captain, Paul Ricardi, and John Iavarone. The former is 6-0, 185 and the latter is 6-0, 200. Iavarone is currently making the difficult transition from tackle to center, a move designed to bolster pass blocking execution.

With Iavarone concentrating in practice on the changeover, his veteran colleague Ricardi will again sharpen his two-way abilities. Ricardi serves as a linebacker in Banducci's newly installed stunting defense.

Blacks Bid For NFL Franchise

BOSTON (UPI) — A group of black athletes and entertainers have been planning for more than a year to petition the National Football League for an expansion franchise, the Boston Record American said Wednesday.

The report said Memphis had been selected as the site for the new club with "strong sentiment" towards naming the team the Memphis Kings in honor of the late Rev. Martin Luther King who was slain there in April, 1968.

Baseball

ATLANTA (UPI) — An attorney for Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty Wednesday won a postponement for the hearing on charges that the slugger struck a police officer and "created a turmoil."

Frank Hester said he wanted the case delayed because he had numerous witnesses he planned to present in Carty's behalf. The case was reset for Sept. 22.

Three police officers, two of whom were off duty at the time, were fired as a result of the incident. Carty accused the two off-duty policemen of harassing him and provoking a fight.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Kansas City's ultra-modern Harry S. Truman sports complex, scheduled to open next season, will be the showcase for the 1973 all-star baseball game, it was announced today.

The complex, which also houses a football stadium for the Kansas City Chiefs, will bring baseball's showpiece attraction back to Kansas City for the second time. The first all-star game played here was July 11, 1960, with the national league winning, 5-3.

The 1972 all-star game will be played in Atlanta.

Bums, Squids, Cain's Win Softball Games

The Bums trimmed the Scrappers 11-8, the Squids beat the Aliens 13-10, and Cain's Tires whitewashed the Doves 2-0 in San Rafael Recreation Department softball last night on Albert Field.

Dan Thoemke pitched a one-hitter for Cain's Tires, and chuck Jackson drove in five runs with a single and a double to lead the Squids assault. Steve Woodward plated two with a pair of sacrifice flies in leading the Bums to victory.

Inconsistent Kaat Wins For Twins

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There have been times this season when Jim Kaat, a one-time 25-game winner, has looked great. But then, that's the story of most of Kaat's baseball career.

The big left-hander is very, very hard to beat when he's on his game, but, unfortunately for the Minnesota Twins, consistency has rarely been one of Kaat's assets. He's thrown a two-hitter, a three-hitter, a four-hitter, a couple of five-hitters and a six-hitter in some of his better moments this year.

But the moments haven't been long enough or the control steady enough and the result has been an 11-12 record.

Kaat, however, looked very good, indeed, Wednesday night against Chicago, throwing "mostly fastballs" and going with "my best control this season," as he set down the White Sox on four hits to give the Twins a 3-1 triumph.

He had a perfect game until, with two out in the fifth, Steve Huntz singled. The White Sox finally scored in the ninth as Rick McKinney singled, advanced on an infield out and raced home on Carlos May's single.

Wilbur Wood, trying for his 20th victory, was tagged with his 11th loss instead and had a string of 24 scoreless innings ended when the Twins scored twice in the third. George Mitterwald opened with a single, moved up on Kaat's sacrifice and scored on Cesar Tovar's single. Tovar, taking second on the throw to the plate, scored on Steve Braun's single.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York nipped Boston 2-1 in 11 innings, Detroit tripped Washington 5-3, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 7-6 and Oakland beat California 1-0.

In the National League Pittsburgh bombed Chicago 10-1, Montreal clubbed New York 10-2, Los Angeles beat San Francisco for third straight time 3-0 and Cincinnati whipped San Diego 4-1.

A sacrifice fly by John Ellis drove in Roy White from third base with one out in the 11th inning and kept the Yankees' slim third place chances alive. They trail the Red Sox by three games.

Gates Brown, Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Freehan cracked home runs as the streaking Tigers completed a three-game sweep of the Senators and gained their seventh victory in the last eight games.

Jose Cardenal slugged a grand-slam homer, the second of his career, off starter-loser Al Fitzmorris in the fifth inning and after the Brewers added two more runs in the inning, they held a 7-0 lead.

IN A ROUGH DIVISION

Raiders Will Be Tough

OAKLAND (UPI)—Imagine, if you will, the Oakland Raiders being tougher this year than last.

Hard as that might seem, it's all very possible, although it necessarily doesn't mean they will win their division title in the American Conference.

Lest anyone forgets in a hurry they won their Division last year because of the storybook heroics of 43-year-old George Blanda. He'd have to do it again, and that might be asking too much.

Still, the Raiders in 1971 will be formidable, and maybe they won't need Blanda to pull victories out of the fire as he did six times a year ago.

Daryle Lamonica rates as one of pro football's better quarterbacks and this year he will have a real standup backup man in Ken Stabler, the man they call the "Snake" for the way he threads a ball through traffic.

There was very little wrong with the Raider running game a year ago with Hewritt Dixon, Charlie Smith, Marv Hubbard and Pete Banaszak. Now, they have added Clarence Davis and Don Highsmith to the group, and all those two have done in the exhibition games this summer is show how good they are.

"No, I don't think we have much to worry about as far as our running game goes," says coach John Madden. "We have a lot of horses and the problem will be to get them all in."

The Raider receiving corps has been augmented, too.

A year ago Oakland had Warren Wells, Fred Biletnikoff, Drew Buie and Rod Sherman as wide receivers and Ray Chester, Ted Koy and Jacque Mac Kinnon as tight ends.

To that fine group have been added Eldridge Dickey and Bob Moore. Moore is the tight end who made all those big catches for Stanford in its upset over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

Offense the Raiders have, and then some.

To make all of it work a little better Oakland picked up tackles Bob Brown, from the Rams, and Ron Mix, a free agent. Add to them an already fine offensive line and you start thinking maybe the Raiders shouldn't lose a game.

That's almost impossible, but not improbable because Blanda is still alive and kicking as well now as he ever has done. And the Old Gaffer still slings the ball, when need be to use him at quarterback, with authority and accuracy.

"I'm pleased with our offense," says Madden cautiously, because he knows injuries can kill any team, no matter how talented. "We'll just play along and see what happens. It's foolish for me to make any predictions, either about my club or any other team. All I'll say on that score is that our division has improved up and down and we should be in a tough race."

While most people talked about the Oakland offense last year, the defense saved the day enough times to make other coaches believe maybe that was really Oakland's strong suit.

The defensive line is experienced and tough as usual. Tony Cline joined Ben Davidson at end last year and deported himself in fine style. Seven-year pros Tom Keating and Carlton Oats are back at tackle, and so, too, are Dan Conners and Gus Otto at linebacker. Behind the latter two are such experienced hands as Bill Budness, Duane Benson, Gerald Irons and Bill Enyart, the former Oregon State star who came over from Buffalo.

There are experienced people in the secondary as well with Willie Brown, George Atkinson, Nemiah Wilson and Jimmy Warren, plus newcomrs Jack Tatum of Ohio State, Bill West of Tennessee State and Carl Weathers. Weathers was tried out at linebacker last year but will be used at safety this year.

The winning habit runs deep in the Raiders, who have taken their division four years running. Their only frustration is an inability to win a Super Bowl Game.

No one talks of the Super Bowl this early in the year, least of all Madden, who generally is a very cautious man.

"First things come first," he says. "You can't get into the playoffs until you win the division and you can't win the division except by concentrating on each game as it comes up. Our goal right now is to win our first regular season game."

THIS DAY IN SPORTS

Pop Warner Football's Big Weekend

The 18th annual Pop Warner Football Festival will be played Saturday starting at 1 p.m. on the College of Marin field and continue the following day at noon at Marin Catholic, seven games in all.

The Saturday schedule pits Novato and San Marin at 1 p.m. in Senior Pee Wee play followed by a 2:45 p.m. Senior Midget clash between Novato and San Marin. At 4:45 p.m. San Rafael tackles Petaluma in a second Senior Pee Wee game.

The next day at Marin Catholic, Drake clashes with Tamalpais in a Senior Pee Wee contest at noon. Drake and Tam teams will meet in a Senior Midget battle at approximately 1:45 p.m. Redwood faces Terra Linda in a Senior Pee Wee tilt at 3:45 p.m. A Redwood-Terra Linda Senior Midget meeting concludes the festivities at 5:30 p.m.

Condors Pick Lost

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Levi Wyatt, the Pittsburgh Condors No. 2 draft choice, has a rare form of tuberculosis and will be sidelined for the entire 1971-72 season. Wyatt played his college ball at Alcorn A&M.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depts are always additive to the chart depts unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. MARIN-SONOMA GOLF

Hachmeyer In Golf Lead

Bob Hachmeyer and defending champ George Scherba lead members of the Indian Valley Golf Club at the halfway mark in qualifying for positions in the Club Championship tournament.

Hachmeyer fired a 74 and Scherba a 75 in the opening round last Sunday, with final 18 holes of the qualifying round coming up this Sunday. Top four in all flights will advance to two rounds of match play to determine the champs.

Leading in the First Flight are Hal Hollenbeck, 80-13 — 67, and Al DeLucas, 78-11 — 67. Second Flight leaders are Dick Krugman and Bryce Sabin, each with scores of 86-15 — 71.

SAN RAFAEL Kiwanis Club will sponsor the Marin Amateur Golf championships on Oct. 9 at San Geronimo National. Entries are limited to the first 240 paying the $10 entry fee before Oct. 1.

The tourney will include championship, handicap and Calloway flights, plus a putting contest. A 1972 Chevrolet will be the prize for a hole-in-one. Entries should be mailed to San Rafael Kiwanis Club, Box 353, San Rafael. Proceeds of the tourney will go to Kiwanis-led community youth work.

THE 1971 REDWOOD Pro-Am golf tournament will be held Oct. 16-17 at Santa Rosa Golf and Country Club. That's the weekend prior to the Kaiser International Open in Napa. The field will include 50 touring pros and 150 amateurs, a $10,000 purse for the pros.

GIANTS

could hardly be heard over the cheers for Singer.

The big right hander who got off to a bad start this year because of a series of ailments said:

"I don't know how to describe it but it really picked me up to beat the Giants three straight. We're still five out and we've got a long way to go but we've got some momentum."

The Dodgers got Singer a run in the first when Maury Wills and Richie Allen walked and Willie Crawford bounced a single up the middle.

In the third, Wills led off with a single and raced home when Parker tripled off the centerfield fence. Parker scored after Willie Davis beat out an infield hit and Allen hit into a double play.

"This game was the big one for us," said manager Walt Alston.

YMCA Announces Sports Program

The Marin YMCA unveiled this week an ambitious fall sports program, which includes sailing, physical fitness, gymnastics and basketball.

For examples, an individualized, beginning sailing class opens Saturday, Oct. 2, on Richardson Bay, costing $15 for members, $2 more for nonmembers. The Mill Valley Yacht Harbor will host an introductory class in small sailboat use starting the same day and on Saturday, Nov. 6. The three-hour, five lesson undertaking has the same $15-$17 payment arrangement.

All young adults with the $20 YMCA membership slip are invited to participate in a co-ed drop-in physical fitness program opening Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 7-9 p.m. Volleyball, basketball, and exercises will be included in the program.

Girls 8 through 18 can enroll in the beginning and intermediate gymnastics curriculum which includes an introduction to tumbling, free exercise, uneven bars, balance beam, and horse. Five classes are available each week for beginners starting Tuesday, Oct. 5 for 11 weeks.

Beginners meet Mondays from 6-7:30 p.m. and 7:30-9 p.m. Classes are also given Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. Intermediates can participate Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. and Thursdays, 6-7:30 p.m. and 7:30-9 p.m. Toddlers, four years or younger, meet for an hour session Wednesday evenings at 8:30.

Gymnastic program fees vary from $25 for members to $30 for non-members and $20 for Toddler-members, $25 for non-member four-year-olds.

A basketball league will open Monday, Oct. 4, running through Dec. 30 for young men 15 years or older. Y Basketball League teams will play in either an "A" or "B" division, based on ability. Drake High School in San Anselmo and the Marin City Manzanita Center Gym will host the play. An $8 per player or $120 per team fee will be levied, whichever is greater. A refundable $15 forfeit payment is also required.

These finances must be paid at the coaches meeting next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA, according to a YMCA brochure.

HOW TO BE SURE YOUR HOUSE SITS INSTEAD OF SELLS

You can put up a sign and wait for a prospect. Or advertise, and wait for the phone to ring. Both are guaranteed to get you more "lookers" than buyers.

Save time. See us first. We're Realtors; experts who know how to price your home, promote your home, and bring you real prospects. Professionals who are pledged to a strict code of ethics, and work in your best interests. So you can relax, knowing you're being taken care of. Professionally.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, if you list with multiple listing, you will immediately have 800 professionals working for you.

It was built in 1970 by one of Marin county's finest builders. Double hand-carved doors lead into an imported Mexican tile entry. The living room has beamed ceilings and beautiful carpeting. The kitchen is a gourmet's dream. The family room has a wall to wall fireplace of Sonoma stone with a wet bar & refrigerator plus a Franciscan Forge Barbecue, which is smokeless and odorless. There are 4 bedrooms. The master bedroom suite has a sumptuous, sunken bath and "his & her" walk-in closets in the dressing room. There is also another large bath with twin dressing tables and a separate powder room. A large patio is enhanced with olympic-size pool which is heated and filtered. For horse-minded people, there is a new barn with loft and tack room. Other amenities too numerous to mention. May we show you, by appointment. Asking $125,000. Exclusive. Evenings 897-1574.

Bike Path Bill Gets The Votes

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to establish a statewide network of bicycle paths stalled since July in an Assembly committee, now has the 11 votes needed to be sent to the lower house floor.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, said he had the signatures of the majority of the members of the ways and means committee.

The committee, chaired by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, traditionally sends to the floor any bill getting 11 signatures by its members, but Behr's staff said the senator's bill nevertheless will be set for a committee hearing.

The measure, SB 265, previously passed three other committees and the Senate without opposition.

Youth Swims Eight Hours To Freedom

LUEBECK, Germany (UPI) —A 24-year-old East German escaped to West Germany Tuesday by swimming eight hours across the Bay of Luebeck in the Baltic Sea, police reported today.

A police spokesman said a West German Coast Guard boat picked up the refugee when he was still three miles from the West German port of Travemuende. He was taken to the hospital suffering from exposure.

New Look At Black History

By PHILIP REED Jr.

BOSTON (UPI)—The headline across the newspaper's front page declares: "Rhode Island Slaves to Fight Redcoats."

"Starting today, Rhode Island slaves will be fighting the redcoats in return for their freedom. The R. I. Assembly passed a bill allowing slaves to enlist in the state forces without permission from their master," the story says.

The story is datelined Providence, R.I., Feb. 14, 1778. And the newspaper, the Black Chronicle, is Robert Miller's idea for bringing Negro history to life for black and white high school students alike by presenting it in a modern newspaper format.

Fourteen issues of the unique classroom journal covering the plight and progress of blacks in America, from the American Revolution to the early civil rights movement of the late 1950s and 60s, will be sold to schools across the country beginning in January by the publishing firm of Holt, Rheinhart and Winston.

Miller, a white, 30-year-old ex-actor now living in Cambridge, Mass., majored in history at Brandeis University before giving up an off-Broadway stage career two years ago to work full time researching and writing the four-page paper.

"This just seemed like a dynamic way to present black history," he said.

Sound tracks are being distributed along with the newspaper which was produced and financed in part by Blackside Inc., a black-owned Boston firm specializing in audio-visual educational materials.

To gather his stories, Miller combed through dozens of history books and little known Negro newspapers that flourished during the 19th and early 20th Centuries. The Black Chronicle is filled with "news" -like the Rhode Island slaves being freed to fight the British- that is rarely stressed and often not mentioned in what Miller calls "white history" used in many schools.

But if the Chronicle is a novel method for teaching students more about blacks in America than they can get out of the average history book, writing it also has been an education for its author.

"Blacks have always been presented as "passive." but I've discovered it wasn't that way at all. There were lots of slave revolts, for instance, that you never hear about," he said. "I've really learned a lot myself doing this."

Miller thinks the paper should be just as popular among white students as he is hoping it will be among blacks.

"This is part of white history too. It's not propaganda, it all happened," he said, "and I feel cheated that I didn't get to learn about it when I went to School."

Research Links Geysers To Quakes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) suggested Wednesday that geysers may be earthquake forecasters.

It reported findings by a NOAA research scientist, Dr. John S. Rinehart, that the frequency of geyser eruptions is linked to the buildup of subterranean stresses which cause quakes.

Rinehart studied records of a number of geysers, including Yellowstone Park's Old Faithful.

He found that as strains affecting a geyser's underground plumbing accumulate, the time interval between eruptions decreases. Once the stresses are relieved, as by a quake, the interval increases.

In the case of Old Faithful, the interval decreased gradually from 1961 through 1963, after which there was an abrupt lengthening of the period between eruptions.

This was believed to be associated with the magnitude 8.4 Alaskan earthquake of March 28, 1964, NOAA said.

The geyser's behavior before and after Yellowstone's Bebgen Lake quake of Aug. 17, 1959, was similar. Its eruption period started shrinking steadily from 1956 to the time of the earthquake, after which it began to increase.

"The delay between the earthquake and the associated change in geyser eruption interval appears," NOAA said, "to be the time required for strain to propagate through the earth from the source to the geyser."

Scientists have long been searching for reliable quake prediction methods.

"The patterns reported by Rinehart," NOAA said, "suggest that geysers are natural instruments for detecting the strain episodes associated with earthquake activity."

Michigan is divided into two peninsulas, known as the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE
Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows
If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.
Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.
For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven
40 month	$10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

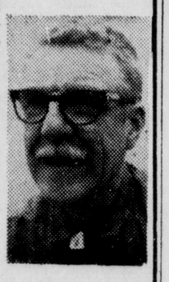
CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard

Camera . . . Action!



It's fall, and that means action on the gridirons all across the country, high school, college and professional. For a photographer, that means plenty of opportunity for fine action pictures.

Shutter speeds play a vital part in good action shots. Perhaps the first thing the beginning photographer thinks of is getting a camera with a fast shutter, so that he can "stop" the action. And, of course, that's one good way to show the spirit of the game.

Fast speeds will "freeze" action. You'll be able to show in sharp detail the punter's leg as it follows through, a halfback's sharp "cut" as he runs for daylight. Expressions, gestures, form and the like will be caught for all to see.

But don't overlook the possibility of slower shutter speeds to convey action. By letting fast action get a little too quick for your lens, you'll get a blurring effect that suggests motion, speed . . . and action.

Fast action is something you can count on when you want your film developed, enlargements made, or any special picture service. See us for all your film processing, and for the finest in equipment.

Closure Of Dangerous Schools Brings Back Double Sessions

Some 8,000 school children in the San Jose Unified School District this year are reliving an experience post-World War II pupils became familiar with — they're attending double-session schools.

A lot of San Francisco youngsters and perhaps many more throughout California are in the same boat. San Francisco, for example, has already closed eight elementary schools plus a portion of two others and one high school.

There are two compelling reasons why: one is the fear generated by the Feb. 9, 1971, earthquake which destroyed, providentially, empty schools in the Los Angeles area; the other is the Field Act, a law enacted after the disastrous Long Beach temblor of March 10, 1933.

The Field Act sets up safety standards for schools and holds local school board members personally liable for injuries or deaths from quakes if the standards are not met.

Coincidentally, San Jose voters went to the polls last Feb. 9 to vote on a bond issue for Field Act compliance work. It failed.

News of the L.A. quake had its effect, though, because the school board called back structural engineers for a resurvey of the district's buildings. Thirteen of about 50 of them were recommended for closure because of the realization that no school in California sits very far from an active earthquake fault, and any school not up to Field Act standards would not be a safe place for children.

San Jose school leaders burned their bridges. Eleven of thirteen schools have been demolished. One of the remaining two is used for warehousing and the other as an adult education administration center. And 8,000 San Jose youngsters will attend school on double sessions for at least the current school year.

Most school districts, like San Jose, have done little to comply with the Field Act until recently. The behemoth among them, Los Angeles Unified, has had a program of reconstruction or replacement going since 1933, but it is still $100 million in construction expenditures short of completing the job.

Most districts procrastinated, putting off earthquake safety for what seemed more immediate priorities. Even after the Tehachapi quake of 1953, progress was miniscule. School board members and administrators might have felt a new urgency, but the voters did not mark the "Yes" boxes at bond elections.

Some legislators, foremost among them Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, tried in a variety of ways to build a fire under the districts and their voters, but without noticeable effect. Even a 1967 law authored by Greene setting a 1975 deadline for compliance or closure failed to get any really substantial action. Where he and others failed, the Los Angeles quake brought action.

Reflecting its greater size, San Francisco Unified School District's problem is proportionately worse than San Jose's although it has spent over $107 million since 1948 on Field Act compliance. Where San Jose needs about $20 million to comply, San Francisco still needs about $150 million.

In 1970, 63 of its buildings were judged unsafe. Any closures of them will depend on a $56 million Field Act compliance bond issue set for election next Nov. 2. Even if it passes — and with a two-thirds majority requirement, that is no cinch — the time lag between bonds voted and children seated is sufficient to insure that many of the pupils will spend a substantial portion of their school years in double sessions, or, as San Francisco plans for a portion of its enrollment, in 400 transportables.

San Jose, with $6.7 million available from a previously voted bond issue, is in better shape. Assistant Supt. Charles Schmale said they expect to occupy five new schools by September, 1972. A bond election, hoped for for next fall, but more likely to occur around February, would be expected to make up the balance needed.

Projecting children on double sessions throughout California on the basis of two districts is not advisable, but figures supplied the Legislature in 1970 by the Bureau of School Planning in the Department of Education will give some idea, assuming that San Jose's responsible attitude becomes general.

The report indicated that 1,777 buildings had been inspected and found wanting under Field Act terms.

It said $672 million was estimated as the compliance requirement, but Charles D. Gibson, head of the Bureau of School Planning, notes that construction costs are doubling every five years, which would place the bill in the neighborhood of $1.3 billion by the compliance deadline of 1975.

TONIGHT while MARIN sleeps . . .

employees of Casa Marin will be busily engaged in placing 13-HOUR SALE price tags on many, many home furnishings throughout our store. Why? Because the tremendous volume of business usually anticipated at this season has not come in — to date. A lag in traffic, with its resulting loss in movement of goods, cannot be tolerated for many days.

Fresh, new merchandise arrives almost daily and with these arrivals comes the problem of locating such items in the store . . . and in the warehouse. Now, to move out some $20,000 worth of overstock in one day takes some real doing. And the only way that we know to accomplish same is with a hotter-than-hot, door-busting sale. Consequently, we are offering TOMORROW (Friday) $114,500 worth of quality home furnishings for only $86,495 . . . every single item at a substantial saving to you.

This certainly will be the BIGGEST ONE-DAY SAVINGS OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR. So don't be late. Casa Marin opens at 9 A.M. tomorrow morning. No matter what furnishings you need or want for your home, you'll find them . . . and at almost unbelievably low, low prices.

Remember: SALE LASTS FROM 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. Don't miss it! Bring the entire family with you. You'll be glad you did!

W. Germany Recruits U.S. Teachers

By HOWARD A. TYNER

BONN (UPI) — Six months ago Philip Engstrom was teaching mathematics at Washington State University in Pullman and taking home $800 a month.

"Then things began looking a bit insecure in the department," he recalled in an interview here. "You know what the teaching situation in the States is like now. I thought it might be a good time to get out."

Today Engstrom, 44 and the father of four, has embarked on a new career as a math teacher in West Germany.

He is one of nearly 100 Americans taking part in a pilot project which West German educators hope may provide at least a temporary solution to this country's woeful lack of qualified teachers.

West Germany always has had a labor problem. Too few people are available to fill all the jobs created by the postwar "economic miracle."

But while two million foreign "guest workers" have been brought in to fill manual jobs, virtually nothing has been done about the teaching profession, where the shortage is acute.

By one estimate, West German schools need an additional 100,000 teachers. A survey in one state last year — when conditions were better than now —showed that one of every five schooltime hours was wasted because no instructor was on hand to use the time.

Early this year, education officials in Hamburg began casting looks at the American labor market, where it is said as many as 60,000 teachers may be out of work when schools open this fall.

The result: a program to bring unemployed U.S. teachers to West Germany.

Dr. Wilhelm Reuter, superintendent of the Hamburg school system, flew to Washington, where, with the aid of a German radio correspondent and an acquaintance in the State Department, he began recruiting.

"We had more than 500 applications for 100 jobs—we never expected such a return," Reuter said.

Surprisingly, a large number of applicants were unemployed members of the aerospace industry, trying to fill time until the U.S. economy perks up.

"But only those were selected who had previous teaching experience," said a spokesman for the U.S. consulate in Hamburg, which is helping with some of the arrangements.

The standards were high. Of the first group, which arrived July 29, more than one-third hold doctoral degrees. Twenty-six teach physics and 15, mathematics.

Salaries are on a German scale —but tax-free for the entire term of contract, which is two years in most cases. Including a family allowance, Engstrom will be netting more than the $800 monthly he made at Washington State University.

Morocco's Pot Dropout Crackdown

By RAYMOND WILKINSON

ESSAOIRA, Morocco (UPI)— The living is easy and drugs are cheap in this most beautiful of Moroccan coastal towns, which is why about 300 American and European young people now call it home.

The tolerant locals, however, are becoming alarmed, the police are cracking down against the foreigners and there are signs their drug-oriented community may not last much longer.

Hendrix Belling, a 23-year-old religious studies major from Copenhagen University, is typical of the disenchanted youth who drifted to Morocco and then settled in this tiny village of whitewashed and blue shuttered buildings and sandy beaches two hours drive south of Rabat, described by many Moroccans as the most beautiful of the nation's coastal towns.

Belling, who sports a long flowing beard, and dresses —as do all the foreigners here —in Levis or local Arab shirts and robes, stayed because he was short of money, and anyway life was easy and cheap.

He rents a tiny but clean room at the Hotel Les Amis, rendezvous for all newcomers, which costs him four dirhams (80 cents) a night. A double room rents for 12 dirhams ($2.40) with no questions asked.

Outside, on a brightly tiled balcony open to a sun which shines almost every day of the year, and below in a private apartment, pot parties are in progress around the clock.

The foreigners buy hashish for five dirhams ($1) an ounce or the locally grown marijuana, for half that price.

Those staying permanently can rent seaview apartments for 150 dirhams ($30) a month.

"Kids soon drop into an easy routine here," Belling says. By mid-morning the foreigners gather at the Cafe de France to sip coffee and "watch the scene." They occasionally break off "to do things," a visit to a local teahouse where they smoke hashish with the Arabs and sip mint tea.

One enterprising Moroccan has opened the "Hippie Bar" which has become another focal point for the foreigners. "Janet and Susan" and other travellers advertise "for a ride going north to Rabat. Will share expenses," at its entrance.

Though prices are double those of other places (a meat and rice dish of "couscous" costs three dirhams or 60 cents here), they sit around a tiled courtyard with a central fountain listening to deafening out-of-date rock music because, as Belling explained, "there's so few places to go and most people become bored after a time."

Disturbed by the foreigners dress, easy sexual habits and the influence they wield over local youth, many Moroccans here and in other hippie centers such as Tangier and Marrakech are showing their concern.

They are especially frightened by one practice by some foreigners who make money by smuggling LSD into the country and selling it to local teenagers.

The police have begun to crack down. In Essaoira they force many people to move on after three months, although the foreign community remains approximately 300.

At least seven Americans and an undetermined number of other foreigners currently are in Moroccan jails

Future Prospect: Levitated Trains

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — High-speed trains held above the ground by the power of magnetic force are well within the range of technical feasibility, according to Paul L. Richards, professor of Physics at UC-Berkeley.

Whether magnetic suspension trains "get off the ground" in the U.S. in the next decade or two may depend more upon economic and political considerations than upon any severe technical problems, Prof. Richards said.

The big problem of providing magnets that are both powerful and lightweight can apparently be solved by applying the principle of superconductivity — something that has existed mainly in the laboratory until recently.

There is already a major commitment to magnetic suspension development in Japan, Prof. Richards pointed out, and small but growing numbers of experts in the U.S. are at work on various phases of research.

Held up by the same force that causes like poles of two magnets to repel each other, a magnetically levitated train could give a fast and smooth ride with complete safety in case of power failure.

Children Work Hard For Their Pennies

BANGKOK (UPI) — Youngsters selling flowers swarm over Bangkok's traffic circles at night, risking life and limb to earn a few pennies.

Some motorists consider the young entrepreneurs a nuisance. Police frequently haul the children off to the station for lectures.

"These children make a lot of problems for us," said Police Maj. Chamlong Iamchaengphan. "They block traffic. It is dangerous for the children too."

Despite all their efforts, the police haven't been able to stop the practice. Many motorists buy the sweet-smelling jasmine garlands, which may make Bangkok's stifling heat and monumental traffic jams a little more bearable.

"My parents cannot afford to send me to school any more," said Lek Saengthong, a 14-year-old garland seller. "When I finished the fifth grade, my mother told me to sell flowers in the streets. I buy the garlands for 70 satang (3.5 cents) each and sell them for one baht (5 cents). I give all the money I make to my mother every day and she gives me a baht for myself. I help support my family," she added proudly.

Wanchai Somsri got into the business this summer at the age of seven. He never went to school a day in his life. Both his parents have remarried and he lives with his grandmother.

"I sell about 10 garlands a day and give all the money to my grandmother," he said.

Wanchai, barefoot and very dirty, explained: "My grandmother feeds me and she is too old to work."

Aew Boonmee, 13, sells more garlands than most of her competitors, but the risks are great.

"I was struck by a car a year ago," she said, explaining that she approached a car she thought was going to stop at a red light.

"The man who was driving didn't even stop to ask if I was hurt," she said, adding that her injuries were minor.

Eight-year-old Lek Cammee also was struck by a car last year.

"The man who was driving took me to a hospital," he said. "After the doctor took care of me, the driver gave me 300 baht ($15) for damages. He was very kind."

Daeng Meechoke, 12, thinks the police should leave him and the other flower sellers alone.

"I asked a policeman if he would rather we should be pickpockets or juvenile delinquents," he said. "The policeman got angry, but he let me go."

Daeng looks for cars with women passengers.

"Most women like the garlands but the men try to chase us away," he said with a grin.

Fabian Working On New Career

DALLAS (UPI) —Remember Fabian? The guy with the catchy name who looked like a cross between Elvis and Ricky Nelson and sold one million copies of "Tiger"?

Back in 1959 he was the biggest thing since bobby sox and penny loafers and ducktails. Now he's 28, married and a father, trying to make a comeback as an actor.

"I have to laugh when I hear I'm considered 'nostalgia' now. I'm only 28," he said in an interview.

"But I understand it. My name has become synonymous with the beginning of the rock 'n' roll era and most of the people who were there with me were much older.

"I never had any aspirations to be a singer when Iwas discovered," he said. "I was 15 at the time and I wanted to be an engineer. I quit singing three years later and bought out my contract for $65,000.

"I haven't really sung since," he said.

But Fabian Forte —his real name and the one he uses professionally now —doesn't look like a has-been or a washup or anything like a tarnished teen idol. He opened his apartment door for the interview with a nervous smile and a come-on-in wave. Dressed in a blue terry robe and tapered pants, he looked like Warren Beatty's younger brother.

FABIAN

Fabian is currently touring with the Windmill Dinner Theater, starring in the comedy, "Love Is A Time of Day." Local reviewers were unenthusiastic about the play, but hoorahed Fabian for his relaxed boyish appeal and his easy approach to comedy.

"They wanted Sal Mineo for the part first. They finally came to me because I was the only actor who had done this play," Fabian said goodnaturedly as he lit another cigaret.

He harbors few illusions about cut-throat competition in show business. He was "discovered" as a teen-ager on his Philadelphia doorstep by record promoter Bob Marcucci, who balleyhooed the handsome son of a policeman into an instant star. Hits like the single, "Tiger," and the album, "The Fabulous Fabian" made millions.

"Actually I wasn't really discovered, I was created," he said. "I could carry a tune, but that's about all. The rest was all ballyhoo."

"You grow up fast when you're a star at 15. In many ways it was fun, but then you become conscious that you're a business. I never did like that.

Almost overnight Fabian won the American Bandstand popularity poll, the Cashbox award and decorated his den with gold records.

"I didn't know who the hell I was. It happened too fast, too much, too soon, that type of thing. I was under a doctor's care a lot of the time.

"But I don't think we were necessarily exploited. No." He studied his cigaret. "No, I think we all got out of it what we wanted."

"I bought myself out. I can't believe a boy of 18 making all those decisions. But the casualty rate for teen-age idols is pretty high and one-record-wonders were dropping like flies. It's better to be a has-been than a never-was, but I had to make something else out of my life."

He tried to make the switch to movies, and made 24, bkt usually was typecast in the beach and motorbike romances.

"They were innocuous kind of things," he recalled, "most of the time we sat and smiled around and then jumped up and sang."

One of the few roles he remembers with pride is his portrayal of a homicidal killer in a segment of TV's "Bus Stop" called "A Lion Walks Among Us." It caused a stir in critical circles even though people in some areas of the country didn't see it because it was blacked out by sponsors who didn't want to offend teen-age fans by ruining his "nice guy" image.

"Producers still think of me as what I was, what I'm not any longer," he said. "It's my connection with the late 50s and 60s. So as an actor you have to make a living and you get hung up in things not by choice. Someday I'll get lucky and get the right film."

Until the big break comes, there's a wife, Katie, a 20-month-old son, Christian, and "another on the way."

Fabian jogs to keep in shape and punches a sand bag to work out his aggressions. Then there's film classes and acting lessons.

"I'm preparing myself for later. I have my first photo credit now. I shot a film on Glen Cowan, the colorful member of the ping-pong team that went to Red China. A friend of mine suggested we shoot it because ping-pong doesn't get much publicity. Little did we know —some of my footage was used afterwards on network television."

Fabian said he would like to do more television acting ("if they'd ask me") or try singing again.

"I've got a good songwriter now, so I might try it. Critics have been saying I have good comedy timing and should try situation comedy. I don't know."

He stubbed out another cigaret and ran his hands through the famous hair.

"I just want to be judged on what I do. You're lucky if you get one break. Two I don't know about."

SAFE HARBOR FOR TUNA FLEET

Albacore Tuna boats lie anchored in the placid waters of Richardson Bay while waiting to unload their hauls of Tuna at the Coast Guard pier in Sausalito. The boats remained in harbor most of yesterday due to wind blown seas off the Farallon Islands where large schools of fish are running. According to Zek Grader of Ocean Traders in Sausalito, as many as 160 boats have been using the harbor to transfer their catches to trucks bound for canneries in San Pedro and Astoria, Ore. President Vows Freeze Will End After 90 Days

But Stabilization Machinery Is Still Needed, Nixon Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon announced today that his 90-day wage-price-rent freeze would not be extended beyond the Nov. 13 expiration date but said some form of stabilization machinery would be necessary after that.

In an unusual appearance before a joint session of Congress, the President also set as a national goal the creation of 100 million additional jobs over the next 10 years.

He said such a program was needed to cope with a new era in America's international economic relationships which have seen a radical shift in the balance of economic power and "new challenges to our leadership and to our standard of living."

(The President's address will be broadcast at 6 p.m. today on KTIM radio.)

After telling the assembled senators and House members the freeze would end Nov. 13, Nixon declared: "But I assure the Congress and the American people that when this first temporary and necessarily drastic action is over, we shall take all the steps needed to see that America is not again afflicted by the virus of runaway inflation.

"The system of wage and price stabilization that follows the freeze will require the fullest possible cooperation not only between the executive and legislative branches, but also by all Americans."

The President urged the Democratic-controlled Congress to enact as its first post-recess priority the $5.9 billion in tax cuts he proposed Aug. 15 when he announced his drastic new economic policies.

The proposed tax breaks—totalling $3.2 billion for private individuals and $2.7 billion for business—will create half a million new jobs in the coming year, Nixon contended. Some labor leaders have disputed this, claiming the tax approach favored business and would not help unemployment.

Nixon's appearance before the joint session was his third since assuming office. It indicated the importance he attaches to rapid consideration of the economic measures which are aimed at cutting unemployment and halting inflation, both of which he claimed were lega-

As for the 100 million job goal in the next 10 years, Nixon said new tax incentives would be needed and said he would propose a program of tax reform in the next session of Congress.

"I shall present new proposals in both these areas: tax reform to create jobs and new approaches toward ensuring the maximum enlistment of America's technology in meeting the challenges of peace," he said.

Nixon did not spell out what type of wage and price stabilization would follow the freeze. He announced he would meet with representatives of business, labor, agriculture and Congress within the next few days to develop a plan.

He called a meeting with labor leaders for Friday.

He pledged that whatever form of stabilization follows the freeze, it would be only temporary—"a way station on the road to free markets and free collective bargaining in a new prosperity without war."

He added:

"Let us also remember that nothing would be more detrimental to the new prosperity in the long run than to put the nation's great, strong free enterprise system in a permanent straitjacket of government controls."

Turning to the international scene implications of his program, Nixon recalled that in the quarter century since the end of World War II the United States has given "generously of itself and its resources" to help other nations achieve economic prosperity.

"In the years ahead, we will remain a good and generous nation," he told Congress, "but the time has also come to give a new attention to America's own interests."

Sale Agreement On Lake Ranch

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Owners of the 2,513-acre Lake Ranch have agreed to sell the property to the federal government for inclusion in Point Reyes National Seashore.

The agreement was announced in a document filed yesterday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

According to the document, the government will pay $3.5 million for the ranch, which has been termed "a biological jewel."

The document listed the seller as Lake Ranch Associates, owned by William A. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore., and Donald Sweet of Menlo Park.

Lake Ranch Associates purchased the land in 1963 for $1,950,000. It had asked $7 million for the property — a price the government refused to pay.

The U.S. Attorney's office filed suit in U.S. District Court in August 1970 to acquire the ranch after the owners sold six 40-acre parcels for prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

While the lawsuit was pending, Rodney H. Hamblin of the U.S. Attorney's office and Lawrence Kuechler, representing the ranch owners, continued negotiations which produced yesterday's compromise settlement.

The settlement calls for the associates to buy back the six parcels which were sold and convey them to the government with the rest of the ranch.

Acquisition of the ranch brings to almost 50,000 acres the government has acquired or is in the process of acquiring through condemnation for the 57,000-acre national seashore created by Congress in 1962.

The Lake Ranch property — named for three large lakes and numerous smaller bodies of water — was described as "the gem of the peninsula — a biological jewel" by ecologist Joel Gustafson of the Pint Reyes National Seashore Foundation in a hearing before the House Interior Committee.

The land, in the southwest corner of the Point Reyes Peninsula, includes a 1,200-foot inland ridge which falls down to a coastal bluff above a rocky beach. The ranch includes about two miles of shoreline.

Democrat Boas Will Seek Mailliard Post

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Supervisor Roger Boas today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination next June in the Sixth Congressional District.

The district, now represented by Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, includes the western portion of San Francisco and most of Marin south of Novato.

Boas, 50, a car dealer, said he announced his candidacy early to give him time "to really travel throughout the district" and to build "a grass roots campaign." No one else has announced his candidacy for the nomination, but San Francisco Supervisors Robert Mendelsohn and Ronald Pelosi also have indicated their interest in running.

Mailliard is expected to seek reelection to an eleventh term.

Boas, citing his "great concern over the fate of our cities and suburbs" and his 10 years of experience as a supervisor "in trying to save and enhance them," said at a press conference that he had "decided to carry the fight to Washington."

He said that congressmen re-

Aqueduct Revenue Bonds Hit

Marin Municipal Water District should finance its share of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct with water rates or property taxes, and not from revenue bonds, district financial consultants recommended yesterday.

The district — which plans to join the Sonoma County Water Agency in the project — could save between $500,000 and $1 million over 50 years by using the agency's funds instead of selling its own bonds, the consultants said.

This saving, however, would come only if voters approved a referendum authorizing a contract with the Sonoma agency for the district's entire share of the capital costs, the consultants said.

The alternative, selling district revenue bonds, would be in two stages, with voter approval required again later for additional bonds to complete construction.

The result of choosing the referendum to finance the project would be that the voters get only one chance to ballot on the controversial aquaduct. Critics of the project again assailed it yesterday before district directors, but to no avail.

The district's share of the project's capital cost is almost $24 million. Additional payments for interest and to the Corps of Engineers for Warm Springs Dam bring the district's total share to $43 million.

If revenue bonds were to be

Inmates Seize Prison In N.Y.

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—Rioting prisoners seized five cell blocks at Attica State Prison today, held 33 guards prisoners, beat, stripped and released eight others and set a series of fires that destroyed the chapel and garage.

The prisoners refused to talk with anyone but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller or Russell G. Oswald, state corrections commissioner. Oswald met with Rcokefeller to discuss calling out the National Guard but no decision to do so was made. Oswald then left Albany to visit the prison, which is about 25 miles east of Buffalo.

One of the eight guards thrown naked into the prison yard was seriously injured, officials said.

Shift In Emphasis At National Seashore Asked

By WAT TAKESHITA

Point Reyes National Seashore should be redesignated the Point Reyes National Park by congressional action so that the emphasis will be on preserving natural areas rather than on recreational use.

That was one of several recommendations hammered out by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday after a three-hour discussion of the preliminary master plan for the Seashore.

Commissioner Polly Smith was especially concerned about spelling out the need for giving top priority to protection of natural areas. "We owe a tremendous amount to the conservation groups for getting the seashore, and I'd like to reflect some of their concerns in the general management objectives," said Mrs. Smith.

She and Jerry Friedman, chairman of the Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, said the master plan calls for "high volume visitation" to the seashore. "High volume visitation should be secondary to the preservation of natural resources," Mrs. Smith insisted.

Douglass Nadeau, head of the National Park Service team that prepared the master plan, and Seashore Supt. John L. Sansing explained that they too want to preserve as much of the natural areas as possible. "We're not encouraging high volume of use," said Nadeau. "But we feel the pressures for high volume use will be inevitable."

The parks and recreation commissioners agreed on the following recommendations to be sent to the Marin County Board of Supervisors:

1. It is imperative that a permanent citizens advisory committee be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior to advise the National Park Service so that the public's wishes will be incorporated into the plan before hard and fast decisions are made.

2. Through proper legislative channels, the Seashore's classification should be changed from National Seashore to National Park in order to achieve a change in emphasis from recreation to natural area.

3. The wilderness proposal should be expanded to include important and fragile areas such as Double Point, all or most of the esteros, southern beaches and other areas needing special protection. The park service plan calls for a single wilderness area of 5,150 acres around Black Forest, between Mount Wittenberg and Bear Valley Gap.

4. National Park Service should be asked to convert all internal transportation systems to public conveyances at the earliest possible opportunity.

5. Facilities for private automobile transportation should be limited only to those needed for the ultimate internal public transportation system.

6. The "land classification" map in the master plan should be revised so that more areas will be left untouched.

7. The general management objective would be to retain the area in its natural state insofar as possible, and high volume visitation should be secondary to preservation of natural resources.

The commissioners said they are also concerned about plans for vehicle access to the Seashore area but decided that the county planning department would be the proper agency to comment on that.

Merritt A. Robinson wanted to make sure that private automobiles are limited to peripheral parking areas and not allowed to circulate inside the park.

At his suggestion the commissioners also asked Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske to prepare a resolution, asking the State Department of Fish and Game to give the National Park Service control over fishing and mineral rights within the seashore area.

Leroy Gerner suggested that conservation groups help put up signs in sensitive areas of the seashore, asking public cooperation in protecting environment. Gerner said asking for public cooperation may bring better results than ordering compliance with threats of penalty.

Chairman Albert J. Boro thanked the park service officials and the conservation groups for working toward preservation of environment at the seashore.

The National Park Service has scheduled two public hearings on the seashore master plan on Sept. 22 and 23 at the Civic Center. Both hearings will start at 9 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers on the third floor.

Busing Foes Take To Streets; 12 Arrested In Pontiac Flap

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Parents opposed to busing took to the street Wednesday, carrying American flags and daring buses to run over them. They sang "God Bless America," chanted the pledge of allegiance and when that failed, many cursed school officials.

Twelve persons were arrested at the Pontiac, Mich., bus depot, bringing to 25 the number of persons arrested in the past two days since a courtordered busing plan—the first in a northern city—went into effect.

One large woman carrying an American flag and faunting a bus driver with "You can't run over the American flag" was moved from the bus's path by police. Other protesters chanted the pledge and sang "God Bless America."

Before the day was over, eight white students and one black were injured in scuffles at Lincoln Junior High School.

In San Francisco, top city officials urged San Francisco parents to comply with a federal court order requiring busing of half the city's 48,000 school children.

Thousands of parents are expected to have their children boycott the buses when school opens on Monday.

Parents of about 300 Boston children scheduled to attend opening day classes at a new racially mixed elementary school, refused to comply Wednesday and brought their children to their old neighborhood schools.

Bomb Expert Killed In Ulster Explosion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A booby trap attached to a fake bomb blew up today and killed a British army explosives expert, an army spokesman said. The Irish Republican Army's militant wing said it set the trap.

The blast at Castlerobin near Belfast occurred while a demolition team was examining what it thought was a bomb. The device was a fake, the spokesman said—but it was attached to a booby trap that apparently was aimed at wiping out the whole team.

The soldier died shortly after admission to a hospital. Two other soldiers were seriously injured, the army said.

A spokesman for the militant wing of the outlawed IRA said in Dublin his organization was responsible for the soldier's death.

It was the 101st violent death in Northern Ireland in two years and the 41st since Aug. 9, when the government of Premier Brian Faulkner authorized internment of suspects without trial and triggered the latest round of troubles.

In Dublin, Joe Cahill, leader of the privisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) was detained in the Bridewell police station today when he arrived from New York and made a pledge to step up terrorist violence in Northern Ireland.

Cahill was barred from enter-

Assault On North Supplies

SAIGON (UPI)—Two battalions of South Vietnamese infantrymen rode American helicopters into battle today as part of the Saigon government's new offensive to disrupt Communist supply lines along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

More than 700 troops of the 1st Regiment of South Vietnam's 1st Infantry Division were carried in 92 U.S. helicopters to landing zones southeast of the abandoned U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh 14 miles south of the DMZ.

Neither of the ARVN forces met initial resistance, UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported. Kellerman arrived at Landing Zone Orange, one of the two sites on an elephant grass-covered hill six miles southeast of Khe Sanh aboard the fourth helicopter to land.

Kellerman said the landing site was seven miles east of the border of Laos. South Vietnamese spokesmen at Quang Tri said reports that 1,000 new troops had landed two miles from the Laotian border were "completely false."

As the new South Vietnamese thrust was announced, the U.S. command said no American forces were involved in fighting today but that 16 GIs were killed in the war last week and 84 others wounded. The death toll was three less than the previous week. It brought to 45,487 the number of Americans killed in the war since Jan. 1, 1961.

The American helicopters were guided into their landing zones by teams of American airborne pathfinders who went in aboard the first 'copters and stayed on the ground until the combat assault was finished.

The South Vietnamese assault following the most concentrated American B52 raids in nearly a month. The bombers struck six times at Communist installations around Khe Sanh and twice into the DMZ Wednesday night and early today, military spokesmen said.

Olive trees were introduced into the United States by Spanish missionaries in the 18th Century.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Guerrillas To Release Envoy

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Tupamaro guerrillas said Wednesday they will release British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson, kidnapped and held a hostage since Jan. 8. The British embassy said today they have received no word when or where he will be freed.

Jackson

Jackson's planned release apparently was prompted by the escape of 106 Tupamaros — including the terrorist organization's leader and founder, Raul Sendic — from Punta Carretas prison on Monday. They tunneled their way to freedom during the night.

A communique sent to a local newspaper Wednesday evening said "We have decided to grant amnesty to British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson. His arrest in the people's prison no longer has meaning."

Bombing Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Members of the Jewish Defense League were charged Wednesday with bombing the Manhattan offices of the Soviet trade corporation Amtorg and the unsuccessful attempt to blow up the Russian U.N. mission at Glen Cove, N.Y.

The indictments handed down by a Brooklyn grand jury named seven JDL members in the April 22 Amtorg bombing and two of those, plus another unnamed person, in connection with the June 12 Glen Cove conspiracy.

Named in the four count indictment were Eli Schwartz, 21, JDL national youth chairman; Chaim Bieber, 41; Stuart Cohen, 18; Eileen Garfinkle, 20; Sheldon Seigel, 25; Jacob Weisel, 25, and Ayraham Hershkovitz, 26. Seigel, Weisel and a "John Doe" were charged in the Glen Cove incident.

Muskie's Remark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Sen. Edmund Muskie said Wednesday he did not think he would be hurt politically by his statement that a ticket with a black vice presidential candidate could not be elected next year.

The Maine senator, regarded as a leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, made the remark at a private meeting with leaders of the black community in Los Angeles Tuesday.

The meeting was supposed to be off the record but the comment was leaked to the news media.

Muskie said his answer to the black meeting was "frank, honest and candid" and that such a situation was wrong, but he believed it was a political reality.

Off Gulf Coast

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Fern packing 90-mile-an-hour winds hung menacingly in the open sea off the Texas coast today, keeping uneasy residents on the shore poised to evacuate if necessary.

The storm's fringes drove squalls deep enland and sent whitecaps flooding beaches along a 300-mile line from Corpus Christi, Tex., into Mexico.

Coastal dwellers boarded their houses during the night and sat beside radios waiting to see what the hurricane would do.

Weapon Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee believes American weapons are becoming so expensive and complicated that even a sharp increase in the defense budget may not meet minimum national security needs.

The committee Tuesday denounced weapons that cost more per pound than gold, aircraft munitions which cost hundreds of thousands of dollars per round and tanks which cost four times more than they did a decade ago.

If the trend is not reversed, "then even significant increases in the defense budget may not insure the force levels required for our national security," the committee said.

The warning came in a report on a $21 billion weapons procurement bill, which the committee shaved by $1 billion in a continued drive for economy.

Back On Food

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — A hunger strike has ended for antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and nine other federal prisoners protesting the nation's parole system.

The end of the strike came Wednesday as the 10 ate solid food for lunch for the first time since Aug. 5.

Sister Elizabeth McAlister, a defendant in the Harrisburg conspiracy case, announced the end of the fast at a news conference after visiting the inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for federal prisoners.

She said Berrigan and the others "never envisioned it as something never ending."

Last Nerve Gas

HIGASHIONNA, Okinawa (UPI) — The United States removed the last of 13,000 tons of poison nerve gas from Okinawa today, ending a controversy which has lasted several years.

Three convoys of 10 trucks carrying 184 tons of the gas drove the eight miles from a storage area to a pier to complete a 56-day operation to move the gas to Johnston Island near the Hawaiian Islands.

U.S. Envoy Asks Secret Paris Peace Discussions

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter, making his first appearance as chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, called on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong today to join in secret negotiations aimed at breaking the deadlock.

The appeal was not expected to produce any immediate results. Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong negotiator, was in Warsaw and missed the talks for the third consecutive week. Xuan Thuy, the Hanoi negotiator, concentrated on the South Vietnamese presidential elections which he called a tragicomedy.

Porter said his arrival gave both sides an opportunity "to take a realistic look at the situation and make a fresh appraisal of the basis for successful negotiations here."

"I would think that spokesmen of both sides would have things to say which would be in the interest of the other side to hear on a more privileged basis and which all parties could take time to consider without the requirement for immediate public response," Porter told the 128th session of the conference.

"If you are willing to depart from the practice of using this forum to produce a weekly press polemic, I believe we can find ways...in which all parties represented here can present their views, respond to adversary views, and find areas of compromise," Porter told the Communist delegates.

It was the third time since the talks with the Vietnamese Communists started here that the United States has proposed secret meetings. It was at such a meeting with the North Vietnamese that America's first negotiators to the talks, W. Averell Harriman, and his aide, Cyrus Vance, arranged for the Nov. 1, 1968, bombing halt and the expanding of the then two-sided conference to include the Viet Cong and the South Vietnamese.

Similar talks between Henry Cabot Lodge, the second U.S. ambassador to the talks, and Hanoi's chief negotiator Thuy broke down in the summer of 1969 with no progress being made by either side.

Conference sources said Porter conferred with Thuy for some 15 minutes in private before entering the full session and delivering his maiden speech.

Porter made no comment to newsmen before entering the meeting, but Thuy again accused the United States of rigging the South Vietnamese presidential elections Oct. 3.

"Last time I told you the White House was mounting a tragi-comedy in Saigon," Thuy told newsmen before entering the closed-door conference. "Now, the first act is finished and we pass to the second act —with only a single actor."

Larkspur Panel Resets Meeting

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission meeting scheduled for last night was cancelled due to a lack of a quorum.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, the meeting to review the city's new parks and recreation master plan has been reset for Oct. 13.

Palestinian Guerrilla Leaders Boycott Arab Peace Meeting

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A Jordanian delegation to a scheduled peace conference with Palestinian guerrilla leaders in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, returned to Amman today when the guerrillas failed to appear.

"After being assured by the Saudi authorities that the resistance movement had not sent a delegation to the peace conference, we decided to go home," said Riad El-Mofleh, head of the delegation.

The conference, which had been postponed twice, was sponsored by Egypt and Saudi Arabia in a move to reconcile differences between the guerrillas and King Hussein's government following Jordan's war against the Palestinian movement which culminated in mid-July.

Hussein has been denounced by several of the more militant Arab regimes for nearly wiping out the estimated 3,000 guerrillas who used Jordan as a staging area for attacks against Israel and Israeli-occupied territory.

In Israel, a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said an army patrol killed two Arab guerrillas in an orange grove in the Jebaliya refugee camp in the occupied Gaza Strip.

The spokesman said the guerrillas fired on the patrol when they were challenged.

Yasser Arafat, chief of the largest and most moderate guerrilla group —Al Fatah — said in a statement issued in Beirut Wednesday that the Palestinians would delay going to Jeddah until their views were conveyed to Arab leaders.

"We accept reconciliation (with Jordan) but not at the expense of our revolution," Arafat said. He charged the Jordanian delegation was "intentionally formed to foil reconciliation attempts" because of its makeup, which included the chief the chief of Jtrdanian intelligence and his deputy.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) spearheaded opposition to the conference and said Wednesday it was a maneuver designed to liquidate the guerrillas.

Werber Appears On Felony Drug Counts

Frank N. Werber, 41, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Superior Court to felony charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine and a misdemeanor charge of possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Trial was set for Nov. 1.

Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio and former owner of the Trident restaurant in Sausalito, was arrested June 10 by Marin drug agents who were informed by federal agents that Werber had drugs at his DaSilva Island home.

The federal agents said they had seen the drugs earlier that day when they went to Werber's residence to arrest him on a warrant charging him with being a convicted felon in possession of firearms.

Werber has another case pending in superior court charging him with possessing heroin, LSD, marijuana, cocaine, peyote, codeine and mescaline when drug agents raided his home March 26.

Werber was convicted of marijuana possession and cultivation stemming from the seizure of six seabags of pot at his home in 1968.

That conviction was upheld by a state District Court of Appeal last month and Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is expected to ask later this month that a six-month jail sentence and $2,000 fine be executed.

Charges Are Dismissed Against Ex-Councilman

Misdemeanor charges against a former Mill Valley councilman, Rodric Lee Robinson, 46, were dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed charges of being drunk in public and resisting arrest at the request of the district attorney's office which reported it had insufficient evidence to prosecute.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony said Robinson's version of what happened when he was arrested July 5 in Sausalito differed from a Sausalito police report.

When Anthony attempted to ascertain the accuracy of the police report, he said, Sausalito Police Sgt. George Rudometkin failed to return several telephone calls.

"Since the situation did not seem very serious in the first place," he requested dismissal of the charges, Anthony said.

Robinson, who now lives in Tiburon, was arrested along with Harvey E. Bragdon, 39, chief of current planning for Marin County, after police received a report of a disturbance in the 1200 block of Bridgeway.

Police said a woman who allegedly had been in a scuffle with Bragdon asked them to get her a taxi to take her home.

Robinson approached the officers and volunteered to drive the woman home, police said.

When they refused his offer, officers said, Robinson became abusive and began pushing and shoving the policemen.

Anthony said yesterday that Robinson said he talked with the officers but did not interfere with them or become at all abusive.

Bragdon was fined $75 in municipal court in August after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk in public at the time of the incident.

Youth Suffers Cut In Two-Car Crash

Steven Penny, 18, of 540 Alta Avenue, Rohnert Park, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a cut above the right eye suffered in a two-car accident at 1:20 p.m. yesterday at Old Redwood Highway and Ronsheimer Road near Cotati.

The California Highway Patrol said his car and a car driven by Susan Tucker, 20, of 213 Cinnabar Avenue, Petaluma, collided at the intersection.

Petalumans Oppose Hospital Proposal

Petaluma Hospital District board members have received a compromise proposal for meeting future growth problems, but it has drawn immediate opposition from the medical community.

Hillcrest Hospital Administrator Joseph E. Horner said he proposed a plan Wednesday in which the district would work in phases to replace Hillcrest with a new eastside hospital. He said that under the plan both hospitals would be operating for a while.

Horner said he felt the plan would be better financially for the district since it could construct the new hospital using borrowed funds based on surplus revenue from the existing hospital. He said the district then would not need to be concerned about passing a general obligation bond vote to finance construction.

Horner said the board heard representatives of the medical community complain about the plan and say they would prefer the district to operate only one hospital. Many doctors have built large office complexes near Hillcrest Hospital and oppose the construction of an eastside hospital that would pose an inconvenience to them and their patients.

The hospital board initially supported the eastside hospital plan when hospital planning consultants recommended against enlarging the Hillcrest' building because of site problems. The eastside location was recommended because it would be more centrally located for district residents which stretch from northern Marin County to Rohnert Park.

ing the United States Wednesday by U.S. immigration authorities.

Police cleared the area around passport control when the airliner landed in Dublin and four plainclothes detectives led Cahill away when he disembarked. Police sources said Cahill had been detained "for questioning" but gave no further details.

Cahill, 51, told newsmen who boarded the Irish Airlines Boeing 747 at Shannon, Ireland, that the IRA provisional wing would fulfill its pledge to step up what he termed urban guerrilla warfare in Ulster unless Britain granted the illegal organization's ultimatums.

"This is a directive given by headquarters and it will be carried out," Cahill said.

The IRA provisionals, who broke with the less militant official wing of the organization, have demanded dissolution of the Northern Ireland Stormont parliament and the release of persons imprisoned without trial under Ulster government emergency laws.

In London, Prime Minister Edward Heath and his cabinet ordered Parliament recalled to debate the situation in Northern Ireland.

A government announcement said the House of Commons will return from its summer recess Sept. 22 and Sept. 23 and the House of Lords will reassemble for one day, Sept. 22.

turn home every two years and make statements about reevaluating and reordering national priorities, "but it's the same old story. As soon as they return to Washington, they forget all about the people who sent them there.

"Certainly that is true of Congressman William S. Mailliard," he said.

Boas said that Mailliard and other congressmen had not failed to vote for continued financial support of the Vietnam War, or for funds to build a supersonic airplane.

But, he said, when it comes to protecting the urban environment, they have failed to provide adequate support for mass transportation, air and water pollution control, housing, redevelopment, sewage treatment, solid waste disposal, schools and teachers, crime control, earthquake protection, parks and open spaces.

Boas promised to work to make "this a cleaner, safer and more decent area in which to live — a place where the needs of the people come first."

Firemen In Novato To Get Raises

Novato firemen will get a bigger pay check at the end of this month because of a 4 per cent pay hike granted in July.

District directors last night unfroze the pay hike, retroactive to July 1, after advice from the Marin County Counsel's office that it wouldn't violate President Nixon's wage freeze, Chief Jack Kidder reported.

Directors had granted the raise in July, but held up issuing it because of the wage freeze.

Firemen will receive their retroactive pay and increased salaries in their checks at the end of this month, Kidder said. They are paid twice a month, but the mid-month checks have been made up already, he said.

Kidder reported that 20 persons have applied for the one available fireman job. Written examinations will be held Saturday and agility examinations Sept. 18.

There also is an opening for a part-time bookkeeper-secretary and applications will be accepted at fire headquarters, Grant Avenue and First Street.

Marinite In Plea Charge To Heroin

HONG KONG (UPI) — A California menswear salesman from Marin County, charged with trafficking in dangerous drugs changed his plea of guilty to innocent in a Hong Kong court today.

Richard Edward Fagan, 24, of Lucas Valley, was arrested at Kai Tak International Airport Aug. 31 when he flew in from Bangkok with 688 grams of heroin worth $3,300.

Fagan pleaded guilty this morning but said he did not know the package he brought from Bangkok contained heroin. Judge W. S. Collier said he could not accept Fagan's plea of possessing drugs but without knowing it.

The divorced salesman had worked for Hastings at Northgate Shopping Mall in San Rafael from 1965 to 1967, then for Gene Hillers on Bridgeway, Sausalito, until February.

The case was remanded until Sept. 20.

Windows Broken

Vandals broke five windows valued at $159.75 at a new construction site at 75 Lovell Avenue, San Rafael, between 4 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday, Robert Schwingler of 511 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police.

sold, voters would be asked on the Nov. 2 ballot to approve sale of $19.85 million to finance the first two stages of construction from the Russian River. The final stage, costing about $4 million, would come before voters later to complete the financing.

Carl D. Kadie Jr., representing the consultants, Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco, surprised directors with his observation that the district's share of the project in Sonoma may be subject to property taxation by Sonoma County. He acknowledged that this may be the case regardless of which financing scheme is adopted.

Under current law, however, the district cannot contract with the Sonoma agency to avoid selling district revenue bonds. Legislation is pending in Sacramento to give it this additional power.

(The legislation won unanimous endorsement yesterday from the Senate Water Committee, and went to the Senate floor without oppostion. Approval by the upper house will send it back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

(The bill, AB 2423 by Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, will become law immediately once signed by the governor.)

But because the legislation is not yet law, district directors passed resolutions calling for both the referendum and the bond election. Once the legislation becomes law, the bond election resolution will be rescinded.

Objections to both methods of financing came from Thomas A. Thorner of Kentfield, an attorney and president of Marin Alternative, which opposed the project. He asked why the district did not consider using general obligation bonds, which he said could save about $1 million more in interest.

Kadie concurred with Thorner's estimate of the additional saving in interest, but said the district's credit rating would drop because of the large amount of outstanding general obligation bonds.

No mention was made that general obligation bonds require two-thirds voter approval, while revenue bonds and the referendum require only a majority approval to pass.

Liquid Silver, Gold Hijacked

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Authorities admitted they were baffled today by the hijacking of a Railway Express Agency (REA) truck carrying an estimated $426,000 worth of liquid gold and silver.

The FBI and state police learned of the hijacking Wednesday when REA said the green van failed to arrive at Newark Airport after leaving West Paterson, N.J.

"It's liquid gold and silver," said one FBI agent. "That's all we know about the hijacking for the moment."

An REA spokesman said the truck and driver, Alfred Basile, were cut off on an isolated area in Clifton, N.J. by two cars and eight masked gunmen.

Police said Basile was forced into one of the cars and driven around for two hours before being released. His hands were handcuffed behind his back but he was uninjured, police said.

Planning Bill To Assembly Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill creating a North Coast planning commission to include Sonoma County has been assigned to the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee, bypassing the regular assignment that would have put it in the local government committee.

The chairman of the local government committee, John T. Knox, D-Richmond, is author of a competing bill that would include Sonoma in a new regional planning agency of the nine Bay Area counties.

The North Coast commission bill, SB 920 by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, will be heard by the governmental organization committee at 3:45 p.m. on Sept. 23 in the Capitol.

The bill bypassed Knox's committee at the instruction of Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-North Hollywood.

Collier's bill would create a North Coast Area Planning and Development Organization, but would give local governments the power to veto any of the organization's policies or actions.

Driver Is Critical From Crash

A Petaluma man was critically injured and four others suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident at 2:15 a.m. today on Highway 101, a mile north of Petaluma.

David D. Carson, 23, of 742 Marshall Avenue, was transferred from Hillcrest Hospital with a head injury to the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

Also injured were the two other drivers, Vernon Shepperd, 26, of San Francisco, who was treated at Hillcrest for leg cuts, and Nancy Curry, 24, of Santa Rosa, who was treated for head cuts.

Also treated at Hillcrest were two passengers in Shepperd's car, Russie Monarfa, 22, of San Francisco, eye cuts, and Donald Tobener, 34, of San Francisco, cuts of the knees and elbows.

The California Highway Patrol said Carson's southbound car struck the rear of Shepperd's car, sending it across the center divider strip into the path of the northbound car driven by Miss Curry.

Marin City Man Hurt In Wreck

A 22-year-old Marin City man was injured Tuesday when the Golden Gate Bridge District paddle truck he was working in was hit by a car on the bridge.

Larry Adam of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, and Terry O'Rourke, 31, of San Francisco, driver of the truck, were treated at Children's Hospital in San Francisco for minor injuries.

California Highway Patrol said the paddle truck had stopped in the northbound lanes of the bridge with its lights flashing at 5:10 a.m. when a car driven by Robert B. Stemme, 53, of 3221 Shelter Bay, Mill Valley, struck it from behind.

Stemme was not injured.

Recycle Depot Permit Backed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee yesterday approved a six-month use permit for a private firm to operate a recycling depot on Greenfield Avenue.

The action follows similar approval by the city's planning commission — an action which one commissioner has appealed to the city council.

According to Thelma Foster of the public works department, Commissioner John H. Colteaux's appeal will be heard Sept. 14 by the council.

Colteaux has complained the recycling depot, to be operated by Whole Systems at 275 Greenfield Avenue, would not be a fitting operation for the east entrance to town and has urged it be located elsewhere.

Marin City Woman Injured In Accident

A 51-year-old Marin City woman was reported in satisfactory condition today following an automobile accident Tuesday, according to Marin General Hospital.

Ella McCall of 49 Cole Drive suffered a concussion, neck sprain and chest injury in the accident. Details of the accident were not available.

SCHOOLS

bama with both city and county schools, registered students without incident Wednesday under a new federal court-ordered desegregation plan. The plan is the only one in the state calling for large numbers of students to be transported by bus to achieve a racial balance in schools.

Of the 68,000 students in the Mobile system, 6,300 were assigned to schools outside their attendance zones.

In Birmingham, Ala., more than 500 persons demonstrated in front of city hall and the federal building, protesting court-ordered desegregation.

A Nashville, Tenn., school official said Wednesday about 80 to 85 per cent of the city's students attended school Wednesday, despite the urging from antibusing leader Casey Jenkins that people keep their children home.

The new federally prepared desegregation plan in Dougherty County, Ga., was met with criticism. School officials at Monroe High School complained Wednesday their school had only about 20 to 30 per cent whites in a total enrollment of 1,100. The plan, they said, may have excluded some whites or white parents were able to use false addresses in order to send their children to other schools.

One busing plan ran into financial difficulty. Dr. Charles Lindly, Rapid City, S.D., city school superintendent, said his school district has no money to finance the busing of Indian students to school each day.

"If we ever started busing all the students in town, there would be no end to it," Lindly said. "We have a serious financial situation here as elsewhere and we have $800,000 in deficit spending this year."

Lehman L. Brightman, president of the United Native Americans, said he would give the school board until Oct. 7 to start busing or he would file a lawsuit.

Mrs. Irene McCabe, a 36-year-old mother of three and leader of the National Action Group (NAG) which has led white opposition to busing, called on school Superintendent Dana Whitmer to close all schools "until they can be made safe for our children."

Whitmer refused to close the schools and the school board backed his decision at a Wednesday night meeting.

Mrs. McCabe, wearing a wine-colored minidress, was cursing as she stormed out of a head-to-head session with Whitmer.

OBITUARIES

Jeannette M. Llanes, 49, Dies

Jeannette M. Llanes of San Rafael, a 14-year-resident of Marin County, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 49.

Mrs. Llanes, who resided at 185 Novato Street, was a native of San Francisco.

She is survived by her husband, Franklin C. Llanes of San Rafael; her mother, Agnes Fulton of San Francisco, and two brothers, Forest M. Fulton of Novato and Robert C. Fulton of Campbell.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be held at St. Sebastian's Catholic Church in Greenbrae at a date and time to be set.

Private burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

EDITH GARDINER

Funeral for Edith M. Gardiner, 89, a member of the Novato Senior Citizens, was held in Bowling Green, Ohio, last Friday.

Mrs. Gardiner of 84 Orchard Way died unexpectedly of natural causes on Aug. 31 while visiting a niece in Bowling Green, according to her daughter, Shirley French, of Novato.

Mrs. Gardiner was a native of Roscommon, Mich., and had lived in Novato for eight years. She was a member of the Novato Methodist Church and Order of Eastern Star.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, Kenneth Kiely, of Bay City, Mich., six grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Holly, Mich.

COL. CHAMBERS

Lt. Col. (ret.) Laurel Lee Chambers of Mill Valley died today in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

A native of Gary, Ind., he had lived in California and Marin County 15 years, residing at 232 Marin Avenue. Chambers served in the U.S. Army for 30 years, most of that time in the Judge Advocate General's office. For 10 years after leaving the Army he was employed as a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison. He was a member of the Gary Masonic Lodge and the Oklahoma Bar Association.

Chambers is survived by a son, Doug Chambers of San Rafael; a daughter, Judy Chambers of Sonoma and a brother, Galen Chambers of Indiana.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

LAURENCE EASTON

Private funeral for Laurence Parsons Easton, member of a pioneer California family, was held yesterday in San Mateo.

Easton, 74, died Sunday in a San Francisco Hospital after a long illness. He and his wife, Grace, lived at 129 Bolinas Avenue, Ross for the past 36 years.

His father, the late Ansel Mills Easton, founded the town of Easton which is now the Broadway section of Burlingame. His grandfather, Ansel Ives Easton, in partnership with Darius Ogden Mills and W. C. Ralston developed the Buri Buri grant which included most of the northern end of San Mateo County.

Easton was a graduate of the Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass. He was a member of the American Legion Post 179 of San Anselmo.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister Louise Easton Ward and several nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

MARY BOTMAN

Private funeral for Mary Stahl Botman, retired cook and housewife, was held yesterday in Novato.

Mrs. Botman, 87, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Finland and came to this country in 1904. She worked as a cook in San Francisco for several years. Her husband, the late John Botman, was a contractor In Burlingame and San Mateo. Mrs. Botman moved to 595 Midway Boulevard, Novato, a year ago, to make her home with her daughter, Virginia Mundt.

She is also survived by a brother, William Stahl of Monterey; two grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Occupancy Age Lowered On Housing

The Marin County Housing Authority has reduced the minimum age for occupancy of public housing in Marin County from 21 to 18 years, according to Keith Kelly, deputy director of the authority.

The new regulation, adopted by the authority board Tuesday, and allowing persons 18 or over to rent units in public housing, came, Kelly said, in recognition of recent legislation reducing the required age for California voters from 21 to 18.

The Marin County Housing Authority board also:

ARCHITECT — Authorized the San Rafael architectural firm of Crawford and Banning to submit a proposal for remodeling administrative offices of the authority and redevelopment agency.

REPLACEMENT — Authorized the authority staff to replace furnaces and flues in all 28 units at the Homestead Terrace project.

MODERNIZATION — Awarded a contract to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera for repaving of parking areas in Marin City and repair of a slide behind high rise housing in Marin City. The firm's low bid for the work was $19,240.

Report Gloomy On Wine And Beer

A beer and wine license will be difficult to get for a public administration building like the Marin Civic Center because it would be precedent-setting.

That opinion was expressed yesterday by Stanley Pierce, district administrator for the Santa Rosa district office of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

Pierce said he had received an application for a beer and wine sale license from Donald A. Giovanoni and Camille Bamater, operators of the Civic Center Cafeteria. The application was forwarded to the division office in San Francisco, which in turn will get a ruling from the main office in Sacramento.

Pierce declined to speculate on what the ruling might be but offered these pessimistic comments:

"I know of no place in the state where liquor is allowed in a public facility like this. In auditoriums, yes, but this is an administration building."

Pierce said the department did not look too favorably on the location because the cafeteria is in a public building and is near the courts and the county library.

"You've also had a heck of a lot of problems in that building," he added, referring to the shoot-out and bomb explosion of last year and the Free Angela demonstrations.

A beer and wine license in the Marin Civic Center would set a precedent statewide, said Pierce.

He has received three protests against the application from Marin residents, including one from a minister. Even without the protests, he said the application would have posed a difficult question.

With the protests, a public hearing would be required even if the Alcoholic Beverage Control department recommended approval. If the department denies the license, the operators of the Civic Center cafeteria could demand a hearing.

Last June 15, the Marin County Board of Supervisors supported the idea of beer and wine sale at the Civic Center cafeteria, located on the top floor of the Hall of Justice, two floors above the courts.

Jurist's Grandson In Guilty Plea

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) —Sterling Foster Black Jr., 20, of Albuquerque, the grandson of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, pleaded guilty Wednesday to possessing dangerous drugs. Sentencing was set for Sept. 27.

Black was arrested a week ago by a policeman who said he was walking erratically and waving his hands. He was released to the custody of his parents pending the sentencing hearing. His father is former New Mexico Sen. Sterling F. Black of Los Alamos.

Architects Are Honored For Project

Three Marin architects have been awarded the 1971 "Homes for Better Living Award" for their design, "The Californian," 296 clustered apartments on an 11.9 acre site in Orange County.

The men, Howard Backen of Belvedere, Bruce Ross of Tiburon and Robert Arrigoni of Nicasio, are members of the architectural firm Backen, Arrigoni and Ross of San Francisco.

The story of their prize-winning design is featured this month in American Home magazine.

The award sponsored by the American Institute of Architects, House and Home and American Home magazines, was for multiple family design dwellings.

The author of the article, Nancy Gray, calls the complex "one of the freshest and most livable adventures in apartment design today."

The article displays pictures of the project built in Tustin.

Baltimore Canyon Access Is Assured

Public access to the upper portion of Baltimore Canyon hiking trail above Larkspur has been assured, but access to the lower portion is still under negotiation.

Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks and County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske announced yesterday that agreement has been reached with Kent Woodlands Properties Inc., for the county to buy a floating easement for the nominal price of $1.

The county is trying to get a similar agreement with the A.A. Tiscornia Estate, which owns the lower portion of the Baltimore Canyon trail.

The hiking trail starts at the end of Madrone Avenue in Larkspur and follows Larkspur Creek through the Tiscornia land, then the Kent Woodlands Properties land and into property owned by Marin Municipal Water District.

Joske said he is hopeful that an agreement for a public easement can be reached with the Tiscornia Estate. "If we can't, we may have to go to court."

Marin County Board of Supervisors last July pledged their support to maintain public access to the forested Baltimore Canyon, even if it means going to court.

Maintenance Of Chinatown A Must

TORONTO (UPI) — The maintenance of Toronto's Chinatown is essential for making sure this city is not afflicted by the same problems plaguing many American cities, according to a report presented to the Toronto City Council.

The Chinese area is "under great pressure" for change, but should be preserved since it lends stability to the city's downtown area — something that has been lost in many American cities, the report said.

District Cancels Quake Insurance

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board has agreed to cancel its earthquake insurance for its treatment plant for a saving of $3,400 per year.

According to Ralph C. Noah, district manager, the action followed a poll of other sanitary districts from San Francisco to Santa Rosa showing none carried such insurance.

On other matters, the board was told the district had forwarded its first sewer improvement report to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The water quality control board earlier this year halted all new construction in the Ross Valley by refusing to allow sewer connections until improvement of sewage clearing lines is made.

Noah said he felt the water quality staff would authorize about 37 sewer connection permits for single family homes based on the district's progress report. Additional report will be made monthly.

Tiburon Gets Extension Of Annexation Deadline

The City of Tiburon last night won sufficient time to let voters decide on Oct. 19 whether or not areas on both sides of Tiburon Boulevard should be annexed to the city.

The time extension was granted by a 3-to-2 vote of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission at the Civic Center.

Commissioners J. Wayne Womack, Roy Farrington Jones, and Hugh G. Marchant voted for the time extension, until Nov. 16.

Commissioners Louis H. Baar and Arnold M. Baptiste dissented, arguing that Tiburon had not completed the annexation procedure in the allotted one year, and the procedure should be terminated for a fresh start.

A score of citizens in the audience appeared ready to rekindle the entire annexation war that waged a year ago between Tiburon and Mill Valley, both seeking to annex the tax-rich Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center.

However, Chairman Marchant managed to limit most of the arguments to the question of the time extension and not spread to the merits of the annexation proposal.

Commissioners agreed that if Tiburon cannot complete the annexation by Nov. 16, no further extensions would be given, Marchant was the only one who said he is willing to give another extension if there is an unavoidable delay.

Tiburon proposes to annex these two parcels:

1. Strawberry peninsula south of Tiburon Boulevard and east of Highway 101, including the Strawberry Shopping Center — total 758 acres.

2. The area north of Tiburon Boulevard and east of Highway 101, including Eagle Rock, Bayview Heights and Bel Aire subdivisions —total 297 acres.

Majority votes will decide whether or not one or both of these parcels will become a part of the City of Tiburon.

Mayor Denis T. Rice explained that one of the reasons for the delay in annexation was the change in city manager, which left the city without a manager for about four months.

Councilman Branwell D. Fanning and several citizens backed Rice's request for a time extension so that voters can decide.

Leading the opposition were Douglas de La Fontaine, chairman of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District; attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann of Strawberry; and Paul Jouvre of 30 Eagle Rock Road.

Kaufmann charged that Tiburon made so many procedural errors in processing the annexation that lawsuits will hold up any annexation for at least two years or more.Therefore a two-month extension would be meaningless, said Kaufmann.

Local Agency Formation Commission also:

NOVATO —Approved Novato's annexation of 35 acres at the corner of San Marin Drive and Hill Road, where townhouse developments are planned.

MUIR BEACH — Approved the Muir Beach Community Services District's annexation of the 35-acre Leland E. Stevenson property on Shoreline Highway two miles north of Muir Beach. Stevenson wants water supply for development of one-family homes.

CEDARS — Gave Cedars Development School the right to annex its 19-acre parcel between San Rafael and San Anselmo to the San Anselmo Sanitary District. Septic tanks are failing on the school property, located just south of Tamalpais Cemetery.

ROSS — Granted Mario Ancona of 81 Rock Road and Russell Merrett of 75 Rock Road, Kentfield, permission to take a portion of their properties out of the Ross town boundary and put them into the county area. The only access to the homes are via the unincorporated area of Kent Woodlands. At present the properties are partly in Ross and partly in the unincorporated area.

NEXT MEETING — Set 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13 as the next meeting. Meetings are held in the board of supervisors' chamber at the Civic Center.

Warrant Issued In Check Case

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Superior Court for Vanna Estelle Dugger, 29, of San Anselmo, charged with car theft and fraudulent possession of checks.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when she failed to appear in court to enter a plea Tuesday.

She was arrested June 16 when she attempted to cash a check at a San Rafael bank.

The check had been stolen earlier that day from Beverly Stents of 78 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, police said. Mrs. Steven's car had also been stolen from in front of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, police said.

Meagher Is Chosen New Reed Principal

Mike B. Meagher, a Los Angeles County school administrator, has been hired as principal for Reed, Belvedere and Tiburon schools, Reed Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello reported.

The 34-year-old Meagher was chosen for the $17,300-a-year post Tuesday night by the Reed School District board which met in closed session for 30 minutes before announcing its decision.

Since 1966, the new principal has been employed with the Pomona Unified School District and most recently served as vice principal for Pomona High School, the superintendent said. For five years before going to Pomona, he was an elementary and junior high school teacher for the Azusa School District, also in Los Angeles County.

Meagher, a native of Arkansas, attended elementary and high schools in Texas. He is a 1959 graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a degree in business management and received a masters degree in education from Los Angeles State College. In addition, he has done graduate work in administration at the University of Southern California.

The new principal, who was chosen from a field of 30 applicants, is married and the father of two children. He replaces Irwin Karp who resigned the position in June to devote his time to a private school he owns in Santa Rosa.

The Reed School District Board Also:

MUSIC TEACHER — Agreed to employ Ruth Coelho as a part-time instrumental music teacher at a salary of $4,015 a year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of elementary teachers Patricia Axelrod and Carol Finn. Mrs. Axelrod had been on a leave of absence from the district for the past year and Mrs. Finn resigned to accept a teaching job in Sonoma County.

LEAVE — Granted a year's leave of absence to Reedland Woods School social science teacher John Li Santi who will do graduate work this year.

INTERDISTRICT TRANSFERS — Approved interdistrict transfers for seven students.

ASSOCIATION — Agreed to pay the $15 annual member fee in the Marin County School Boards Association.

CLASSROOM — Agreed to rent a classroom to the Marin County schools office for $1,800 a year for special education classes for youngsters with speech and language difficulties.

AIDES — Employed Georgia McKinley and Nancy Behrens as teacher aides.

AIDE RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of teacher aides Jo Anne Bertolli and Jacqueline Cloidt.

LANDSCAPING — Reejected a $41,030 bid from the Tamal Construction Company of San Anselmo for landscaping of Reedland Woods School. The bid was the only one received for the work.

PORTABLE — Authorized the superintendent to take the steps necessary to move a portable classroom from Bel Aire to Reed School.

MEETING — Postponed the board's next regular meeting from Sept. 21 to Sept. 22 since a quorum will not be present on the regular meeting date.

State Unhappy With Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— President Nixon was in trouble with California voters prior to the announcement of his new economic program, the California Poll reported today.

Mervin D. Field's poll said a public opinion sample of 1,008 potential voters taken just prior to Aug. 15 showed Nixon would probably have been defeated at that time by any of four possible Democratic contenders.

In the survey, completed between Nixon's announcement of his trip to Peking and of his wage-price freeze, Nixon trailed Sen. Edmund Muskie (50 to 43 per cent), Sen. Edmund Kennedy (49 to 43), Mayor John Lindsay (48 to 43) and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy (47 to 44).

The president had small leads when paired against Sen. George McGovern (48 to 41) and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (49 to 41), and large leads against a half dozen other potential Democratic hopefuls.

Newhall Files His Papers For Mayor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Scott Newhall, former editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, Wednesday filed his official declaration of candidacy for San Francisco mayor.

"I have had many journalistic battles and business battles in my life," Newhall, 57, said as he submitted a 100-word declaration to Registrar of Voters Emery Mihaly, "and I have yet to lose one."

Start Of Corte Madera's Fall Rec Program Stalled Over Funds

Corte Madera's fall recreation program was set back at least a week last night when disgruntled town councilmen refused to appropriate needed funds pending a full accounting of funds allocated last year.

The refusal, spearheaded by councilman Robert P. Simmons, prompted an hour-long discussion between councilmen and members of the audience who turned out in support of an expanded program.

"How can we appropriate funds when we don't know if we had a good program for the money (last year)?" Simmons asked.

Simmons was joined by Mayor Holmes S. Norville and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst in requesting a full accounting of costs incurred by the city including hidden costs such as staff time spent on recreation by the town manager, clerks and finance officer.

According to Simmons, the recreation department was given $56,000 last year but warned it would have to account for the funds this year. To date, he said, he has only been given partial figures which do not fully reflect where the money was spent.

At the heart of the controversy is a question whether Corte Madera tax dollars were used to augment fee-supported recreation programs which are open to residents of other communities.

The fall program, featuring such exotic courses as belly dancing and yoga, was scheduled to begin Sept. 20 with registration the week before.

Since the council does not meet again until Sept. 20, the program will be at least a week behind schedule if the council appropriates the funds.

The council did however, authorize expenditure of $3,000 for four free programs designed for children, teen-agers and senior citizens of Corte Madera.

In related action, the Council approved an agreement with the Marin Senior Coordinating Council to provide bus transportation for senior citizen outings.

Cost to the town for the year-long transportation agreement totals $2,000 with an equal amount of matching county funds.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

LIBRARY — Heard a progress report on the Corte Madera Regional Library now under construction. The library is a joint town-country venture and is scheduled to open Dec. 1.

SHOPPING CENTER — Gave final approval to an ordinance rezoning about 58 acres east of Highway 101 from light industrial to regional shopping district. That acreage along with 17 acres previously rezoned is proposed for a 75-acre shopping center.

HIGHWAYS — Registered formal objection to a state highway committee proposal that Highways 1 and 17 be removed from the state highway system.

TREE — Authorized removal of a 75-year-old Monterey Pine tree at Pixley Avenue and Tamalpais Drive. According to the town engineer the tree is dying and is a safety hazard.

CLAIMS — Rejected three claims against the town — one totaling $10,634 and filed by Wayne Allan York of 473 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, for burns sustained July 5 from unexploded Fourth of July fireworks which detonated when he picked them up. The others were filed by Evelyn Tilles of 1411 Casa Buena Drive for repair of stolen equipment amounting to $100 and the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. for automobile repairs totaling $810.

EASEMENT — Set Oct. 4 for a public hearing on a request from the Cal Mortgage Co. on Paradise Drive to shift a maintenance easement from one side of a drainage ditch to the other.

HOME OCCUPATION — Approved a home occupation permit for Lynette Gray who operates a Poodle clipping service in her home at 158 Granada Drive.

CURB AND GUTTER — Referred to staff a petition signed by 41 Corte Madera Avenue residents requesting installation of curbs and gutters.

DOUGHBOY — Agreed to support the Marin County United Veterans Council in its effort to locate the doughboy statue, formerly in front of the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium at Civic Center. County supervisors have approved locating the statue near a drainage ditch 100 yards from the auditorium.

RETAINING WALLS — Adopted a policy statement saying it will consider liability on an individual basis for repair of retaining walls on lots adjacent to Redwood Avenue and Crescent Road. Many of the walls are deteriorating and pose a potential hazard of land slides. Whether repair will be done by property owners or the town will be decided on an individual basis.

SEPTIC TANKS — Acting as the Corte Madera Sanitary District board, adopted a policy statement saying it will no longer grant septic tank permits. Left undecided, however, was an appeal of a sanitary commission decision denying a permit to Per S. Nakkim of Mill Valley for his lot at 4 South Way. The board is expected to act at its next meeting, Sept. 20.

Approval To Church Use For School

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the use of a church education building to house a Montessori School and Day Care Center.

The First Presbyterian Church had requested the use permit to allow the school to operate in its education building at 939 B Street.

The board heard that the school would include 10 to 30 children and would operate between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The commission also agreed to establish separate and small committees to study the six aspects of the proposed environmental design plan for Petaluma. Groups will focus on environmental land use, recreation, residential, commercial, industrial and unincorporated land use.

Commissioners approved the final map for Deman Center subdivision to be built at Petaluma Boulevard north near Stony Point Road and also heard Planning Director William C. McGivern report that the federal government, will select a portion of Sonoma County to do a study on future development and growth patterns. He said he hoped the Petaluma area would be selected.

College Must Rehire Teacher Despite Speech

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—A judge ruled Wednesday that the College of San Mateo must allow an English instructor to teach this year despite his criticism of a former school president.

The decision was handed down by San Mateo County Superior Court Melvin E. Cohn in the case of Larry Stewart.

The college Board of Trustees had refused to renew Stewart's contract in June—13 months after he made unflattering remarks about ex-president Robert L. Ewigleben at an antiwar rally.

Cohn said the trustees were required by law to notify the 35-year-old instructor in writing of their action by May 15.

However, the judge said, there was no notification. He said the school therefore had to keep him on the staff.

Since Stewart has already taught for two years, he could be awarded tenure at the end of the coming school year.

Marin City Firm Lays Down New Land Policies

The California Development Co., already faced with a suit by two Marin County agencies seeking to regain control of Marin City lands, has laid down a new condition for relinquishing 60 acres of redevelopment land in that community.

According to Keith Kelly, deputy director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, the development firm has asked that the two groups waive a density provision for 167 acres of land on the ridge above Marin City.

Under the provision, the company, which owns the ridgeland, is required to pay the agency and authority from $1,000 to $2,000 for each dwelling unit built on the land in excess of the 224-unit density already approved for the property by the Marin County Planning Commission.

In exchange for the waiver and title to the ridgeland (still held by the redevelopment agency), the company has agreed to turn over control of the 60 acres of redevelopment land to the agency and authority. California Development Co. is still exclusive developer for Marin City and thus has legal control of the redevelopment property.

On Tuesday the authority board rejected the company's new demand as "totally unacceptable," Kelly said. In addition, the board reaffirmed its Aug. 26 decision (made in conjunction with the redevelopment agency) to take California Development to court to regain, both the 60 acres and the ridgeland which the firm purchased from the agency in 1962 for $441,000. The agency has held the development firm's final payment on the ridgeland in escrow and retained title to the land.

Earlier, California Development had made a verbal commitment to give up its interest to the redevelopment land in exchange for the ridgeland title, but apparently changed its mind, according to Kelly, and decided to ask for the waiver as well.

Hearing Set On Ordinance

Directors of the Tiburon Fire Protection District last night set Oct. 13 as the date for a public hearing on a proposed ordinance to require installation of sprinkler systems and fire alarms in many downtown businesses.

Wellman H. Topham, board secretary, said the hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in Fire Station No. 1, 1679 Tiburon Boulevard.

The ordinance would require sprinklers and alarms, installed at the owner's expense, in most Main Street businesses along the water and in other establishments to be designated by the fire chief, Topham said.

Know anyone having a birthday?

I-J BIRTHDAY QUIZ STARTS MON., SEPT. 13

New daily feature on the Comic Page

Is someone you know having a birthday? Friends, children, relatives, neighbors?

Birthdays are fun. And to help make them even more so, the Independent-Journal is starting a new feature, "BIRTHDAY QUIZ", by Gordon Greb, distinguished professor of journalism at San Jose State and at one time a member of the staffs of the I-J and KTIM.

The I-J will publish names submitted by readers of people having a birthday "today" . . . and also a quiz on famous persons, one of whom was born on the same given day. Idea is to guess which one it is. (We'll also give the answer).

TO SEND IN BIRTHDAYS, DO THIS:

Send in, in writing, the name, the birthday and telephone number of the person whose name you wish to have published. Send in at least 4 days prior to the day of birthday. Mail in or drop off at any I-J office. No telephone calls can be accepted. Print information clearly.

- Send to: BIRTHDAY EDITOR, Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902.

Ferry Line Granted Permit Extension

SAN FRANCISCO — Harbor Carriers yesterday was granted a one-year extension of its permit by the Public Utilities Commission to start serving Sausalito from San Francisco and Alcatraz from both San Francisco and Tiburon.

The PUC also ordered the company to stop providing any unauthorized passenger service and to stop violating rules on the public posting and filing of timetables.

The staff of the PUC had recommended that Harbor Carriers' permit to serve Sausalito be revoked. The staff said that the service never has been provided, although the PUC granted a permit for the service several years ago.

Harbor Carriers contended its failure to serve Sausalito was because it could not get the city's permission to land. The Sausalito City Council recently rejected the company's second bid to land there, and the company has appealed to Marin Superior Court to overturn the rejection.

The Tiburon City Council had objected to the Alcatraz service, arguing it would aggravate traffic problems. The federal government does not permit landings on Alcatraz, but Harbor Carriers got the PUC permit with an eye to the possibility the island will be open to the public someday.

The PUC granted the extra year to begin serving the routes because of the uncertainties of getting landings at both Sausalito and Alcatraz. This deadline will avoid the undesirable situation of having a certificate to perform a service continuing indefinitely when the service cannot be started within a reasonable time, the PUC said.

Bill Regulates Young Skippers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill prohibiting persons under 10 years of age to operate powered boats unless accompanied by a person at least 14 years of age has been approved by the Senate.

Under current law, an infant is legally qualified to operate a boat. The prohibition would apply to any boat with more than five horsepower.

The bill, SB 1194 by Sen. George Deukejian, R-Long Beach, also would require operators between 10 and 14 years of age, if unaccompanied by an older person, to hold a boating safety certificate issued by the state.

The measure appropriates $50,000 to the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development to train the young skippers.

The bill went to the Assembly, where it was assigned to the commerce and public utilities committee for hearing.

Panel To Eye Interim Lease

A temporary lease in San Rafael for the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus maintenance facility will be considered by the building and operating committee at 9:15 a.m. tomorrow in toll plaza offices.

The district's own site on Highway 17 east of the San Rafael Post office will not be ready for use when the bus system begins operation in December.

The district's bus transit manager, H. Donald White, said the proposed temporary site is the Ghilotti Brothers property on Jacoby Street. He said the district wants to lease two and a half acres and 10,000 feet in the company's warehouse on the site.

The finance-auditing committee will meet at 9:30 a.m., and the full board at 10 a.m.

Six Arrested For Being Nude

Six men were arrested by state park rangers yesterday for being nude on a state beach.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of the misdemeanor charge were: John Cotton Lamb, 25, John Thomas Probst, 26, Neelon Frank Crawford, 24, all of San Francisco; Angelo Horacio Muirraqui, 49, of Daly City; Marvin Emmitt Nelms, 18, and Joel Ray Siler, 20, both of Hurst, Tex.

Rangers said the men were running around on the crowded beach and in the surf at Red Rock Beach, south of Stinson Beach, and could be seen from the beach overlook on Shoreline Highway.

Nelms and Siler werehled at the jail in lieu of $65 bail to appear in Western Municipal Judicial Court next Wednesday. Probst posted the $65 to appear in court Wednesday, and Lamb, Muirraqui and Crawford posted the bail to appear in court Sept. 22.

Cyclist Hits Deer; In Serious Condition

Frank P. Chilton, 33, of 285 Oak Street, Penngrove, was reported in serious condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County with head injuries suffered in a motorcycle collision with a deer.

The California Highway Patrol said his motorcycle struck the deer of Petaluma Hill Road, north of Hunter Lane at 3:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Rohnert Park Has First Look At Office Sketches

The Rohnert Park City Council got its first look last night at preliminary sketches for a new city office building.

Architect Lawrence Simons presented his rough plan for a 9,000-square-foot building designed to accommodate city offices for another 10 years until a larger and permanent city hall will be built.

Councilman Arthur Roberts said the plan centered on a large chamber for public meetings with two wings of offices. He said one wing would house city offices while the other would be rented by the Cotati school district. He said the council made few initial suggestions, but did request that the council chamber be enlarged from 40 feet long to 54 feet to accommodate more citizens at meetings.

Simons estimated the building cost at $138,000. Roberts said the city is looking for a building site on Commerce Boulevard near Copeland Creek. The building currently housing offices on Southwest Boulevard would be turned over to police and fire department use.

The plan will be discussed further at the Sept. 20 council meeting.

Moscow Talks Set On Ship Collisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union aimed at avoiding ship collisions and other "incidents at sea" will begin Oct. 12 in Moscow, the State Department announced.

Incidents between the Navy ships of the two countries—ranging from collisions to "buzzing" of ships by aircraft—have been taking place at the rate of about one a month recently.

Work Retreat Is Postponed

Marin's Juvenile Delinquency Prevention commissioners have psotponed their retreat and rescheduled it for Oct. 2.

Chairman James C. Upshaw said the Oct. 2 retreat will be held at the Marshall Lloyd Center on Kensington Road at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Discussion leader will be Mrs. William Perdue, director of the center.

Commissioners hope to come up with an action program for delinquency prevention at the retreat.

The retreat date was previously set for yesterday, but was changed to match the schedules of the commissioners and the discussion leader.

Fire Alarm Switchboard Is Approved

The Kentfield Fire Protection District board last night authorized a San Francisco firm to install a fire alarm control switchboard at the fire station.

According to Chief Kenneth T. Kamp, the control unit works much the same as police burglar alarm systems.

He said schools, hospitas, businesses and private residences will be allowed to hook up to the unit provided internal fire detection systems meet specifications.

The new system will not require taxpayers support, he continued, explaining the control unit is installed free by the firm, General Systems Industry, with businessmen and residents contracting independently with the firm.

Kamp said contract arrangements still must be ironed out before the fire alarm system is installed.

Kamp said about $2,900 was raised through the department's annual raffle and will be used to support department activities and to purchase equipment.

FORD LTD HAS NEW FRONT

The full-size Ford for 1972 features a new front end appearance with a bumper designed with a center bar to protect the grille. Interiors remain basically the same except that high-back bench seats are now standard on all LTD Brougham models. Ford LTD cars will be at Novato Ford, Lyons-Ryan Ford, San Rafael, and J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera.

MERCURY COUGAR

The 1972 Cougar lineup includes three two-door hardtops in each of the series and two-door convertibles in two series. Two new optional engines are offered — a 251-cubic inch V-8 and a 351-cubic inch V-8. Cars will be at Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury, San Rafael, and Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Unsure Future For Occidental

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several years ago we purchased 50 shares of Occidental Petroleum at $49. It is now around $17. Should we hold or take our loss? If we sell what should we buy? — N.S.

A. Whether or not Occidental will be hurt seriously by its Middle East interests remains to be seen — but, in any case this uncertainty hangs heavily over the stock. Negotiations with OPEC nations are not encouraging; thus those oil firms — including Occidental — most closely involved should be avoided by investors.

As a replacement, Greenman Brothers (ASE) appears to have strong potential for continued growth. Company is a wholesaler of toys, hobby equipment and sporting goods, and operates 28 toy departments in Eastern discount stores.

Both sales and earnings have risen annually since 1963. In the six months through July, sales jumped 24 per cent to $12 million. Full fiscal year earnings could reach $1.25 a share, up from $1.02 in the previous 12 months. Renewed confidence in the American economy should be a strong spur to consumer spending and directly beneficial to this wholesaler/retailer.

Q. In March of 1965 I purchased 650 shares of Wellington Fund at $16.57 a share. I am 73 years of age and am disgusted with this fund's performance. As I need income, what would you advise I do now? — C.S.

A. For a five-year period, 1966-1970, Wellington Fund posted only a 5 per cent gain in its net asset value, an unexciting performance indeed. In all fairness, the fund's primary investment objectives are conservation of principal and reasonable income, capital appreciation being secondary.

Wellington does return a relatively good yield in comparison with most of the other mutual funds. However, you can obtain a higher return, with comparable safety and somewhat better growth potential, by investing in a quality utility stock. These include: Boston Edison, Toledo Edison and Wisconsin Power & Light, all of which are selling to yield over 6 per cent.

Diamond Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sales of gem and industrial diamonds by South Africa's central selling organization in the first half of 1971 totaled $308,087,648, an increase of $27,135,203, or 9.6 per cent over the corresponding period of 1970, it was announced by Harry Oppenheimer, chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Ray Delagnes Is New Owner Of Corte Madera Car Firm

There is a new owner for Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth, which has been company-operated by Chrysler Motor Corp. recently and now becomes a dealership owned by Ray Delagnes of San Francisco.

He has been in the automobile business for some 25 years, most recently in Concord where for five years he was general manager of Freeway Chrysler-Plymouth. The Corte Madera dealership will continue under the same name as before but Delagnes plans to make many changes to "improve the image" of the agency.

He intends to move to Marin County from San Francisco.

TWO-THIRDS of the year has gone by and Marin County real estate sales are 53 per cent ahead of last year. Total completed sales under multiple listing reached $70.2 million at the end of August, according to figures of the Marin County Board of Realtors. This compares with $45.8 million for the eight-month period of last year.

Sales for the month of August alone were high — $13,350,550 in reported new sales and $12,415,583 in completed sales. A year ago the comparative figures were $9,156,750 reported and $6,989,580 completed. In single family dwellings the highest number of sales are made in the $30,000 to $40,000 range.

AT THE PRESENT RATE of commercial construction at Northgate Industrial Park, there should be office space available for some time.

Builder Al Villa is already engaged in putting up a 70,000-square foot building called La Plaza at 4330 Redwood Highway, which is well under way and should see some occupancy within the next month or so.

Nearby, Dohemann and Co. is winding up completion of the third office building in the Margarita Plaza complex. This is close to being half leased.

And now Johnny Ribeiro Builder, Inc. has taken out permits for a five-building complex at 4360 Redwood Highway near Villa's project, which it will rival in size, with over 72,000 square feet.

RIBEIRO, whose building projects are continuous and on the grand scale as far north as Hamilton Industrial Park, in which he is now the principal, also has a San Rafael job on his drawing board — a new commercial building at 50 Lovell Avenue.

This will have 9,156 square feet of which 8,000 square feet will be for warehousing, with the balance accessory office and display space, to be available for leasing.

VIRGIL BREEN of Larkspur is retiring from the San Rafael real estate firm bearing his name, but he will continue to be associated with the company on a consultant basis. He has been active in it for 18 years.

The company has recently been incorporated, with a change of name from Virgil Breen and Co. to Breen and Co., Inc. Larger offices have been taken in the Herzog Building at 1005 A Street, and it is possible some expansion in the sales staff may take place.

New general manager of the firm is Robert Fonarow of Fairfax, a broker who has been with the Sea Ranch in Sonoma County for more than three years. He moved to Marin County last summer.

Gives Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The board of directors of Del Monte Corp. has declared a dividend of 27½ cents per share, payable Nov. 16 to shareholders of record Oct. 15. This is Del Monte's 127th consecutive quarterly cash dividend.

Investors Waiting For Nixon Speech

NEW YORK (UPI) —Investors, generally waiting for President Nixon's economic message before a joint session of Congress at 12:30 p. m., pushed the stock market slightly lower through the first two hours of trading today.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.06 at 101.28, while declines led advances by around 75 issues.

Prices were mixed in moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were DPA Inc. Down slightly on 20,000 shares, and Syntex fractionally higher on 19,000 shares.

On the Big Board, steels and motors were fractionally irregular, as were chemicals and rails.

Youths Bringing Back Army Surplus

PORTLAND (BW) — Westerners have always been casual in their style of dress. Some call it a lack of sophistication, but others say it's an expression of regional individuality and, besides, who's going to argue if it's comfortable? says California Business, the Western Financial newsweekly.

"It's the current thing to look crummy," says Bud Winters, general manager of Ed's Outdoor & Surplus Store in Seattle, "and I can't think of anything crummier than to be wearing old surplus Army-Navy clothing as fashion."

Young people in the West — and a growing number of oldsters — have been shying away from the traditional retail clothing outlets and have started shopping for clothes at thrift and surplus stores in increasing numbers.

West Coast surplus store managers and owners indicate business has never really boomed since the first few years after World War II, but the old clothes craze among people today and the growing interest in recreation and camping has brought some sales zip back to the business.

In Portland, the breath of life in an otherwise olive drab industry came too late for Allied-Sav-Mor Stores, the largest chain of surplus stores in the city. Allied closed five stores last year.

With his largest and only competitor under a tombstone, sole survivor Dan Baxter of Andy & Bax's Army-Navy Surplus Stores, says business is still soft. "It's very hard to find good government surplus. The government has cut back quite a bit in releasing goods. They're watching their budgets pretty close."

"Price more than anything is bringing in the kids," says Winters in Seattle. "You can pick up a well made pair of Navy bellbottoms for about $1 and a shirt for about 69 cents."

"It's in style to wear old clothes" adds Debbie Douvier, a cashier in the same store. "Everyone seems to be buying surplus clothes — hunters, workers, kids."

In Fresno, a shop owner too busy to give his name says people are tired of having to pay $10 for a pair of work jeans. "If it's for work, who cares if it has fancy snaps and wide belt loops and tailored flares? People are buying here because the clothes are better made."

The Popular Surplus Store chain in Phoenix reports surplus clothing sales have been picking up, especially in denims and field jackets. The store says old uniforms are becoming harder to find, usually turning up in thrift stores, such as the Salvation Army.

Bernie Edelheit, manager and owner of California Surplus Sales in San Francisco, says in his 26 years in the surplus business the big sales years were after World War II when there was little being made in commercial clothing.

"Now the kids are bringing 1940 back again. Camping and recreation have also helped sales but business is nowhere near what it was like after the war," he says.

Guilty Plea In Sale of LSD

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Mill Valley man has pleaded guilty in San Francisco Superior Court to a charge of selling LSD, and his companion, who failed to show up for trial, forfeited bail.

Charles S. Wismer, 21, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling the LSD to an undercover agent on April 14. Judge Frank Shaw set Sept. 27 for hearing a probation report and sentencing.

Roger G. Leibowitz, also of Mill Valley, failed to show for trial on Aug. 30, so forfeited $2,500 bail. A bench warrant was issued by the judge for his arrest.

A third man, John R. Goodwin, 25, of Sausalito, arrested later in connection with the same sale to an agent in a motel room, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

Seascape Show Set At Gallery

Bob Pepper of Enchanted Knolls will present a show of his land and seascape works at the Genesis Coop Gallery, 2 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, between Sept. 11 and Oct. 8.

Many of Pepper's paintings are of the Marin, Monterey and Mendocino coastlines.

The gallery is open from noon to 4 p.m. daily, except Sundays.

Mayor Hopeful Unable To File

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Stanley Cotton, who is running on a platform which calls for incorporating the Mafia as a non-profit corporation, was unable to file for mayor Tuesday because he couldn't raise the necessary fees.

Cotton, 45, tried to file without paying the $838.88 fee by arguing that he wouldn't take the mayor's salary if elected and therefore should be able to file for $1. Filing fees are based on the annual salaries of the offices sought.

Cotton, an ex-convict who wants to "legitimize" the Mafia as a "Non-profit, humanistic charter, charitable organization," said he would seek donations to pay the fee and get his name on the November ballot.

Pleads Innocent To Felony Counts

Floyd Kermit Ware, 20, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two felony charges of burglary and a felony count of child molesting.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Ware was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging him with burglarizing two Mill Valley residences Aug. 31.

At one of the residences, he allegedly ripped the nightgown off a 12-year-old girl and gagged her before being frightened away by a neighbor, police said.

A First — No Casualty List

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon did not issue a casualty list from the Vietnam War Tuesday—because it had no casualties to report for the first time since Sept. 2, 1965.

The first list in 1965 contained the names of 13 war dead, and every day since then, except on weekends and holidays, the Defense Department has released a list of those victims whose next of kin had been notified.

At the height of the war the list sometimes ran a dozen or more pages. In recent weeks it has dwindled to as few as one or two names.

In the past six years the lists have reported the combat deaths of 45,471 Americans, and the names of 9,742 others who died of non-hostile causes.

Grey Wolf An Essential Predator

By DARRYL STEWART
Toronto Telegram Syndicate
(Third of 12 articles)

The wolf has long been regarded as the embodiment of all that is evil. Gruesome tales of wolf attacks resulted in stories such as "Little Red Riding Hood" and the "Three Little Pigs."

Most accounts of wolf attacks originate in Northern Europe, especially from Russia, where packs were driven by starvation to seek food at the edge of villages. There, they would attack domestic livestock and in these circumstances, some reported wolf attacks on man are valid.

The gray wolf is by nature a peace loving animal that fears man and prefers to shun him than seek him out. Indiscriminate hunting in the past has caused the wolves to be considered an endangered species. Only in certain remote parts of Alaska and Canada, are there really sizeable wolf packs left.

The gray wolf's champions have been trying hard to educate outdoorsmen to understand this predator's role in nature. The deer and moose on which they depend are sought by sport hunters, making game sometimes hard to come by.

Where wolves have been absent or exterminated — Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin — white-tailed deer have become so numerous, they have caused extensive damage to the forests. In winter many have died from starvation.

But many hunters still remain convinced that the wolf is a serious threat to their sport.

Grey Wolf

It is difficult to make an objective appraisal of the influence that wolves actually had on the colonisation of America. It is written that in many areas of the eastern United States, the rate of colonisation was greatly retarded by livestock losses incurred by wolves. Most pioneer farms were small and often isolated, and there were no up-to-date methods of dealing with this problem. Under such circumstances, the pioneers had to cope with the only means at their disposal, the death-dealing rifle.

In the East, bounties for killing wolves were paid from as early as 1630. In that year, the Massachusetts Bay Colony established the first bounty system in America by offering one penny for every wolf shot. Many were able to earn a living from this system, giving some indication of the number of wolves which must have been shot during this period.

The war on wolves continued for almost 200 years. By the middle of the 18th century it was evident that the wolves were losing. Indiscriminate shooting, coupled with the extensive destruction of forests east of the Mississippi River, spelled doom for the wolf. By 1900, the last wolves were killed in many eastern states. They were first wiped out in Massachusetts by 1850 and from New York and Pennsylvania not long before the turn of the century.

In the winning of the West, both the wolf and the bison were driven from the plains, almost simultaneously.

Some wolves found refuge in the mountain wilderness of the north and northwest; a few remained on the Plains.

Today there appears to be a change of attitude in some areas. In the regions adjacent to the Superior Nation Park Forest, a three-million-acre tract in Minnesota, one of the largest concentrations of gray wolves in the country is now protected.

In Canada's Algonquin Park in Ontario, a new pastime, "wolf howling" is growing in popularity. Last summer, a record number of 3,500 visitors took trips to hear wolves in response to human imitations of their calls.

The importance of predators such as the gray wolf in the nature of things cannot be overemphasized. The predator, by its very existence, ensures the continuance of its prey species. It is almost invariably the weak, old and infirmed specimens that are taken, thereby leaving the fittest and strongest to perpetuate a healthy, robust population.

Fines And Probation For Rock Musicians

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Two members of the San Francisco rock music group Quicksilver Messenger Service yesterday were fined and given probation on guilty pleas to charges of possessing marijuana.

One of the defendants, David Freiberg, 32, of Novato, the group's organist and bass player, also was given a 12-month jail sentence with 10 months suspended.

Freiberg, in addition to the jail sentence, was fined $500 and put on probation for three years.

George A. Bonney of Corte Madera, Quicksilver Messenger's road manager, was given two years probation and fined $200.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley gave Freiberg a stay of execution of the jail sentence until Oct. 4 because of professional commitments.

"I'll do what I have to do" to comply with terms of the judgment, Freiberg said outside the court. He noted he also is to appear on a traffic charge in San Rafael on Oct. 4.

"That will be a wonderful day," he said.

Freiberg and Bonney were arrested on the charges last November at San Francisco International Airport.

The State Fair Misses Mark

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The California State Fair ended a 20-day run Wednesday night with total attendance well below the goal of one million persons.

Attendance for the first 19 days of the fair, which was marred by several nights of violence two weeks ago, was 871,419, compared with 931,008 during 1970.

Fair officials blamed four nights of clashes between rock-throwing youths and tear gas-spraying police early in the run for the failure to reach the one million mark or surpass last year's turnout.

Underground Press Wins Credentials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The underground press has gained a toe hold in the congressional press corps with the admission of Thomas K. Forcade, a representative of the Underground Press Syndicate, to the House and Senate Press Galleries.

Forcade's application was approved Wednesday on a 3-to-2 vote by the Standing Committee of Correspondents which supervises the galleries. Forcade gained notoriety in May of 1970 when he appeared before the U.S. Commission on Obscenity and Pornography and hurled a cream pie in the face of Otto Larsen, a commission member.

A CARVED-BRASS wine decanter and an ivory chess set remind Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodward of Tiburon of their summer in India where the cancer researcher worked in one of India's largest hospitals. The couple took along their five children to appreciate the contrast between the privations in India and their lives in Marin.

BEGINS IN BOMBAY

BY PAT BALMES

To open the eyes of their five children to the contrast between their lives in Marin and the privation in India, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodward of Tiburon took them along when the cancer researcher went to work in one of India's largest hospital this summer.

"I wish I could send those of our younger generation who are destroying our colleges to see India's poverty, so they would appreciate what we have in this country," said Dr. Woodward.

The Woodwards moved to Tiburon three years ago when Dr. Woodward began work in radiation therapy under a fellowship with National Cancer Institute at Mt. Zion Hospital. This summer he received a Damon Runyon Foundation grant to demonstrate cryo-surgery (freezing of tumors) and treat patients in India.

The children who went along to learn were Lorinda, 13, Cheryl, 12, Mark, 9, and twins, Larry and Bryan, 8. Their adventure began when they stepped from their airplane at 2 a.m. on May 1 in Bombay.

"Two things hit you right away — the odor and the heat," says their mother, Betty Woodward. "You come to the stark realization that what you've heard is true!"

People were sleeping in the streets. Small animals roamed the city. Open sewers and overpopulation make the situation ripe for disease, according to Dr. Woodward.

"AT THIS point you are near turning around for home. It was as hot as you could possibly imagine. The only saving grace was the monsoon rains. You can't get a sun tan," says Betty.

Calcutta and Bombay "hit tourists pretty hard." However, if a tourist only visited Delhi, which is "much nicer," he would never know what India was really like, according to the Woodwards.

Billboards "all over India" printed in the common language, Tamil, recommend two children per family. The government offers gifts to people for being sterilized. Population control is "catching on."

However, Mrs. Woodward relates that the cook's wife at the Bellore hospital refused sterilization after her fifth daughter was born because, according to their religion, a man must have a son to be immortal. Her in-laws forbade the operation.

In Bellore Dr. Woodward found a "remarkably good" multi-specialty hospital of 1,100 beds, staffed by a majority of Indian doctors and some medical missionaries from America, Canada, New Zealand, England and Australia.

The Christ College medical school was founded in the 19th century by Dr. Ida Scudder, the daughter of an American medical missionary who was visiting her father in Bellore when three Indian women died in childbirth because they would not allow a male doctor to care for them. Inspired, she founded a woman's medical college and today there are still more women than men medical students.

Wives of resident Indian doctors are active in hospital functions and donate their time to leprosy rehabilitation.

"THE INDIAN women wanted us to be as happy as we could be in their country. They realized that we were dropping in our standards. Friendly and helpful, they were anxious for us to see their villages. A woman from India's educated class would say, 'This is how Indians live.' She was never apologetic but frank, not trying to cover up. The Indian personality is very accepting," Mrs. Woodward says.

A typical village hut is bare of furniture except for a table and two trunks. People sit on the floor, sleep on mats and eat from banana leaves with their fingers. Clods of cow manure, placed in wall chinks on a hut's sunny side to dry, are used for fuel, they said.

Oxen, water buffalo and donkeys are used for farm work and transportation. Little trains of burros carry laundry to the river where Indian women beat the clothes clean. Even hospital laundry is done this way.

"WE DID a lot of discussing life, pointing out differences to the children between what Marin people have and what the people of India have," says Mrs. Woodward of their three months spent walking around Bellore seeing the inhabitants' life.

They saw road repair gangs; women carrying crushed rocks and men putting it in place.

"You feel smothered with population, just people all around you," recalls Mrs. Woodward.

They chose to live beyond the overpopulated "little town" of 50,000 inhabitants, staying in an adobe house, gracious by Indian standards, on the medical school's campus.

Their daughters went to high school and sons to grammar school on the college campus where Indian doctors and nurses' children study. Foreign doctors' children, "too little to leave home," attend this school until third grade when they go to an American boarding school in Kodi.

"The boys found that school enjoyable," said Mrs. Woodward. "An American child is allowed to get away with anything. My children were allowed to walk in and out of the classroom." She stopped allowing them to attend when she discovered they were being spoiled by their Indian teacher.

AWAY FROM material diversions available to Marin children, the young Woodwards "got back to nature," chasing lizards and iguanas, watching ants and termites build huge castles, building bird traps of sticks and running in the surrounding hills.

Injections the children received before going to India are "not completely protective," according to Dr. Woodward. They boiled water, scrubbed fruits and vegetables in detergent and cooked them and "cooked to death" the ground beef they ate almost every night for three months.

"Now they don't want 'junk' to eat, but really enjoy a juicy peach," says Betty Woodward.

The children began counting the days until their return. After he had been in Bellore two weeks, eight-year-old Bryan demanded his passport and "three tickets" for an immediate solo journey to Tiburon via Hongkong, Tokyo and Honolulu.

When the family left India in August, returning by way of European cities, the eldest daughter, Lorinda understood the dramatic contrast between the United States and India when she asked,

"If Europe is so much like the United States, why do people visit there?"

BACK HOME in Tiburon, Dr. and Mrs. Woodward say they feel "guilty in a way" for having left such an impoverished country to return to Marin's high standard of living.

HEALTH REPORT

Annual Physicals Now A Sophisticated Process

By ALISON GODDARD
(Fourth of a five-part series)

NEW YORK — When a woman is over 40 she needs a checkup more than ever in her life. At this critical time it's essential that she keep track of herself and her health. But health checkups aren't what they used to be. Sophisticated technology, automation and computers have entered the picture.

This new approach to checkups, known as Automated Multiple Health Testing Services, might have been conjured up by a science-fiction writer. It all began prosaically enough when Kaiser Permanente in California incorporated automated checkups as part of its health insurance program about a decade ago. The idea has since spread rapidly. Some 150 AMHTS facilities are in Louisiana, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, New York and Missouri as well as in California.

Where such facilities exist, the traditional visit to the doctor's office, followed by a few tests sent to the lab, is now reversed. Instead, the patient enters the AMHTS diagnostic center, which usually consists of a labyrinth of small rooms. First, a computer takes her medical history, flashing such questions at her from its screen as Do you get tired easily? Have you even been told you have a heart murmur? The woman types her answers on a special keyboard, while in the next room another busy computer prints out a concise summary of her replies.

DURING THE next hour-and-a-half, she is guided by nurses and other technicians through a comprehensive series of examinations. She has an electrocardiogram, a chest X-ray, a breast X-ray. Her lung capacity, hearing and vision are tested with the latest automated equipment. Her blood pressure is taken; her blood and urine are analyzed by high-precision devices. All in all, she may have as many as 35 separate and fast-moving tests.

When these tests are completed, she has her first contact with a doctor. He quickly checks the computer printouts of her medical history and test results. Then he completes her physical examination. As a final step, he interprets the various results to her and tells her about any followup that might be indicated.

Although AMHTS was designed originally to help diagnose illness, it's being used more and more to prevent illness. Automated checkups have revealed unexpected "silent" heart attacks, early emphysema, glaucoma and pernicious anemia.

"It can detect disease before the patient has any symptoms," says one of its champions.

"It can help avoid such complications as loss of work, hospitalization and disability," says a second.

"It can prevent untimely deaths," adds a third. In fact, a six-year survey at one AMHTS center revealed that cancer deaths had been cut by 33 per cent, disabling digestive diseases by 20 per cent, and severe heart disease by 15 per cent.

THIS AUTOMATED system, asserts Dr. Sidney Garfield, who pioneered the Kaiser plan, "mobilizes the vast medical manpower that is today tied up in the deficiencies of an obsolete system." Others add that by using a minimum of the doctor's valuable time and a maximum of automated machinery and trained assistants, higher quality medical care can reach more people, while still keeping the overall costs low.

The system does have its critics, who claim that since computers and other automatic devices lack human judgment, "they will dehumanize medical care." The ultimate value of the system, however, its champions acknowledge, depends on the kind of followup it gets.

Norma Burrell, nursing supervisor of AMHTS at the Rhode Island Hospital in Providence, says, "We try to see that the patients who pass through our center make a followup appointment with their personal physicians and that they keep this appointment."

This is particularly important for the woman over 40, she adds, since many physical changes do occur at this age and many chronic problems can develop.

The value of regular automated checkups for the over-40 group is confirmed by Dr. Morris F. Collen of the Kaiser Permanente Program. Dr. Collen points out that those between 45 and 55 who have periodic checkups don't get sick as often as their contemporaries who haven't had the benefit of such checkups.

She Gives Birth To Her Fourth Set Of Twins

COMPTON (UPI) — Mrs. Wanda Paschall, 25, has given birth to eight children — and they're all twins.

The Compton housewife returned home from the hospital Wednesday after delivering her fourth set — Twyonia, five pounds, 9½ ounces, and Toshia, four pounds, 11 ounces.

Other twins include six-year-olds Tracy Lee and Theresa Marie and four-year-olds Anthony Dwight and April Denise. Fourteen-month-old Benjamin Jr.'s twin was stillborn.

Mrs. Paschall said her great-grandmother was a twin who gave birth to two sets of twins, while one cousin in Texas had six sets of twins and another cousin had twins and triplets.

ON THE AGENDA

'Our Changing Morals' To Be Topic Of Discussion In Novato

Other panel members will be Mrs. Illion Jones, who will speak from a grandmother's point of view, and Mrs. George Hayford as the mother of teenagers and a member of the church youth group. The panel will discuss present day ethics and how they are affected personally; whether they think moral codes are really changing and if differences in age colors understanding.

A question and answer period will follow the discussion.

THE PLEASANT Valley School Parent-Teacher Association will have a coffee to welcome parents of new pupils at 8:30 a.m. Monday in the library of the school in Novato.

MRS. WALTER J. Clark, president, Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside at the first meeting of the fall term on Monday at 10 a.m. at the Red Chimney restaurant in Stonestown.

Presidents of the 42 clubs in the district, comprising Marin, San Mateo and San Francisco counties and the district chairmen and officers will attend. Marin County will be represented by 9 federated clubs — officers and chairmen, headed by Mrs. Richard Hardin of San Rafael, district vice president.

MARIN CHAPTER of Hadassah will hold its annual membership luncheon at noon on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Wagner in San Anselmo.

Speaker will be Mrs. Gershon Lindberger, president of the Northgate Chapter of Hadassah in San Bruno, and Dick Saltzman will play the vibes.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Stanley Baer and Mrs. Donald Herzog, luncheon chairman, both of Mill Valley.

THE TENNIS Section of the Petaluma Newcomers Club meets Mondays and Wednesdays at McNear Park in Petaluma and will continue through fall and winter.

Mrs. Robert Edwards, chairman, says there are openings for the 10 a.m. sessions.

GO-TO-CHURCH Sunday will begin the fall term of activities for Bethel 48, International Order of Job's Daughters. Members will attend St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

A luncheon to honor past honored queens, past guardians and past associate guardians will follow the service. Marshall and guide will be elected at a meeting to follow the luncheon.

Arrangements have been made by Pam Holman, Debbie Daunt, Krissy Adamson, Cheryl Cazneaux and Alice Adamson.

THE DECORATIONS Guild of the Marin Art and Garden Center is having the Christmas Greens Sale kick-off luncheon Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Fort Mason Officers Club in San Francisco.

William J. Fisher, interior decorator, will speak on "New Trends in Interior Decoration."

CLIPPED WINGS is having a champagne reception Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donald L. Blinco in Tiburon for former United Air Lines stewardesses.

Speakers will be H. David Sokoloff, president of the California Association of Mentally Retarded and Mrs. Sokoloff, Marin House board member.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. John Conway and John Ehrmann, both of Novato.

SECOND IN a nine-week-series of classes for expectant parents, sponsored by the Education for Childbirth Association, will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Mrs. Gunhild Brown's office in Greenbrae. Instructor is Mrs. Margaret B. Farley, registered physical therapist.

Expectant parents may begin the series up to the third session and must have written permission from a physician to enroll.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Fast-Talking Freddie Needs To Be Cut Down — And Fast!

DEAR SUE:

I complained about my getting fat to my new boy friend (actually, I've only gained four pounds and a "gentleman" wouldn't notice), but he said it's all psychological, on account of my being repressed, physically and emotionally.

Last week he said my pimples (I only had two) also happened because I say "no" when it's only natural for a boy and girl, etc., etc. . . .

Freddie figures the cure for almost everything is sex, and he can quote "experts" to prove it.

When a girl doesn't really feel repressed, but she gains four pounds and gets a few zits, well, what would you say, Sue? — NO PARKING PERMITTED

DEAR NPP:

Cut down on sweets, fats, starches — and Freddie! — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

What next? The guys we go with have decided chewing tobacco is the greatest thing since bubblegum. They say pretty soon everybody will do it.

You know how boys are. The more we fuss, the more they do. Is "chewing" really back in style again, and think what that will do to kissing. — YE-C-C-H.

HELEN SAYS:

DEAR YE-C-C-H;

Chewing tobacco back in style? The boys are handing you a lot of bull (and not Durham). I doubt the fad will last past the first plug — especially when they discover how hard it is to talk without dribbling. — H.

P.S. I know a fellow whose first "chew" was his last. Someone (perhaps a girl friend?) whacked him on the back so hard he swallowed instead of spit. Among other things, he lost his taste for tobacco!

SUE SAYS:

DEAR YE-C-C-H: (How DO you spell that sound, anyway?):

Maybe all you girls should start going around in weird granny dresses with corn cob pipes in your mouths.

But you'll win faster if you flatly refuse to kiss the guys until they're kissable again. (Not exactly, "Chew and we're through," just "I'll stay over here by the window till you get back to gum.") — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I am a boy of 15. My future wife is 18. When I asked her to marry me I meant in three years or so.

But she wants to get married right now, and I'm not even through high school. No job, no money, no nothing.

I love her and don't want to lose her, but what can I say? — T.I.L.

DEAR T:

Tell her true love waits and so should she. — SHE

DEAR T.:

My parent's eye sees an immature, demanding, impractical girl — and a boy who is about to be trapped.

Make sure you stand up like a man when you tell her true love waits. I doubt that it is, or that you'll either one be waiting three years hence. — HELEN

Send your "Generation Rap" questions and comments to Sue and Helen Bottel (one or both), care of this newspaper. They will appear each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday in the Independent-Journal.)

Vows Said In Church At Tiburon

Robin Delano Ericson of Belvedere and John Raikes Vance Jr. of Corte Madera exchanged marriage vows Saturday afternoon in a cermony at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

Mrs. Wyman Johnson of Seattle, Wash., was matron of honor for the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ericson of Belvedere. Bridesmaids were Mmes. Michael Molloy of Mill Valley and Nicholas Kerry of Larkspur and Gil Prebil of San Rafael. All except Mrs. Kerry were the bride's classmates at the University of Santa Clara.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Col. and Mrs. John R. Vance of Corte Madera, was served as best man by Nicholas Kerry of Larkspur. Seating the guests were Scott Dillingham of Chico, James Allen of Phoenix, Ariz., and Tom Grimm of Seattle, Wash.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Belvedere Lagoon. On their return from a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula the couple will live in San Rafael.

Both of the couple are graduates of Redwood High School. Robin was graduated from the University of Santa Clara and holds teaching credentials from Dominican College. She teaches second grade in the Nova Albion School of the Dixie School District in Marin.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of California at Santa Barbara and holds a law degree from the University of San Francisco. He is awaiting U.S. Army orders.

NEWLYWEDS Katsuhisa Kumagi and his bride, Tae, surface after being married in a 45 minute Shinto rite 25 feet underwater near Toga, Japan. FOR JAPANESE COUPLE

Underwater Wedding A Success

By FREDERICK H. MARKS.

TOGA, Japan (UPI)—The bride's veil kept trying to float away during the wedding reception and the participants weren't talking to each other. But enthusiasm among the guests wasn't dampened at all.

After waiting six years, Katsuhisa Kumagai and his wife Tae, both 29, finally were married Aug. 15. The couple had registered to live as man and wife six years ago, but they didn't have the money for a formal wedding ceremony. This happens often among couples in Japan.

THE KUMAGAIS, both professional divers, decided to add a touch of the bizarre to their wedding ceremony by holding it 25 feet under the water of a small cove in northern Japan.

Fifteen guests were invited to attend the ceremony, nearly all dressed in black wet suits and wearing scuba tanks on their backs. The one exception was a diver friend of the Kumagais who wore his hard hat suit, the dress worn by deep sea divers.

The guests dove to the bottom of the cove first. When all were in their places, the bride and groom floated down. Mrs. Kumagai was dressed in a colorful burnt orange wet suit and yellow flippers and wore a white veil on her head. She carried a bouquet of plastic pink roses.

FRIENDS OF the couple had placed several tables on the floor of the cove. On one table an arrangement of plastic flowers waved eerily in the currents of the water.

A second table served as an altar for the Shinto wedding. The third table, by far the largest, was used for the reception. Cases of soft drinks and beer were laid out on the table.

The Kumagais exchanged their vows and signed the proper forms, which had been transcribed on a sheet of plastic, and then the reception began. Bottles of soft drinks were opened and the guests, one after the other, raised their soda and beer in toasts to the couple.

AS EACH toast was made — silently — the participants, removed their mouthpieces and drank their soda.

The ceremony lasted about 45 minutes. When it was over the guests joined hands in a large circle and slowly floated to the surface.

After everyone clambered out of the water and removed their diving paraphernalia, a second reception was held in a small grassy field. Bottles of sake were opened and more toasts were made.

Nearby, the Kumagais' two-year-old son continued to sleep blissfully — as he had done while his parents were underwater being married.

Couple Says Vows In San Rafael

Carol Falkenberg of Fairfax became the bride of John Sundberg of Santa Cruz in a Sunday morning ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Falkenberg of Fairfax. She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California at Davis and is a kindergarten teacher in Fairfield. She is the sister of Ray Falkenberg of Fresno and Tom Falkenberg of Fairfax.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sundberg of Glen Rock, N.J., are parents of the bridegroom. He is a graduate of Glen Rock High School and Wooster College in Wooster, Ohio. He is a doctoral candidate at the University of California at Santa Cruz.

The newlyweds will live in Pleasanton.

Food Mill Ideal For Baby Foods

The one way to serve babies natural unseasoned baby foods without additives is to prepare them at home. An indispensable utensil for straining the foods is a food mill. It takes the work out of straining and mashing fruits and vegetables and is ideal for foods such as cooked egg yolk and chicken livers.

In cooking vegetables for baby, it is particularly important to preserve all the natural vitamins and minerals. Scrub and rinse, but do not peel, vegetables.

Cut vegetable into small pieces and cook in the barest amount of water in the shortest possible time until soft and water is absorbed. Strain through a food mill. Do not add salt or other seasonings.

Almost any vegetable is suitable for straining. Spinch, however, because of its lack of bulk and its slippery nature, is easier if it is strained along with another vegetable such as potato.

For homemade applesauce, wash apples; don't peel or core them. Cut them into 8ths and place in a small heavy saucepan.

Add a small amount of water (about 2 tablespoons for 2 medium apples.) Cover and cook over medium heat about 5 to 8 minutes or until apples are soft. Strain through a food mill. Do not add sugar. Two medium apples make about ½ cup applesauce.

Marin Represented In Pandora Calendar

Several Marin women artists have drawings included in the San Francisco Women Artists' 1972 Pandora calendar.

They include Clara Bass of Forest Knolls, Eleanore Bender of San Anselmo, Houlgate Davenport, Maggie Rosen and Leah Schwartz of Mill Valley; Harriette Frances and Orene Neal of San Rafael, Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield, Suzanne Gomberg of Tiburon, Allie Hyde of Corte Madera, and Helen Rich and Nelcy Tarics of Belvedere.

Excellent Cleaner

Cologne doused on a cotton ball makes an excellent cleaner for the telephone receiver. The cologne leaves the surface fragrant and shiny and the alcohol in it acts as an antiseptic, say homemaking consultants of National Family Opinion Inc., a consumer market research firm.

A Good Diet

A good diet provides high quality protein for body growth and maintenance, as well as sufficient amounts of needed vitamins, minerals and essential fatty acids to support the body functions and supply needed energy.

Alienation Is Topic Of College Lectures

College of Marin is sponsoring four lectures in October to explore problems of alienation between parents and children.

Dr. Hiam Ginott will present the first lecture, "How To Drive Children Sane," Oct. 6 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater of the college.

A leader of child psychotherapy and parent guidance seminars in the United States, Europe and Israel, Dr. Ginott has written three books, "Group Psychotherapy with Children," "Between Parent and Child" and "Between Parent and Teen-Ager" and has a weekly syndicated newspaper column, "Between Us."

DR. GINOTT is a graduate of Columbia University, an adjunct professor at New York University graduate department of psychology and a clinical professor at Adelphi University.

"Self-Enhancing Education" is the topic to be covered by Thelma Harms on Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Miss Harms, who believes that education needs to be reevaluated since current insights have revealed how children learn, has a master's degree in child development from the University of California.

As head teacher for the University Nursery School for 11 years she has taught many courses in the U.C. extension division for parents and teachers. She contributed articles to "Young Children," a book joining creative expression to academic skills due to be published next year.

AN ABILITY to relate science to the public is the specialty of Dr. Albert Hibbs, who will discuss, "Can A Chipmunk Teach the New Math?" Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Dr. Hibbs has hosted the award winning educational television program, "Exploring." He has devoted his scientific career to studying the space program technicalities and has worked with school boards and civic groups offering scientific and engineering explanations.

Ralph Groves, who will speak on "Understanding Your Father's World and What You Can Do About It," Oct. 27 at 8 p.m., spent two years talking to as many young persons as possible in 43 states and then spent another year traveling around the world reviewing the United Nations and world-wide youth projects.

When he returned to California he founded Monastery One, an organization which aids young men to determine the meaning and purpose of their lives. His speaking experience began 20 years ago when he headed a community improvement project in Southern Marin.

DRAMA

"The School for Wives," Moliere's comedy about the eternal battle of the sexes, will open a two-week engagement Monday at San Francisco's Geary Theater as a special attraction of the American Conservatory Theater.

Staged by the Phoenix Theater of New York, which is also presenting "Harvey" at the Geary through Saturday, "Wives" stars Brian Bedford as Arnolphe, the role that won him Broadway's 1971 Tony Award as the best actor of the season.

Others featured in the Moliere play will be Joan Van Ark as Agnes and David Dukes, a young veteran of many ACT productions, as Horace.

The comedy will be at the Geary through Sept. 25.

ART

An internal sculpture exhibit on perception is currently on display at the Exploratorium in San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts.

The exhibit, called Tacticle Environment, is encased in a geodesic dome about the size of a large weather balloon. Visitors enter through a light-lock room into totally dark maze to feel, bump, slide and tumble through and past hundreds of materials and shapes which constantly blend, chance and contrast.

Other attractions:

Curran Theater — "Company," a Civic Light Opera production, Tuesday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Thursdays and Saturday, 2:30 p.m.; Sundays, 7 p.m.

Geary Theater — "Harvey," through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

Dinner-Concert In San Anselmo

The Kensington Trio's 1971-72 dinner-concert series will open Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The trio — consisting of pianist Wilbur F. Russell, violinist Stephen Golden and cellist John Bodo — will perform Vivaldi's Sonata in C Minor; Rameau's Suite No. 1 and Schumann's Trio in F, Op. 80.

Dinner service will be buffet style in order to lower prices, but Richard D. Willette of the Tamal Food Service, which plans and prepares the dinners, says food will be essentially the same as last years more expensive gourmet dinner concerts.

Further information or reservations may be obtained by calling the Tamal Food Service in San Anselmo or by writing the Kensington Trio at P.O. Box 734, San Anselmo.

Typewriter Taken From EOC Office

A $400 IBM typewriter was stolen last week from the Marin Economic Opportunity Council at 918 C Street, San Rafael Police reported yesterday.

The typewriter was reported missing from EOC's manpower office Tuesday, police said.

An old typewriter sitting on the floor of the office had been placed under the IBMcover, police reported.

Actor Divorced

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Claudia Martin, 27, daughter of entertainer Dean Martin, and actor Kiel Mueller were divorced Wednesday, ending their two-year marriage.

Hub Board Backs Horse Ring Plan

The San Anselmo School District board has expressed initial support for a proposal that a vacant portion of Hidden Valley School property to be used for a horse ring but wants more time to study it.

According to W. Kenneth Lowry, district superintendent, there was a favorable consensus of opinion among board members at Tuesday's meeting but additional details still must be worked out.

The proposal, suggested by the Horsemen's Association of Sleepy Hollow, calls for construction of the ring on the lot above the school.

The association said it would conduct clinics, horse shows and related activities for students if the district would provide the land.

The item will come back to the board at its Sept. 21 meeting.

The San Anselmo School District also:

AGENDA — Discussed a recent court decision (Dorothy Carlson vs. the Paradise Unified School District) which struck down a board action because the item was not fully explained on the board's agenda.

COURSE OF STUDY — Adopted the Marin County course of study for the basic instructional guide for students in the regular program.

PERSONNEL — Employeed Ruth Smith of Novato as a half-time teacher at Hidden Valley School at a salary of $8,493 per year, Sophia Spencer of San Anselmo as a clerk at Red Hill School at a salary of $497 per month, and five teacher aides and assistants.

Nixon Will Confer With Hirohito's Son

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon will meet next Tuesday with Prince Hitachi, the 35-year-old son of Japanese Emperor Hirohito.

The White House said Nixon would meet with the prince and his wife in his oval office and then adjourn to the first family's living quarters to have tea with Mrs. Nixon.

DRAMA REVIEW

One Comedy Not To Be Missed

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The Marin Shakespeare Festival has once again distinguished itself with a delightful production of the Bard's comedy, "As You Like It."

Opening last night at the Forest Meadows amphitheater as the company's final offering of the season, it's showcase theater with a very talented and youthful cast, headed by Laurie Walters as Rosalind and Robert Feero, a veteran of the John Brebner company, as Touchstone, a clown of the court.

And the play marks the debut of Marlene Egan as one of the troupe's directors. She unfurled her directorial banners excellently.

"As You Like It" is a charming romp in which an individual can lose himself in a fantasy world away from the rigors of life. It has the same heartwarming appeal of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," but is far more gentle.

"AS YOU LIKE IT" — A two-act comedy by William Shakespeare. A production of the Marin Shakespeare Festival. Marlene Egan, director; Jackson DeGovia, set designer; Edward Stewart, lighting; Karen Johnson, costumes. The cast: Robert Feero, Touchstone; Eric Hoffman, Orlando; Jim Mairs, Oliver; Paul Ventura, Adam; Sydney Erskine, Denise; James Haran, Duke Frederick and Duke Senior; Mark Dennis, Charles, court wrestler and Hymen; Laurie Walters, Rosalind; Beverly Ross, Celia; Lalo Yeshevsky, Le Beau and Silvius; Dora Smekens, Hesperia; Sydney Erskine, James William Hill; Bruce Janger, Marc E. Nelsen, David Saxton, Dora Smekens, Bruce Tanner, Tom Wagner, lords and ladies; Tom Wagner, Amiens; Douglas Broyles, Jaques; Kenneth Perez, Corin; Birnham Woode, Sir Oliver Martext; Janie Atkins, Phebe; Sydney Erskine, Audrey; Marc E. Nelson, William, and Paul Ventura, Jaques de Boys.

Mrs. Egan, who, with her husband, Robert, played the lead roles in the company's second production of the season, "Much Ado About Nothing," made clever use of Touchstone to introduce the play, and Feero could not have been more engagingly charming, something he never lost throughout the play. In short, his characterization was perfect.

Miss Walters was exciting to watch throughout, too. She's a fine young actress, slight of build, with beautiful vocal shadings which were never lost in the outdoor setting, and she maintained her femininity in the little game of charades as a matchmaker for herself and her friends.

The zestfulness of Miss Walters and Feero was matched by other members of the cast, too. Beverly Ross made an ideal Celia; Eric Hoffman, a convincing moonstruck Orlando, and Janie Atkins, as Phebe, and Sydney Erskine as Audrey, saucy shepherdesses.

James Haran as both Duke Frederick and Duke Senior; Douglas Broyles as Jaques, and Lalo Yeshevsky as the courtier Le Beau and later as Silvius, a lovesick shepherd; and Jim Mairs as Oliver rounded out major assignments very nicely.

What further enhanced the performance were the musical interludes which were smoothly woven into the play's action. The music for Shakespeare's lyrics was a joint effort of Tom Wagner, Bruce Tanner, Marc E. Nelsen, Bruce Janger, James William Hill and Sydney Erskine.

The colorful costumes, designed by Karen Johnson, fit perfectly into the spirit of the production.

"As You Like It," as it has been laid out by Mrs. Egan, should not be missed. It has lots of warmth, moves along very swiftly as a two-act play and brings to the Festival's stage a group of very responsible young actors.

It can be seen again tonight in the open air theater on Dominican College's San Rafael campus at 8 o'clock and at the same time Friday and Saturday with Sunday's performance at 7:30 p.m. It will also be around for several more long weekends, too.

41 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

With 41 cases reported last week, streptococcus infections led all other communicable diseases reported last week to the Marin County Health Department, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer.

There were 36 cases of gonorrhea, 10 of syphilis, two each of infectious hepatitis and measles, and one each of tuberculosis and salmonella.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 9, the 252nd day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Virgo.

American scientist Joseph Leidy was born Sept. 9, 1823.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the term "United States" was made official by the Second Continental Congress.

In 1919 almost the entire Boston police force went on strike, demanding recognition of a new union. The walkout ended three days later, but Gov. Calvin Coolidge ruled that strikers were not permitted back.

In 1943 American and British troops from North Africa invaded Italy at Salerno.

In 1969, 83 persons were killed when a jet liner and a small plane collided in the air near Indianapolis.

A thought for today: Massachusetts Gov. Calvin Coolidge, who later became the 31st president said, "There is no right to strike against public safety, anywhere, anytime."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Best Action Depends Upon How High The Contract Goes

The right way to play a hand depends not only on the cards you have been dealt but also on how high you have bid. You would handle the very same cards one way at a game contract but a different way at a slam.

TOP CARDS

Declarer wins the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades and draws two rounds of trumps — with the king and ace. He then runs the diamonds, discarding clubs from his hand on the third and fourth diamond.

West ruffs the fourth diamond, but the defenders get only one spade and one club. South therefore makes his game contract.

If South tried a heart finesse at the third trick, West would win with the queen of hearts and would lead a spade to East's king. Back would come the jack of clubs, and the defenders would take three club tricks and a penalty of 200 points.

TRUMP ROUNDS

By drawing two trumps and then running the diamonds South had the chance of capturing the queen of hearts if it happened to fall doubleton. If the queen didn't fall, South would be safe if the player with the last trump had three or more diamonds. And if that failed, South might still be all right if East had the ace of clubs.

DIFFERENT PLAY

If South has overbid the hand to a slam, he must play the hand differently. Bold play would bring in 12 tricks if the East and West hands were exchanged.

Declarer takes the first spade with dummy's ace, leads the king of hearts and then tries a finesse with the jack of hearts. That succeeds (with the East-West hands exchanged), and South draws the last trump with the ace. Declarer runs the diamonds, discarding two spades and a club; and finally he leads a club toward the king, giving up only one trick.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 8 7 4
♡ - 7 6
◇ - 7 3 2
♣ - J 10 9 4.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

A conservative player would pass, but most experts would talk themselves into raising to two spades.

The best play for slam is the method that goes down two when the contract is only a game!

Judge Denies Angela Dismissal Plea

By MARY LEYDECKER

The judge in the Angela Davis case yesterday finally turned down her plea to dismiss her case, rejecting her claim that the grand jury which indicted her was racist and not representative of the community.

Judge Richard E. Arnason ruled that no evidence had been presented to show that "any of the judges had consciously, deliberately, intentionally, arbitrarily or otherwise discriminated against any definable class" of citizens.

Miss Davis's attorneys had charged that black, young and poor persons had been excluded by superior court judges in making nominations for the grand jury.

Many hours had been spent in arguing the matter and hearing testimony, including that of four judges who said that they had sought out blacks for the grand jury.

The decision yesterday by Arnason, a Contra Costa County jurist, left only a handful of pretrial matters still pending in Miss Davis's case. A motion still to be taken up is one asking that her trial not start Sept. 27 as scheduled.

When all other pretrial motions are decided, Miss Davis's attorneys are expected to file a motion for change of venue, asking that the trial be moved from Marin.

Miss Davis, along with San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, is charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the shoot-out Aug. 7, 1970 at the Civic Center.

After Miss Davis left court yesterday, Magee was brought in to tell Judge Arnason why he had filed a motion last week asking to withdraw his waiver of his right to a speedy trial.

(Magee had earlier agreed to have his trial held after Miss Davis's is completed.)

Yesterday, however, the convict, his hair closely and erratically cut after the Aug.21 violence at San Quentin, said he had only filed the motion in order to get into court.

What he really wanted, he said, was for the judge to order his legal papers returned. They were taken when all cells in the prison's adjustment center were stripped following the bloodbath.

He also asked for paper and a pencil in order to file petitions, writs and responses, with which he has flooded the courts for years.

"This is ridiculous," snapped prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. "He filed that motion Friday. He must have had paper and a pencil, then."

The judge, however, ordered that he be supplied with paper and ordered the warden of San Quentin to return his other documents to him.

Harris had also objected to the return of the legal papers, saying they were being held by the district attorney who is investigating the Aug. 21 violence.

The judge agreed to hear on Sept. 22 Magee's complaint that he is not able to prepare his defense because of the current tight custodial situation at the prison.

Miss Davis is due to return to court tomorrow.

Library Friends Slate Book Sale

A two-day book sale will be held tomorrow and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Coop Shopping Center in Corte Madera by the Friends of Marin County Library.

Mrs. John W. Bissinger of Kentfield, chairman of the sale, said some books will be priced as low as five cents. Included are children's books, history, biography, poetry, music, humor, cook books, mysteries, and complete sets of fine books.

Club Closed

The Marin City Boys' Club is closed for painting and remodeling and will reopen again on Sept. 27, director Manford Chandler reported. When the facility reopens, Chandler said a complete auto mechanics workshop and photography lab will be available. Fall hours are 3 to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

20 Artists Will Exhibit In Tiburon

More than 500 paintings and works of sculpture by 20 artists will be displayed Saturday and Sunday at the Pandemonium gallery in Tiburon.

The show will be on from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days at the Pandemonium's outdoor show located in the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad yards opposite the Tiburon Ferry landing.

Atlantic Flier's Reasons Given

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Mrs. Sara Krasnoff loved her 14-year-old grandson but was obsessed with a desire to keep him from the "disgrace" of psychiatric treatment.

That's why, the boy's father said Wednesday, Mrs. Krasnoff and Mitchell Gelfand disappeared for almost two months and made scores of transatlantic flights.

Mitchell's father, Leonard Gelfand, told the bittersweet story of how her love became tangled in her old-fashioned ways and left her confused and running from reality until her death last week in Holland.

"I believe the thought that Mitchell might have to see a psychiatrist frightened her into doing this," he said. "She was from the old school, and psychiatrists meant disgrace to her."

Court Says Local Government Obsolete

Bill Ding lives in Happyville, a city that has both an ample tax base and a well-run government. He pays a city tax of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation. For this, the city keeps the streets he uses in good repair, provides adequate police and fire protection, offers good recreation and library services, maintains an attractive system of parks, and even picks up the Ding family garbage.

Bill Dong lives in Gloomytown, a city that has a low tax base, suffers from depression for lack of employment opportunities, and has been afflicted with inefficient government for some years. He pays a tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. The streets are full of chuck holes, police and fire protection are inadequate, as is the library. City recreation service is nil, and the only parks have deteriorated into weed-grown hangouts for undesirables. Dong must pay a private company $6 per month to pick up his family's garbage.

ARE BILL DONG and his Gloomytown neighbors entitled, by a class action suit, to force Bill Ding and the other taxpayers of Happyville to pay additional taxes which will be diverted to Gloomytown so that its residents theoretically may enjoy the same services for the same price which Happyville provides?

They are, according to the California Supreme Court.

The differences between Happyville and Gloomytown are the differences between "wealthy" and "poor" school districts, as seen by the court in its decision Aug. 31 that California's system of public school support is unconstitutional.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS in California derive their principal support from the property tax, although the percentage of the school dollar that comes from this source varies from district to district — as the percentage of city income from the same source varies from city to city. This is so not only because of different tax rates, but primarily because the taxable values behind each child vary widely from district to district — as the taxable values behind each resident vary from city to city.

Also — although the court took no note of this — management efficiency varies also from school district to school district. Some provide their children with maximum education per dollar; others fritter the money away — just as some cities do.

It is unconstitutional for one district to have plenty of money for schools with a low tax rate while another has too little despite a higher tax rate, said six of the seven California Supreme Court justices. This violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment, declared these learned jurists.

WHAT THE JUSTICES really said — although they probably didn't see this far — is that local government is a thing of the past. What they said, in essence, is that no local jurisdiction can have any control over its taxing and spending, because all must have equal amounts for equal services.

How much those amounts would be, if the justices' distortion of the Constitution were carried out, would have to be determined by some "expert" — who might turn out to be someone able to see no farther than the six judges of the California Supreme Court..

CAPITOL REPORT

Incentive Program Gets Toehold In Government

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — In private life, Assemblyman Robert C. Cline is a management consultant from Canoga Park, in the San Fernando Valley. At least, that is how the young Republican earned his living before he was elected to the Assembly in 1970.

So, it's to be expected that he would come up with "Cline's Law." And it is, in fact, a law. Governor Reagan signed Cline's AB 1751 just before the legislative recess. It will become effective 60 days after this year's session adjourns.

Cline's law authorizes county boards of supervisors to pay awards to citizens who come up with practical, money-saving ideas for government. The amount of the award is to be based on the size of the saving realized when the idea is put to use.

NOTHING STARTLING about Cline's law. Just common sense. But, it could help cut the cost of county government and save the taxpayers money.

Industry has been doing this sort of thing with its employes for years, saving millions of dollars and sharing the savings with the suggestion makers. The state government has a similar program, of sorts. But, those programs are for employes only.

Now citizens can get in on the act — at the county level — starting about the first of next year. And, that's good. In addition to the potential for cost-cutting and savings and awards, it should increase citizen interest in government operations. That, in itself, is a big plus.

Cline's law may even clear the hurdle of the bureaucrat who is too set in his rut to change his ways. It calls for independent review groups, established by the county supervisors, so that good ideas won't get the fast shuffle.

EVEN WITH CLINE'S law there remains one big problem. It's the same problem which exists whenever attempts are made to reduce the number of government employes.

Suppose someone comes up with a great idea to streamline an operation, make it more efficient and save time and money. Suppose the idea is put into the works and three or four bureaucrats are left with nothing to do. What happens? Easy! Dream up extra work.

It's one of Dr. Parkinson's laws: in government the work load increases to meet the work force. More people, more work. Not more productivity, just more work.

One of the main reasons for this feather-mattress conundrum is that office managers and division chiefs and section leaders are usually paid on the basis of the number of people they supervise. The greater the number of employes under their wings, the higher the salary. So, who is going to eliminate positions?

There's gotta be another way. And there is: base salaries on productivity instead of the number of personnel.

SUPPOSE THE ANNUAL operating budget for a department is $1 million a year. With that budget, and a certain number of employes positions, the department is expected to turn out so much work — process so many forms, handle so many caseloads, whatever.

Now suppose some smart administrator comes along and says to the department head or division chief: "Look, if you and your people can do the work and hold annual costs down to $900,000 the state will split the saving with you. You save 10 per cent — $100,000 — and half of that money will be divided among the employes in the department — a bonus.

"The remaining half — $50,000 — will go into a reserve fund along with the savings from other departments."

Who knows, there might even be enough for a tax cut, or at least to prevent an increase.

MAN BITES DOG

"Since we've moved to this location we've cut our welfare load 93 per cent."

"Americanization doesn't seem to be working any better than Vietnamization."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Promotion Ad's Realism Impresses

Your Aug. 30 ad (p-26), "When you plug your store into this, it means business," was so realistic — and so beautiful — that I had to consciously hold back my hand to keep from reaching to pick up the rolled I-J.

Sympathy For Families Of Quentin Victims

Compliments to you for the splendid editorial on Aug. 24, "A Lesson for All in Prison Tragedy." Friends brought it to me today.

I was a resident of Marin County for a number of years and have had the privilege of being friends with some of the fine people who work at San Quentin.

I feel a personal grief for those officers who suffered such a cruel and ignominious death and the greatest sympathy for their wives and children.

ELSIE MERRITT MEYERS

'Children Learn By Parents' Example'

Your editorial of Aug. 31 clearly points out several misunderstandings relative to birth control services for minors. Dr. Peter Batten, the resigning health officer of Marion County, Ore., makes the false assumption that providing contraception to minors without parental consent encourages sexual promiscuity. Experience at our clinic over the past several years has shown that the opposite is true: teenagers who seek birth control have more stable relationships, higher educational goals, better self-esteem, and more respect for their parents than those teenagers who come to us already pregnant. An interesting correlation is that many of the youngsters treated at the county VD clinic are using no method of birth control at all. It seems apparent that teen-agers who use birth control are more mature, responsible, and moral than those who do not.

The second false assumption is that sex education is a fact in Marin County schools. The truth is that even bare-bones instruction in human reproductive anatomy and physiology is seldom taught, let alone instruction in contraception. In the few schools where teachers attempt to instruct their students parental reaction often forces the classes to be dropped.

Let's put the blame where it really belongs — with the adult community. Last year in Marin County there were 1,503 divorces filed, 1,084 final decrees granted as against only 1,383 marriage licenses issued. Why don't you address yourself to adult promiscuity and immorality? After all, children learn primarily by their parents' example.

Proof Lacking Of Fluoride Danger

A short time ago you published a letter by Betty Franklin, executive director, Pure Water Association of America, citing some "concerned hypocrites about fluoride and fluoridation," and the names were impressive, if they are indeed concerned about the addition of fluoride to water for the purpose of promoting tooth health and the reduction of tooth decay.

However, nothing in Betty Franklin's letter demonstrated proof that fluoride added to water for the purpose stated above is actually and factually detrimental . . .

How Escape Science In School System?

As a somewhat ancient square I can always find something irritating in the news these days and as a result I am usually too jaded to react much to the inanities which regularly appear in the press and on radio and TV. However, the I-J Marin Magazine of Sept. 4 contained an article which set me wondering as to the state of education in Marin County. I refer to the one about the young man who has chosen organic gardening as his career. I do not object to his right to make his choice of career or to his life style, as it is described, although his method of gardening and way of living both seem to me to be impractical to say the least. What really bugs me (if you will pardon the expression in this context) is that a person can graduate from Tamalpais High School and be a student in the College of Marin and still maintain a belief in planting by the moon and astrological charts. How is it that he did not learn what truth is and how to test for it by the scientific method? Can anyone escape exposure to science and reason in Marin schools? What is there in the ambience that promotes non-science? Something is wrong, somewhere, for the young man, as singled out, actually represents almost a caricature of a presently common, rigidly stylized, non-imaginative and ignorant type.

I am aware that some adults, especially uneducated ones, and some presumable educated ones, influenced by "old country" family traditions, plant by the moon or would do so if they planted anything. It is a harmless custom in itself since all it does is restrict the time available for planting. But to believe seriously, in these times, that moon phases and zodiacal signs can influence the development of plants is bad. It is bad because it allows non-science and superstition to block the search for truth. It promotes reluctance to face reality, and failure to utilize established knowledge.

To be sure, I think that no educational system, however good it may be, can succeed in educating every person. The adages "you can lead a horse (or jackass) to water, but you can't make him drink" and "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear" sometimes apply. Some persons just seem to be born knotheads and may remain that way through a long life. For instance, Mr. William D. Fusselman's column on Fridays in the I-J suggests to me that he may be one of these.

Kennedy Should Clear Air By Unequivocal Disavowal

WASHINGTON — "I will not accept if nominated and will not serve if elected." Those were the unequivocal words of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman when the Republicans were trying to draft a military hero as their candidate. Very few politicians have had the courage to shut the door so irrevocably against the knocking of hope, however faint.

If Sen. Edward F. Kennedy were to make such a statement, the murky, confused picture of the Democratic rivals would be greatly clarified. Instead, when pressed on the matter of his own possible candidacy he has equivocated, denying any intention of running and yet leaving the door just slightly ajar.

The result is to increase the uncertainty over the outcome of the Democratic convention next year, with the lurking suspicion that in the event of a deadlock Kennedy is bound to be the nominee. This talk is more and more frequently heard.

REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS concerned about President Nixon's re-election shake their heads with mixed emotions. Could this young man be elected President with the memory of the tragic misadventure of Chappaquidick Island and its troubled aftermath still green? Yes, the gloomier oldsters in the GOP say, having in mind the magic of the Kennedy name.

As to his comparative youth — he is 39 — that cuts both ways. The polls show that most of the 18-to-21-year-olds not only have no memory of Chappaquidick, but if the name does mean something they consider the incident irrelevant to the question of Kennedy's fitness to be president. While older voters have a different attitude, the young — two-thirds of whom are registering as Democrats — may decide the election.

There is an even more serious reason why he should forego 1972. That is the dark shadow of tragedy hanging over the Kennedy family. The Washington Post reported recently that the Massachusetts senator gets more assassination threats than anyone except the President. The murder of Robert Kennedy occurred little more than three years ago and his assassin, Sirhan Sirhan, still sits in Death Row in that prison of infinite horrors, San Quentin.

WHAT PUTS A POINT to this is that four to six more years in the Senate would establish Kennedy as one of the ablest and outstanding men in that body. He has already taken the lead in two of the most-neglected areas and with an able staff he has brought to wide public attention issues vital to America's position at home and abroad.

One is medical care. The series of hearings he has held in various parts of the country have made abundantly clear two things. First is the inadequacy of the Nixon administration's program. The second, obvious enough as it should be, is the woeful lack of proper medical care for millions of Americans. The Kennedy subcommittee has thoroughly explored the reasons for the wretched deficiencies in whole regions.

The second service Kennedy has performed is through his committee on refugees, to make known the plight of the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese who have been wounded and maimed, driven out of their farms and villages and left to subsist in miserable camps. During the congressional recess Kennedy flew to India for a firsthand survey of the plight of the Bengalis — perhaps as many as eight million — who fled from East Pakistan when the West Pakistan army adopted a scorched-earth policy in putting down an alleged revolt.

The statements Kennedy made while in India served to increase what had been the all-too-little awareness of perhaps the greatest mass tragedy of this century, with more to come in famine and death unless far more help comes from the western powers.

UNDERSCORING the suspicion of the senator's ultimate intentions are the dedicated Kennedyites, many of whom are to be found in the camp of Sen. George McGovern, the only avowed candidate for the presidential nomination. For all the denials repeatedly put out, they are regarded as merely waiting the moment when they can shift to the surviving member of the family to whom their devotion is given.

Many of them are able, brilliant even. But this is not 1960, nor is it 1968. The magic of the days when these younger men considered themselves assigned to be the movers and shakers of a new era cannot be recreated in another Kennedy name.

Nobody Believes Chiang's Great Myth Any More

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For more than 20 years Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has been selling Brooklyn Bridge to the out-of-town yokels.

Not literally, of course. In Chiang's bracket the Brooklyn Bridge is peanuts.

What he has been selling is the myth that some day he and his ageing army of 600,000 men would return to the mainland from which they retreated in 1949.

Only in Chiang's case it was not a myth. He believed it. And he believed it so hard that many others believed it, too, including leaders of the United States, who spent billions of dollars supporting Chiang and his army and nurturing the thought that some day he would retake the mainland from the Communists.

NO ONE BELIEVES it anymore. Probably not even Chiang.

It is an idea that cannot be accepted without a touch of melancholy.

For more than 20 years, Chiang served as a sort of Asian Don Quixote, shattering his lance against the windmills of time and fate, lending strength to the hope that perhaps, after all, chivalry was not dead.

Never mind that Chiang's one-man rule of Taiwan had borne little resemblance to the West's concept of democracy.

He had been among the early founders of the United Nations set up as the guardian of man's ideals.

As he approaches his 84th birthday on Oct. 31, he is the last of the Big Five—Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, De Gaulle and Chiang.

WITHIN COMING WEEKS men who profess to be able to see through the mists which hide reality and give form and substance to unreality will debate Chiang's right to a seat in the world body he helped to found.

The debate will not be over whether China has a right to the seat.

It will be asked who and what is China. Are Chiang and 15 million men, women and children on Formosa China? Or are the mainland Communists China — they and nearly a billion persons living on the mainland?

The returns already are in. This year or next Chiang will lose his last status symbol as leader of a great nation.

Then another decision will be forced upon him —whether to swallow his words that for him it is all or nothing, or to try to stay in the U.N. on whatever terms he can get.

It may be progress but it is sad.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By SANDRA YOUNG

Marin Needs Bicycle Paths, But They're Not Whole Answer

Marin needs more bicycle paths.

Bicycles no longer are for kids or for riding just for enjoyment or exercise.

More and more residents are climbing onto bicycles for short commutes to the drug store, the post office, or the grocery store, freeing the highways of additional automobiles and the air of unwanted carbon monoxide.

And more would travel farther if safe connectors between cities were provided.

ALMOST DAILY, newspapers carry stories of youngsters who have broken an arm or a leg by riding into or being hit by a car.

Riding alongside a highway — even one that has been widened and striped — is not safe.

The pedestrian-bicycle path under construction along Tiburon Boulevard is a good idea — in part. The path definitely should be separated from the highway.

But it doesn't make any more sense to pit bicycle against pedestrian than it does to pit cicycle against automobile.

The Tiburon pathway is being built on the old railroad right of way; a bridle path is planned nearby.

Perhaps it will be separated by shrubs, a fence or something. Imagine what a mess that would be — horses, bicycles and pedestrians!

THE GREATER USE of bicycles creates other problems, also, like where to park and how to safeguard the bike against theft.

Cities will have to take bicyclists into consideration in planning municipal parking lots, perhaps with locks provided on the racks.

The Civic Center in San Rafael has bicycle racks built into the sidewalk, with depressions the size of a wheel to set the bicycle in. These seem to be less obstrusive than the portable racks used in some cities.

In order to better protect persons whose bicycles are stolen, better licensing requirements also are needed.

The cost of providing a network of bicycle paths throughout the county would be high indeed. But the cost of the environment and the high loss of lives each year in automobile accidents is at least as high.

Phu Quoc Island: Prison, Red Refuge

By BARNEY SIEBERT

SAIGON (UPI)—Cambodians, South Vietnamese and Americans all agree that Phu Quoc Island, site of Indochina's largest prisoner of war camp, is an important way station on a Communist infiltration route.

But they disagree on the direction the men and supplies are moving.

South Vietnamese officers and their American advisors at Phu Quoc say the supplies and men move south from Cambodia, island-hopping on small sampans the 10 miles from the Cambodian coast to the 35-mile-long isle.

The South Vietnamese say that arms and men are then carried eastward on junks and sampans the 50 miles to the coast of South Vietnam.

Some officers blame supply movement through Phu Quoc for throwing off schedule the nine-month-old drive to pacify the U Minh "Forest of Darkness," along the Gulf of Thailand, 135 miles southwest of Saigon.

American officers on Phu Quoc say they have intelligence reports that "important" inmates who escape from the 32,000 prisoner compound near the south tip of the island are met by Communist guerrillas in the northern part of the island and escorted to Cambodia to join Communist forces there.

Lower ranking POWs who escape from Phu Quoc link up with 130-man Communist guerrilla force that controls the northeast two-thirds of the island, and remain there as reinforcements, U.S. officers said.

At least 48 prisoners have escaped from Phu Quoc prison in the past four months. The most recent escape occurred Aug. 24 when guerrillas ambushed 15 South Vietnamese military police guarding 22 prisoners sent out of the barbed wire compound to cut timber. In the battle which followed, eight MPs were killed and six wounded. Nine prisoners were killed and seven wounded. Five prisoners escaped, spokesmen said.

In May groups of prisoners twice tunneled under the prison's barbed wire barriers and escaped, 27 in one group, 16 in another, military sources said. At least five of the 48 prisoners were believed to be important enough that they were shipped on to Cambodia, U.S. officers said.

Cambodian officers have a different idea about Phu Quoc.

Lt. Col. Chau Ben, deputy commander of the 10 battalions of Cambodian infantry which guard the deepwater port of Kompong Som and the area around it, said his intelligence shows the supply traffic is moving in the opposite direction, from Phu Quoc to Cambodia.

Ben said in an interview that most of the supplies Communist guerrilla bands in the southeast end of his district are using have been shipped in from Phu Quoc. "I think the Communists had the guns stockpiled on Phu Quoc since before we got into the war (March 18, 1970)."

Most of the Communist guerrillas on Phu Quoc are in the uninhabited jungles in the northeast part of the island, but U.S. officers say there is one platoon stationed just north of the prison compound.

Patrol craft based at An Thoi are charged with intercepting the supply sampans but seldom catch any. A chain of small rocky islands links Phu Quoc and the Cambodian mainland and the sampans can move from islet to islet when patrol boats are out of range.

Why We Are In Vietnam: Committee Finds New Reason

WASHINGTON — The "Why Are We in Vietnam Committee," otherwise known as WAWIVC, held its monthly meeting at the State Department last week, and for the first time there was an air of pessimism in the room. As everyone knows, WAWIVC was set up many years ago to provide presidents of the United States with solid reasons for American involvement in Vietnam.

Some of the reasons the committee has come up with in the past are:

A. To halt Communist aggression from the North.

B. To let Red China know we mean business.

C. To prevent Southeast Asian countries from falling like dominoes.

D. To keep American boys from having to fight on the shores of Hawaii.

E. To prove to Hanoi we are not a helpless giant.

F. To make sure the South Vietnamese people can choose their own leaders in democratic elections.

THIS LAST ONE was everyone's favorite. President Nixon kept repeating it in every speech about Indochina. Secretary of State Rogers, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon and Ambassador David Bruce in Paris all said the same thing: "The United States wants nothing for itself. It is only in South Vietnam to assure that the people there can decide their own fate."

You can imagine what happened at the WASIVC meeting when they were informed that President Thieu would be the only one on the ballot in the presidential election on Oct. 3.

The chairman of the committee said, "Gentlemen, I have just heard from President Nixon. He is very disappointed that no one has chosen to run against President Thieu and is once again hard put to explain what the United States is doing in Vietnam."

"WELL, IT ISN'T our fault that Vice President Ky wouldn't run against Thieu, or that General Minh bowed out of the race weeks ago," an assistant secretary of public affairs said.

"How did we know that Thieu would rig the elections so badly that even the opposition would see through him? a USIA psychological warfare expert said.

"Thieu should have warned Ky and Minh that they either had to run against him in democratic elections or they would be shot," a CIA man said.

"THAT'S NOT the point, gentlemen," the chairman of the committee said. "The fact is that Thieu is running alone. This is not our concern except that since it's now difficult for President Nixon to defend the American presence in Vietnam to guarantee free elections, we have to find him another reason to explain why we are still there. Now think."

"Suppose," an AID man said, "the president says the reason we are in Vietnam is to protect the American dollar?"

"I don't follow you."

"Well, we all know every high official in the South Vietnamese government has a secret Swiss bank account where he has stashed away millions of dollars. Now, if these officials traded their dollars in Switzerland for marks or French francs while the dollar is floating, it could hurt us badly.

"But as long as we remain in South Vietnam these officials will have faith in us and will keep their dollars in Switzerland."

"It's too complicated," the chairman said. "I want something simple."

"SUPPOSE WE SAY we're in Vietnam because we must protect freedom wherever it is found," a Pentagon man said.

There was dead silence in the room.

Finally the chairman said, "There has to be a reason that no one has yet thought of."

A State Department man scribbled something on a sheet of paper and then raised his hand. "This is it. The president must go on television tomorrow night and tell the American people the only reason we are in Vietnam is because it's there."

Wife Reports Husband Drafted Into Red Army

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (UPI) —Deborah Brackman Kreminiova, forced to leave the Soviet Union and her Russian husband last week, said Tuesday she has received word her husband was forced out of medical school and drafted into the Soviet army.

"I thought I would see him in maybe four months, but now it looks like at least two years," Mrs. Kreminiova said from her parents' Long Island home.

Mrs. Kreminiova, 22, a Russian studies major at Barnard College, married Valeri Kreminiova, also 22, Aug. 17 while visiting the Soviet Union with a student group. She was forced to leave last week after her visa expired.

She said a friend of hers, a Brown University coed who had just returned from the Soviet Union, smuggled notes to her from her husband saying he had not been allowed to return to Leningrad medical school and was drafted.

Quick Delivery Of Mail Vowed

San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy has announced that by Oct. 31 about 95 per cent of outgoing local first class mail will be delivered within a day.

Cassidy said letters mailed in San Rafael to points within the Bay Area and as far north as Eureka will reach the addressee within a day if mailed before 5 p.m.

More than half of the 52 million pieces of first-class mail handled annually are for delivery in the city where deposited or in nearby communities, he said.

Hub Drug Raid— Three Arrested

Three San Anselmo residents were booked into Marin County Jail after one of them allegedly sold marijuana to an undercover drug agent.

Agents said the sale was made by Paul Edward LeClair, 20, of 23 Durham Road. Following the sale, agents said, they followed LeClair to a residence at 178 Los Angeles Boulevard, where they arrested LeClair and two residents of the house.

Two and a half pounds of marijuana, an ounce of suspected cocaine and a small amount of suspected LSD were found at the residence, agents said.

James Franklin Reel, 22, and Martha Ann Martini, 28, both of the Los Angeles Boulevard address, were booked on suspicion of possessing narcotics, dangerous drugs, marijuana and marijuana for sale.

Le Clair was booked on suspicion of selling marijuana. He was held in lieu of $1,000 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Reel was held in lieu of $3,125 bail to appear in court tomorrow, and Miss Martini posted $1,000 bail also to appear in court tomorrow.

Bernstein's 'Mass': A Profound Offering

By DAVID E. ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Leonard Bernstein's "Mass," which officially opened the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, is a profound religious expression and a powerful dramatic and musical experience.

If such a ritual celebration as a mass can be said to have a story, this one is about the contemporary crisis of faith as centered in the celebrant, played and sung with perfect pacing by Alan Titus.

Using singers, dancers and bands, as well as chorus and orchestra, Bernstein anchors his piece in the traditional dramatic development of the mass leading to the Eucharist, or Holy Communion.

But as each portion of the ancient ritual develops there is a "contra," the penetration of the contemporary disbelief done in pop, rock and jazz forms. All of the time Alvin Ailey's remarkable dancers provide their own interpretation and comment on the proceedings with some of the most exciting choreography Washington has seen.

Always, however, the focus of the tension is on the celebrant, the priest who would lead his disbelieving congregation —not excluding the audience —in worship.

We first meet the priest in simple garb —blue jeans and a workshirt —and he reminds one of a troubador as he sings the lovingly lyrical "a simple song," and gathers his congregation about him.

As the mass progresses, he is slowly but increasingly vested, first with a robe and then with the other trappings of ecclesiastical office. Almost unnoticeable at first, it becomes obvious that the robing begins to set him apart from his fellows. Antagonism begins to build between the certainty of the faith expressed in the traditional mass and his fellows.

At the same time, the robing dramatically implies the weight or burden the faith puts on a man.

"Mass" was written especially for the inauguration of the Kennedy Center and the memory of the late John Kennedy is very much a part of the work.

But "Mass" is even more a work that has been written out of all the violence and hopes of the 1960s. Uncomfortable, yet comforting, "Mass" is timely in touching all contemporary social problems, in its cry for peace and, as the great art it is, timeless in its affirmation that man will endure and love his brother.

Punchless Giants Now Lead By Only Five Games

Bus Integration And Football Fans

With all the brouhaha over school busing raging across the land, including that metropolis on the foggy side of the Golden Gate, I decided to seek out a local sports angle last Saturday by attending the long-awaited integration of 49er and Raider fans.

"Could these bitter enemies co-exist on a bus?" I wondered as I arrived at Wiltshire Towers in San Rafael where Shaun Wiltshire's popular doubledecker London carriage was about to transport them to the Oakland Coliseum.

To my knowledge, this was the first time in the history of the intense cross-bay professional football rivalry that fans from both allegiances were to travel to a game in the same vehicle. I thought this would be like putting Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier in the same phone booth, so I wore my brains bucket, nose guard and Chicken Delight button, fearing the worst.

Heretofore, Shaun Wiltshire, founder and president of the Marin Chapter, Raiders Boosters Club, has used his jolly red transit for the exclusive use of his Raiders membership. But since joining the 49er Goal Rushers Club recently — "... as a public relations gesture," he explained — Wiltshire has set up transportation headquarters for both organizations. Wiltshire will run his bus for both groups during the season and on the three conflicting home dates this year will charter another vehicle for the Niners. Although they'll go their separate ways, the pre and post-game gatherings around the Towers' watering hole should be interesting.

Saturday's joint maiden voyage was without incident, other than some good natured needling. To ease the anticipated tension, Wiltshire threw a pre-game barbecue around the pool at his motel, "... to let the friendly rivals get acquainted," he said, "and to show the 49ers we Raiders have some class." Shaun even went so far as to decorate a couple of tables in 49er gold and red. And at the victuals dispensary he showed no favoritism, dishing out beef, beans and salad in equal portions to both groups.

Although there were more than twice as many Raider Rooters aboard the London import, the 49er group seemed quite relaxed and confident as we tooled eastward. Aboard were such long-time Niner Nuts as ex-Dist. Atty. Roger Garety, bowling baron Bill Nave Jr., barrister Richard Barry, furniture tycoon Milton Schwartz, Pacific Tel and Tel vice-president John Dills, and about a dozen others in the group of 65 — 32½ upstairs and an equal portion downstairs, one passenger being neutral.

As the 49ers were favored, their rooters did most of the needling en route, extolling the virtues of Brodie this and Washington that, constantly reminding their adversaries of San Francisco's 38-7 triumph the last time they invaded Oakland.

But the diplomatic Wiltshire averted any hard feelings by uniting the passengers in a harmonious version of the double-decker's theme song, "Oh, San Rafael, oh San Rafael, oh where the hell, is San Rafael? In old Marin, that land of sin . . ." etc. The lower deck sang the bass while the upper deck provided the overtones. I said flatly.

He also thoughtfully explained to 49er filberts the post-game procedures of locating the bus in the huge parking lot. "If you get lost," he said over the sound system, "just remember the bus' number is 7836. And if you can't remember that, keep in mind that it is red. And if you can't remember that, it's a doubledecker."

Turning to me, he explained: "I've lost a few Raider fans in the past who've had to hitchhike home, but I can't afford to lose any 49er fans." By the way, everyone found the bus, which is difficult to miss — even for a 49er.

During the game I was "fortunate" enough to sit two rows in front of a 49er filbert with one of those blasted air horns that lift you right out of your seat, to the left of a Raider tooter armed with a trumpet, (Charge!) and directly in front of vociferous Oakland advocates Rex Hickman, vice president of First American Title Co. of Marin, and Laverne Robinson, den mother for the upper deck of Wiltshire's double-barreled carriage.

After the Raiders scored the winning touchdown, Hickman and Mrs. Robinson pummeled me with their bulky souvenir programs and I, a director of the 49er Goal Rushers, thought: "Boy, is it going to be a long ride home."

But I eased my pain with the eternally hopeful thought: "Wait 'til next year. Just wait!" But it was still a long ride home.

SAILS ON SILVER BREEZE

With sails silhouetting the sky backdrop, Knarr Class yachts are making a pretty picture this week on San Francisco Bay. In an intense battle for Knarr Regatta leadership, Al Blair of Sausalito clings tenaciously to a six-point lead going into today's fourth round. He is battling 19 rivals along a 11.5 mile course. The skippers took a day off yesterday and resumed the six-race series today.

Atlanta Next Foe For S.F.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers are still in second place in the National League West today but the first-place San Francisco Giants are running a bit scared with their lead cut to five games.

Bill Singer set the Giants down with two hits Wednesday night and with relief help from Jim Brewer got his eighth win against 16 losses. His fast ball was sinking and the Giants had only two base runners until the ninth inning when Singer walked two men with one out.

Brewer came in to walk Willie Mays and fill the bases but then got Bobby Bonds to hit into a game-ending double play.

The Dodgers return to action tonight in the opening game of a three-game series against the Padres at San Diego. The Giants have an off day, flying to Atlanta where they open a weekend series against the Braves Friday night.

On Monday, the Giants and the Dodgers meet at Candlestick Park in the beginning of a two-game series which may determine the winner in the NL West.

The Giants, with slugger Willie McCovey sidelined because of a hand injury, did not hit with their customary vigor against the Dodgers.

They got a total of only 11 hits in dropping the three games here after losing a double-header at home Sunday.

Manager Charlie Fox had no explanation. He was speechless after the third loss but Hal Lanier and Juan Marichal were not.

Marichal took his 10th loss against 14 wins. He went five innings, walked three and did not strike out a man, a rare thing for him against the Dodgers.

Always smiling, he complained after the game that the balls used were large —too large for his hands to grip.

"Before the game they gave me a small ball to warm up with," he said. "After the game start, they gave me nothing but big ones. I don't like to make excuses but my hands are small. They don't even take the grease off the balls either."

Lanier told anyone who cared to listen:

"If they (the Dodgers) think they're in, they're out of their cotton-picking minds. We're not dead yet. We haven't been hitting but we're still in front like we've been all season."

The only Giant hitters against Singer were Ken Henderson and Chris Speier. Henderson got a leadoff double to right in the first inning. He got as far as third on an infield out but expired there. Speier beat out a hit to the right side of the infield in the second inning. All night long off Singer the Giants hit only four balls fair out of the infield.

TRYING TO BREAK SPELL

49ers, Rams In TV Game

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners are having an unusual time of it in preseason games —for the first time since 1962 they have a chance to win four exhibitions.

They haven't beaten the Los Angeles Rams in a preseason game since 1962 but they'll try again tonight with perhaps more chances for success. The game will be televised on Channel 2, 8 o'clock.

San Francisco coach Dick Nolan does not place too much stress on exhibition games but the Forty Niners have lost only one —to Oakland —tied one and won three this year.

The Rams, displaying a lack of passion about winning under new coach Tommy Prothro, have a 3-3 record.

The game means nothing in the final standings but will probably draw 55,000 fans to Memorial Coliseum.

Both sides are reported healthy. Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel suffered a rib separation in the 20-14 loss last Friday to San Diego but has recovered. If he so much as stubs a toe, however, Prothro has indicated he will send in a backup man —Jerry Rhome or Karl Sweetan.

John Brodie, the National Football Conference's most valuable player last season when the Forty Niners won the Western Division, played his first full game against the Raiders and threw two touchdown passes.

Gabriel was sacked five times by the Chargers but should get better protection tonight. Guard Tom Mack, sidelines for four games with a dislocated great toe, will return to action. Joe Scibelli, hampered last week by a thumb fracture, should be improved and tackle Charlie Cowan, laid low by gout, is reported healthy again.

All of Gabriel's potential targets are in A-1 shape — running back Les Josephson and Willie Ellison, backfield starters, flanker Lance Rentzel and wide receiver Jack Snow and tight end Bob Klein.

This is the last exhibition game and Brodie will try to sharpen up his passes. Starting in the backfield with him will be Ken Willard and Doug Cunningham with Gene Washington and Dick Witcher as wide receivers and Bob Windsor at tight end.

Backup quarterback Steve Spurrier is on the injured waiver list and if Brodie needs a rest, rookie Joe Reed, an 11th round draft choice from Mississippi State, will get a chance.

The Rams open the regular season against the Saints at New Orleans on Sunday, Sept. 19. The Forty Niners begin defense of their Western Divison title on the same day against the Falcons at Atlanta.

Hunter's Thoughts Of No. 20

OAKLAND (UPI)—Big Jim Hunter admits he wants to win 20 games for the Oakland A's this season and he won't be sorry if he hits the magic figure on the road.

The Catfish took number 19 Wednesday night as he blanked California 1-0 on four hits Wednesday before a sparse crowd at the Oakland Coliseum.

When Kansas City lost, it cut Oakland's division-clinching magic number to seven.

Hunter, who never pitched in the minors, will shoot for number 20 next Monday in Kansas City, where he broke in to the majors in 1965.

He admitted that he wants to win 20 "just to get it over with" and that he would be glad to win it in Kansas City.

"I don't think the fans here in Oakland care if I won 20 or not," he said bluntly. "Look at the small crowd we had tonight (3,264) and the small crowd that came to see Vida Blue last night (6,678). But it doesn't matter to me if there's just two people in the stands or where it happens. All I want to do is win number 20."

The game was a heartbreaker for Rudy May to lose.

He also hurled a four-hitter and the A's lone tally came in the fifth on Angel Mangual's single, two walks and a pair of throwing errors on pickoff attempts.

What's more, it appeared to at least two players that the Angels had tied it up with one down in the last inning when the awesome looking Roger Repoz belted one into the night.

"I thought it was gone," Hunter said later. "I was surprised to see Mangual even bother to run back to the fence."

Mangual caught it against the fence for the out.

YOUNG TENNIS SENSATION

Chris To Face Billie Jean

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Chris Evert never believes she'll survive until tomorrow.

But with her life-or-death style on every point, she doesn't have to worry.

She earned one more tomorrow when she defeated hard-muscled Australian Lesley Hunt 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 Wednesday to advance to the semifinals of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Now the familiar faces from former years who have been shunned by the crowds and shunted onto the side courts whenever Chris played are looking toward Billie Jean King to call a halt on Friday. Mrs. King, the 1967 champion and top seed, moved into the showdown with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over Laura DuPont of Wilmington, Del., another upstart who beat Nancy Richey Gunter in the previous round.

Even the U.S. men have been unable to compete with Miss Evert's charm. In the absence of many stars, including Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver, the U.S. players have marched almost unnoticed toward an all-American title match.

Four American men made it to the quarterfinals, and fifth-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., seemed on his way to joining them with a 7-5,4-4 lead over Yugoslavian Nikki Pilic Wednesday when the match was suspended because of darkness.

In quarter-final matches today, unseeded Frank Froehling of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., opens on the center court against Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia. Their match will be followed with third-seeded Arthur Ashe of Miami against Manuel Orantes of Spain and No. 7 Clark Graebner of New York against Tom Okker of Holland.

Graebner advanced to the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Ray Moore of South Africa while Okker beat England's Roger Taylor 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. In another match, Army private Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif. was leading 7-5, 3-2 when self-exiled Czechoslovakian Milan Holecek retired with a pulled hamstring muscle.

However, the match that brought the crowd of 8,901 to life was between Miss Evert and Miss Hunt.

The match hardly seemed even, a 21-year-old veteran, ranked 10th in the world with the Australia and French titles in her past, going against a 16-year-old schoolgirl, unranked in her own country.

The match wasn't even after the first set. Clutching her racquet with both hands, coldy surveying her opponent and always being there to bat the ball back just one more time, Miss Evert survived one more day, longer than anyone expected.

49ers Trade Randolph For Future Draft Pick

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers Wednesday traded veteran safety Alvin Randolph to the Green Bay Packers for an undisclosed future draft choice.

Randolph, 27, is entering his sixth pro season. The 6-foot-2, 196-pounder from the University of Iowa was the 49ers thirdround draft choice prior to the 1966 season.

The 49ers also released four rookies to reduce their roster to 44 players. They were wide receiver Sam Dickerson of the University of Southern California, linebacker Marty Huff of Michigan, center Willie Parker of North Texas State and cornerback Dave Walker of Utah.

Randolph has been used as a backup man to cornerbacks Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor and safeties Mel Phillips and Rosey Taylor. Randolph is expected to join Green Bay in time to make the trip to Buffalo for a pre-season game against the Bills this weekend.

The heated exchange changed nothing as the Giants bowed 3-0, diminishing their lead to five games.

Packers Cut Pitts, Five Others

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Another part of the Vince Lombardi era is gone at Green Bay.

Elijah Pitts, one of the many fine running backs developed by Lombardi during his glory years at Green Bay in the mid-1960s, Wednesday cleared waivers and was placed on the Packers' taxi squad.

Also relegated to the Green Bay taxi squad were Cal Withrow, Leo Harden and Ken Duncan, while kicker Dale Livingston and Rookie Pat Houlton were released outright.

Kansas City traded wide receiver Frank Pitts, a spot starter, to Cleveland for a draft choice and recalled four players — Mike Adamle, Chuck Hixson, Bruce Jankowski and Dennis Homan — from waivers.

The New England Patriots traded running back Eddie Ray to San Diego and acquired wide receiver Mike Haffner from Denver for a draft choice next year. The Pats also released wide receiver Jim Livesay and claimed linebackers Ed Weisacosky from Miami and Chip Bennett from Cincinnati.

San Diego traded offensive tackle Tony Liscio, acquired from Dallas in the Lance Alworth deal, to Miami for center Carl Mauck. The Chargers released three veterans — Joe Owens, Dave Grayson, a former Oakland Raider, and J. R. Wilburn — and three rookies — Lee Thomas, Gary Nowak and Mel Rogers.

The New York Giants acquired quarterback Randy Johnson from Atlanta as part of the deal which sent Dick Shiner, also a quarterback, to the Falcons last week.

Baltimore cut Dave Jones, Paul Maliska and Mike Hogan, put Ken Mendenhall on the taxi squad and added Bill Atessis to the injured waivered list while announcing that Sam Havrilak will return to his running back post after a trial at quarterback.

Philadelphia trimmed quarterback Jim Ward and defensive back Ray Jones, their No. 2 draft pick last season.

Minnesota assigned veteran Dale Hackbart and Godfrey Zaunbrecher to the taxi squad and cut Kreg Kapitan, Kent Kramer, a former San Francisco 49er, and Mike Walker.

Los Angeles claimed running back Lee White, a former first-round draft choice, from the New York Jets and assigned Bob Thomas, Ken Geddes, and Larry Crowe to the taxi squad and Mike Wilson to the injured list.

Chicago trimmed veterans Phil Clark and Ray Ogden and John Neidert, Ted Wheeler, Larry Bowden, Sid Bailey and Willie Lewis while Oakland identified four of the nine players waived Monday as Glenn Ellison, Tom Gipson, Bubba Thornton and Lloyd Edwards.

Cleveland cut veteran defensive back Erich Barnes, Don Gault and Charley Brinkman and assigned the three to the taxi squad and released Larry Zelina while Pittsburgh announced that waivers had cleared on Bob Leahy, Chuck Beatty, Hubie Bryant, Terry Cole, Paul Rogers, Ralph Anderson, Rick Sharp and Burt Askson.

Buffalo dropped Waddie Harvey, J. C. Collins and John Leypoldt and New Orleans wiaved David Haverdick and George Jakowenko and relegated Craig Robinson, Jim Cooch and Richard Harvey to the taxi squad.

In Friday action, the Jets play New England at Memphis, Green Bay is at Buffalo and St. Louis entertains Cleveland. On Saturday Atlanta is at San Diego, Cincinnati at Washington, Baltimore meets Oakland at Jacksonville, Fla., Kansas City is at Dallas, Miami at Minnesota while on Sunday, the last day of pre-season play, Denver is at Chicago, Detroit at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at the New York Giants and Houston at New Orleans.

Hockey Signups Slated Sunday

Marin County youths will have two more junior hockey teams to choose from when they sign up Sunday between 10 a.m. and noon at Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera.

The new pair of squads are the Mites, 8 years of age or under, and the Midgets, 16 and under. The two will join the already existing Bantams, 14 and under; Pee Wees, 12 and under; and the Squirts, 10 and under.

Those signing up will get two hours of free skating, Don Anderson, league spokesman said.

In addition, he added, hockey and skating instruction will be provided between noon and 2 p.m.

Pro Kicker Award

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) —Now the pro football kickers will be honored with their own award. It'll be called the Golden Toe Award and will be presented —along with $1,000— to pro football's leading kicker or punter. A shoe company is sponsoring the award to recognize the pro athletes who are putting the "foot" into football.

BANDUCCI AT THE HELM

New Grid Era At Marin

When rookie coach Bruno Banducci opened football practice Aug. 23, he ushered in a new gridiron era for Marin Catholic High School.

An assistant last year, the All-Time San Francisco 49er guard great was elevated to the helm with aspirations he could improve on the school's recent so-so performances, exemplified by last year's 4-5 won-lost record.

However, the University of Santa Clara alumnus realizes it will be tough, if only because school enrollment hovers around the 900 mark, far below that of rivals in the area.

He also is aware that lack of line size and inexperience in several spots could adversely affect game results. "We don't have strong boys up front," Banducci says in viewing the opening practice turnout. However, if enthusiasm and coaching skills win championships, the Blue and White could go undefeated.

Unfortunately for Marin Catholic followers, it will take more. Yet, the foundation is there. With quarterback Steve Sherry returning, the coach claims, "We will put the ball in the air. We have a good passing offense."

Banducci points out that his drop back passer will throw the bomb on occasion. A likely recipient will be junior varsity graduate Russ Knudsen, a promising flanker prospect blessed with good hands and moves, according to the coach.

"We also like to throw to our running backs," Banducci adds, referring to his reliables Pat Parnow, a co-captain, Don Nelson and Rich Cervisi, another J.V. offshoot.

Chuck Lauderback, John Schalich and converted linebacker Jack Stahl, a tight end, are other possible targets.

This passing emphasis is geared to pressure opposing cornerbacks, force defensive mistakes and indecision, while capitalizing on Sherry's tossing talents. But, if the line fails to hold, Sherry may sprint out to either run or pass.

This action would burden linebackers with problems of containment and could possibly open the Marin Catholic running game, something Banducci would like. With a solid running attack, the pass rush would slacken the pressure on Sherry to cover for the run. In addition, a good ground assault would facilitate the line's development around returning guard and co-captain, Paul Ricardi, and John Iavarone. The former is 6-0, 185 and the latter is 6-0, 200. Iavarone is currently making the difficult transition from tackle to center, a move designed to bolster pass blocking execution.

With Iavarone concentrating in practice on the changeover, his veteran colleague Ricardi will again sharpen his two-way abilities. Ricardi serves as a linebacker in Banducci's newly installed stunting defense.

Blacks Bid For NFL Franchise

BOSTON (UPI) — A group of black athletes and entertainers have been planning for more than a year to petition the National Football League for an expansion franchise, the Boston Record American said Wednesday.

The report said Memphis had been selected as the site for the new club with "strong sentiment" towards naming the team the Memphis Kings in honor of the late Rev. Martin Luther King who was slain there in April, 1968.

Baseball

ATLANTA (UPI) — An attorney for Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty Wednesday won a postponement for the hearing on charges that the slugger struck a police officer and "created a turmoil."

Frank Hester said he wanted the case delayed because he had numerous witnesses he planned to present in Carty's behalf. The case was reset for Sept. 22.

Three police officers, two of whom were off duty at the time, were fired as a result of the incident. Carty accused the two off-duty policemen of harassing him and provoking a fight.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Kansas City's ultra-modern Harry S. Truman sports complex, scheduled to open next season, will be the showcase for the 1973 all-star baseball game, it was announced today.

The complex, which also houses a football stadium for the Kansas City Chiefs, will bring baseball's showpiece attraction back to Kansas City for the second time. The first all-star game played here was July 11, 1960, with the national league winning, 5-3.

The 1972 all-star game will be played in Atlanta.

Bums, Squids, Cain's Win Softball Games

The Bums trimmed the Scrappers 11-8, the Squids beat the Aliens 13-10, and Cain's Tires whitewashed the Doves 2-0 in San Rafael Recreation Department softball last night on Albert Field.

Dan Thoemke pitched a one-hitter for Cain's Tires, and chuck Jackson drove in five runs with a single and a double to lead the Squids assault. Steve Woodward plated two with a pair of sacrifice flies in leading the Bums to victory.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Inconsistent Kaat Wins For Twins

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There have been times this season when Jim Kaat, a one-time 25-game winner, has looked great. But then, that's the story of most of Kaat's baseball career.

The big left-hander is very, very hard to beat when he's on his game, but, unfortunately for the Minnesota Twins, consistency has rarely been one of Kaat's assets. He's thrown a two-hitter, a three-hitter, a four-hitter, a couple of five-hitters and a six-hitter in some of his better moments this year.

But the moments haven't been long enough or the control steady enough and the result has been an 11-12 record.

Kaat, however, looked very good, indeed, Wednesday night against Chicago, throwing "mostly fastballs" and going with "my best control this season," as he set down the White Sox on four hits to give the Twins a 3-1 triumph.

He had a perfect game until, with two out in the fifth, Steve Huntz singled. The White Sox finally scored in the ninth as Rick McKinney singled, advanced on an infield out and raced home on Carlos May's single.

Wilbur Wood, trying for his 20th victory, was tagged with his 11th loss instead and had a string of 24 scoreless innings ended when the Twins scored twice in the third. George Mitterwald opened with a single, moved up on Kaat's sacrifice and scored on Cesar Tovar's single. Tovar, taking second on the throw to the plate, scored on Steve Braun's single.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York nipped Boston 2-1 in 11 innings, Detroit tripped Washington 5-3, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 7-6 and Oakland beat California 1-0.

In the National League Pittsburgh bombed Chicago 10-1, Montreal clubbed New York 10-2, Los Angeles beat San Francisco for third straight time 3-0 and Cincinnati whipped San Diego 4-1.

A sacrifice fly by John Ellis drove in Roy White from third base with one out in the 11th inning and kept the Yankees' slim third place chances alive. They trail the Red Sox by three games.

Berts Tryst Wins

SAN MATEO (UPI)—Berts Tryst ($4.40) held off the closing challenge of Broaching and Logistic to score a half-length victory Wednesday in the featured San Carlos Purse At Bay Meadows.

Gates Brown, Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Freehan cracked home runs as the streaking Tigers completed a three-game sweep of the Senators and gained their seventh victory in the last eight games.

Jose Cardenal slugged a grand-slam homer, the second of his career, off starter-loser Al Fitzmorris in the fifth inning and after the Brewers added two more runs in the inning, they held a 7-0 lead.

IN A ROUGH DIVISION

Raiders Will Be Tough

OAKLAND (UPI)—Imagine, if you will, the Oakland Raiders being tougher this year than last.

Hard as that might seem, it's all very possible, although it necessarily doesn't mean they will win their division title in the American Conference.

Lest anyone forgets in a hurry they won their Division last year because of the storybook heroics of 43-year-old George Blanda. He'd have to do it again, and that might be asking too much.

Still, the Raiders in 1971 will be formidable, and maybe they won't need Blanda to pull victories out of the fire as he did six times a year ago.

Daryle Lamonica rates as one of pro football's better quarterbacks and this year he will have a real standup backup man in Ken Stabler, the man they call the "Snake" for the way he threads a ball through traffic.

There was very little wrong with the Raider running game a year ago with Hewritt Dixon, Charlie Smith, Marv Hubbard and Pete Banaszak. Now, they have added Clarence Davis and Don Highsmith to the group, and all those two have done in the exhibition games this summer is show how good they are.

"No, I don't think we have much to worry about as far as our running game goes," says coach John Madden. "We have a lot of horses and the problem will be to get them all in."

The Raider receiving corps has been augmented, too.

A year ago Oakland had Warren Wells, Fred Biletnikoff, Drew Buie and Rod Sherman as wide receivers and Ray Chester, Ted Koy and Jacque Mac Kinnon as tight ends.

To that fine group have been added Eldridge Dickey and Bob Moore. Moore is the tight end who made all those big catches for Stanford in its upset over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

Offense the Raiders have, and then some.

To make all of it work a little better Oakland picked up tackles Bob Brown, from the Rams, and Ron Mix, a free agent. Add to them an already fine offensive line and you start thinking maybe the Raiders shouldn't lose a game.

That's almost impossible, but not improbable because Blanda is still alive and kicking as well now as he ever has done. And the Old Gaffer still slings the ball, when need be to use him at quarterback, with authority and accuracy.

"I'm pleased with our offense," says Madden cautiously, because he knows injuries can kill any team, no matter how talented. "We'll just play along and see what happens. It's foolish for me to make any predictions, either about my club or any other team. All I'll say on that score is that our division has improved up and down and we should be in a tough race."

While most people talked about the Oakland offense last year, the defense saved the day enough times to make other coaches believe maybe that was really Oakland's strong suit.

The defensive line is experienced and tough as usual. Tony Cline joined Ben Davidson at end last year and deported himself in fine style. Seven-year pros Tom Keating and Carlton Oats are back at tackle, and so, too, are Dan Conners and Gus Otto at linebacker. Behind the latter two are such experienced hands as Bill Budness, Duane Benson, Gerald Irons and Bill Enyart, the former Oregon State star who came over from Buffalo.

There are experienced people in the secondary as well with Willie Brown, George Atkinson, Nemiah Wilson and Jimmy Warren, plus newcomrs Jack Tatum of Ohio State, Bill West of Tennessee State and Carl Weathers. Weathers was tried out at linebacker last year but will be used at safety this year.

The winning habit runs deep in the Raiders, who have taken their division four years running. Their only frustration is an inability to win a Super Bowl Game.

No one talks of the Super Bowl this early in the year, least of all Madden, who generally is a very cautious man.

"First things come first," he says. "You can't get into the playoffs until you win the division and you can't win the division except by concentrating on each game as it comes up. Our goal right now is to win our first regular season game."

THIS DAY IN SPORTS

Pop Warner Football's Big Weekend

The 18th annual Pop Warner Football Festival will be played Saturday starting at 1 p.m. on the College of Marin field and continue the following day at noon at Marin Catholic, seven games in all.

The Saturday schedule pits Novato and San Marin at 1 p.m. in Senior Pee Wee play followed by a 2:45 p.m. Senior Midget clash between Novato and San Marin. At 4:45 p.m. San Rafael tackles Petaluma in a second Senior Pee Wee game.

The next day at Marin Catholic, Drake clashes with Tamalpais in a Senior Pee Wee contest at noon. Drake and Tam teams will meet in a Senior Midget battle at approximately 1:45 p.m. Redwood faces Terra Linda in a Senior Pee Wee tilt at 3:45 p.m. A Redwood-Terra Linda Senior Midget meeting concludes the festivities at 5:30 p.m.

Condors Pick Lost

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Levi Wyatt, the Pittsburgh Condors No. 2 draft choice, has a rare form of tuberculosis and will be sidelined for the entire 1971-72 season. Wyatt played his college ball at Alcorn A&M.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF

Hachmeyer In Golf Lead

Bob Hachmeyer and defending champ George Scherba lead members of the Indian Valley Golf Club at the halfway mark in qualifying for positions in the Club Championship tournament.

Hachmeyer fired a 74 and Scherba a 75 in the opening round last Sunday, with final 18 holes of the qualifying round coming up this Sunday. Top four in all flights will advance to two rounds of match play to determine the champs.

Leading in the First Flight are Hal Hollenbeck, 80-13 — 67, and Al DeLucas, 78-11 — 67. Second Flight leaders are Dick Krugman and Bryce Sabin, each with scores of 86-15 — 71.

SAN RAFAEL Kiwanis Club will sponsor the Marin Amateur Golf championships on Oct. 9 at San Geronimo National. Entries are limited to the first 240 paying the $10 entry fee before Oct. 1.

The tourney will include championship, handicap and Calloway flights, plus a putting contest. A 1972 Chevrolet will be the prize for a hole-in-one. Entries should be mailed to San Rafael Kiwanis Club, Box 353, San Rafael. Proceeds of the tourney will go to Kiwanis-led community youth work.

THE 1971 REDWOOD Pro-Am golf tournament will be held Oct. 16-17 at Santa Rosa Golf and Country Club. That's the weekend prior to the Kaiser International Open in Napa. The field will include 50 touring pros and 150 amateurs, a $10,000 purse for the pros.

GIANTS

could hardly be heard over the cheers for Singer.

The big right hander who got off to a bad start this year because of a series of ailments said:

"I don't know how to describe it but it really picked me up to beat the Giants three straight. We're still five out and we've got a long way to go but we've got some momentum."

The Dodgers got Singer a run in the first when Maury Wills and Richie Allen walked and Willie Crawford bounced a single up the middle.

In the third, Wills led off with a single and raced home when Parker tripled off the centerfield fence. Parker scored after Willie Davis beat out an infield hit and Allen hit into a double play.

"This game was the big one for us," said manager Walt Alston.

YMCA Announces Sports Program

The Marin YMCA unveiled this week an ambitious fall sports program, which includes sailing, physical fitness, gymnastics and basketball.

For examples, an individualized, beginning sailing class opens Saturday, Oct. 2, on Richardson Bay, costing $15 for members, $2 more for nonmembers. The Mill Valley Yacht Harbor will host an introductory class in small sailboat use starting the same day and on Saturday, Nov. 6. The three-hour, five lesson undertaking has the same $15-$17 payment arrangement.

All young adults with the $20 YMCA membership slip are invited to participate in a co-ed drop-in physical fitness program opening Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 7-9 p.m. Volleyball, basketball, and exercises will be included in the program.

Girls 8 through 18 can enroll in the beginning and intermediate gymnastics curriculum which includes an introduction to tumbling, free exercise, uneven bars, balance beam, and horse. Five classes are available each week for beginners starting Tuesday, Oct. 5 for 11 weeks.

Beginners meet Mondays from 6-7:30 p.m. and 7:30-9 p.m. Classes are also given Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. Intermediates can participate Wednesdays from 7-9 p.m. and Thursdays, 6-7:30 p.m. and 7:30-9 p.m. Toddlers, four years or younger, meet for an hour session Wednesday evenings at 8:30.

Gymnastic program fees vary from $25 for members to $30 for non-members and $20 for Toddler-members, $25 for non-member four-year-olds.

A basketball league will open Monday, Oct. 4, running through Dec. 30 for young men 15 years or older. Y Basketball League teams will play in either an "A" or "B" division, based on ability. Drake High School in San Anselmo and the Marin City Manzanita Center Gym will host the play. An $8 per player or $120 per team fee will be levied, whichever is greater. A refundable $15 forfeit payment is also required.

These finances must be paid at the coaches meeting next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA, according to a YMCA brochure.

HOW TO BE SURE YOUR HOUSE SITS INSTEAD OF SELLS

You can put up a sign and wait for a prospect. Or advertise, and wait for the phone to ring. Both are guaranteed to get you more "lookers" than buyers.

Save time. See us first. We're Realtors; experts who know how to price your home, promote your home, and bring you real prospects. Professionals who are pledged to a strict code of ethics, and work in your best interests. So you can relax, knowing you're being taken care of. Professionally.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, if you list with multiple listing, you will immediately have 800 professionals working for you.

An Estate With A Gate

Leads into this country setting on 7.70 acres, located on Bennet Valley Road. This large California ranch home has a heavy shake roof and large over-sized garage and is in a magnificent setting amongst numerous oak trees and natural rock out croppings. It was built in 1970 by one of Marin county's finest builders. Double hand-carved doors lead into an imported Mexican tile entry. The living room has beamed ceilings and beautiful carpeting. The kitchen is a gourmet's dream. The family room has a wall to wall fireplace of Sonoma stone with a wet bar & refrigerator plus a Franciscan Forge Barbecue, which is smokeless and odorless. There are 4 bedrooms. The master bedroom suite has a sumptuous, sunken bath and "his & her" walk-in closets in the dressing room. There is also another large bath with twin dressing tables and a separate powder room. A large patio is enhanced with olympic-size pool which is heated and filtered. For horse-minded people, there is a new barn with loft and tack room. Other amenities too numerous to mention. May we show you, by appointment. Asking $125,000. Exclusive. Evenings 897-1574.

SUMMONS No. 61078

LOUIS PALAZZI and ELEANORA PALAZZI, Plaintiffs, vs.
ALL PERSONS UNKNOWN, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiffs' ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiffs' title thereto, Defendants.

TO THE DEFENDANTS:

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint within 30 days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise, your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the relief demanded in the complaint.

This action is brought to determine the adverse claims to and clouds upon the title to the real property described in the complaint herein and hereinafter described by the said plaintiffs, who claim that by themselves they have been in the actual, exclusive, and adverse possession of such property continuously for 20 years prior to the filing of the said complaint, claiming to own the same in fee against the whole world and to have paid all taxes of every kind, levied or assessed against the said property during the period of 5 years continuously next preceding the filing of the said complaint, and which said real property is situated in the City of San Anselmo, County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows:

COMMENCING at the most Easterly corner of Lot 12, as the same is shown on the map entitled, "Amended Map No. 2, Bush Tract, San Anselmo, Calif.", and running thence along the Southeasterly line of said Lot 12 South 28° 59' West 226.0 feet to the most Southerly corner of said Lot; thence South 60° 39' East 12 feet to a point on the Southeasterly line of the parcel of land described in the deed from White Investment Company to Civic Land Company recorded December 31, 1904 in Volume 90 of Deeds, at page 381, in the Recorder's office for Marin County, California, thence along the last named line North 28° 59' East (called North 26° East in the deed to Civic Land Co.) 226 feet, more or less, to the Southerly line of Ash Avenue, as the same is shown on the aforementioned Amended Map No. 2 of the Bush Tract and thence along the Southerly line of said Ash Avenue North 56° 17' West 12 feet, more or less, to the point of commencement.

YOU MAY SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN ANY MATTER CONNECTED WITH THE COMPLAINT OR THIS SUMMONS. SUCH ATTORNEY SHOULD BE CONSULTED PROMPTLY, SO THAT YOUR PLEADING MAY BE FILED OR ENTERED WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY THIS SUMMONS.

Bike Path Bill Gets The Votes

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to establish a statewide network of bicycle paths stalled since July in an Assembly committee, now has the 11 votes needed to be sent to the lower house floor.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, said he had the signatures of the majority of the members of the ways and means committee.

The committee, chaired by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, traditionally sends to the floor any bill getting 11 signatures by its members, but Behr's staff said the senator's bill nevertheless will be set for a committee hearing.

The measure, SB 265, previously passed three other committees and the Senate without opposition.

Youth Swims Eight Hours To Freedom

LUEBECK, Germany (UPI) —A 24-year-old East German escaped to West Germany Tuesday by swimming eight hours across the Bay of Luebeck in the Baltic Sea, police reported today.

A police spokesman said a West German Coast Guard boat picked up the refugee when he was still three miles from the West German port of Travemuende. He was taken to the hospital suffering from exposure.

New Look At Black History

By PHILIP REED Jr.

BOSTON (UPI)—The headline across the newspaper's front page declares: "Rhode Island Slaves to Fight Redcoats."

"Starting today, Rhode Island slaves will be fighting the redcoats in return for their freedom. The R. I. Assembly passed a bill allowing slaves to enlist in the state forces without permission from their master," the story says.

The story is datelined Providence, R.I., Feb. 14, 1778. And the newspaper, the Black Chronicle, is Robert Miller's idea for bringing Negro history to life for black and white high school students alike by presenting it in a modern newspaper format.

Fourteen issues of the unique classroom journal covering the plight and progress of blacks in America, from the American Revolution to the early civil rights movement of the late 1950s and 60s, will be sold to schools across the country beginning in January by the publishing firm of Holt, Rheinhart and Winston.

Miller, a white, 30-year-old ex-actor now living in Cambridge, Mass., majored in history at Brandeis University before giving up an off-Broadway stage career two years ago to work full time researching and writing the four-page paper.

"This just seemed like a dynamic way to present black history," he said.

Sound tracks are being distributed along with the newspaper which was produced and financed in part by Blackside Inc., a black-owned Boston firm specializing in audio-visual educational materials.

To gather his stories, Miller combed through dozens of history books and little known Negro newspapers that flourished during the 19th and early 20th Centuries. The Black Chronicle is filled with "news" -like the Rhode Island slaves being freed to fight the British- that is rarely stressed and often not mentioned in what Miller calls "white history" used in many schools.

But if the Chronicle is a novel method for teaching students more about blacks in America than they can get out of the average history book, writing it also has been an education for its author.

"Blacks have always been presented as "passive." but I've discovered it wasn't that way at all. There were lots of slave revolts, for instance, that you never hear about," he said. "I've really learned a lot myself doing this."

Miller thinks the paper should be just as popular among white students as he is hoping it will be among blacks.

"This is part of white history too. It's not propaganda, it all happened," he said, "and I feel cheated that I didn't get to learn about it when I went to School."

Research Links Geysers To Quakes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) suggested Wednesday that geysers may be earthquake forecasters.

It reported findings by a NOAA research scientist, Dr. John S. Rinehart, that the frequency of geyser eruptions is linked to the buildup of subterranean stresses which cause quakes.

Rinehart studied records of a number of geysers, including Yellowstone Park's Old Faithful.

He found that as strains affecting a geyser's underground plumbing accumulate, the time interval between eruptions decreases. Once the stresses are relieved, as by a quake, the interval increases.

In the case of Old Faithful, the interval decreased gradually from 1961 through 1963, after which there was an abrupt lengthening of the period between eruptions.

This was believed to be associated with the magnitude 8.4 Alaskan earthquake of March 28, 1964, NOAA said.

The geyser's behavior before and after Yellowstone's Bebgen Lake quake of Aug. 17, 1959, was similar. Its eruption period started shrinking steadily from 1956 to the time of the earthquake, after which it began to increase.

"The delay between the earthquake and the associated change in geyser eruption interval appears," NOAA said, "to be the time required for strain to propagate through the earth from the source to the geyser."

Scientists have long been searching for reliable quake prediction methods.

"The patterns reported by Rinehart," NOAA said, "suggest that geysers are natural instruments for detecting the strain episodes associated with earthquake activity."

Michigan is divided into two peninsulas, known as the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula.

DELUXE SHOCKS INSTALLED
10.50 PAIR REG. 14.98
Comparable to original equipment. Reduce uneven tire wear. For most Fords, Chev.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE
Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:
If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.
Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.
For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY
Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven
40 month	$10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard

Camera . . . Action!

It's fall, and that means action on the gridirons all across the country, high school, college and professional. For a photographer, that means plenty of opportunity for fine action pictures.

Shutter speeds play a vital part in good action shots. Perhaps the first thing the beginning photographer thinks of is getting a camera with a fast shutter, so that he can "stop" the action. And, of course, that's one good way to show the spirit of the game.

Fast speeds will "freeze" action. You'll be able to show in sharp detail the punter's leg as it follows through, a halfback's sharp "cut" as he runs for daylight. Expressions, gestures, form and the like will be caught for all to see.

But don't overlook the possibility of slower shutter speeds to convey action. By letting fast action get a little too quick for your lens, you'll get a blurring effect that suggests motion, speed . . . and action.

Fast action is something you can count on when you want your film developed, enlargements made, or any special picture service. See us for all your film processing, and for the finest in equipment.

Closure Of Dangerous Schools Brings Back Double Sessions

Some 8,000 school children in the San Jose Unified School District this year are reliving an experience post-World War II pupils became familiar with — they're attending double-session schools.

A lot of San Francisco youngsters and perhaps many more throughout California are in the same boat. San Francisco, for example, has already closed eight elementary schools plus a portion of two others and one high school.

There are two compelling reasons why: one is the fear generated by the Feb. 9, 1971, earthquake which destroyed, providentially, empty schools in the Los Angeles area; the other is the Field Act, a law enacted after the disastrous Long Beach temblor of March 10, 1933.

The Field Act sets up safety standards for schools and holds local school board members personally liable for injuries or deaths from quakes if the standards are not met.

Coincidentally, San Jose voters went to the polls last Feb. 9 to vote on a bond issue for Field Act compliance work. It failed.

News of the L.A. quake had its effect, though, because the school board called back structural engineers for a resurvey of the district's buildings. Thirteen of about 50 of them were recommended for closure because of the realization that no school in California sits very far from an active earthquake fault, and any school not up to Field Act standards would not be a safe place for children.

San Jose school leaders burned their bridges. Eleven of thirteen schools have been demolished. One of the remaining two is used for warehousing and the other as an adult education administration center. And 8,000 San Jose youngsters will attend school on double sessions for at least the current school year.

Most school districts, like San Jose, have done little to comply with the Field Act until recently. The behemoth among them, Los Angeles Unified, has had a program of reconstruction or replacement going since 1933, but it is still $100 million in construction expenditures short of completing the job.

Most districts procrastinated, putting off earthquake safety for what seemed more immediate priorities. Even after the Tehachapi quake of 1953, progress was miniscule. School board members and administrators might have felt a new urgency, but the voters did not mark the "Yes" boxes at bond elections.

Some legislators, foremost among them Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, tried in a variety of ways to build a fire under the districts and their voters, but without noticeable effect. Even a 1967 law authored by Greene setting a 1975 deadline for compliance or closure failed to get any really substantial action. Where he and others failed, the Los Angeles quake brought action.

Reflecting its greater size, San Francisco Unified School District's problem is proportionately worse than San Jose's although it has spent over $107 million since 1948 on Field Act compliance. Where San Jose needs about $20 million to comply, San Francisco still needs about $150 million.

In 1970, 63 of its buildings were judged unsafe. Any closures of them will depend on a $56 million Field Act compliance bond issue set for election next Nov. 2. Even if it passes — and with a two-thirds majority requirement, that is no cinch — the time lag between bonds voted and children seated is sufficient to insure that many of the pupils will spend a substantial portion of their school years in double sessions, or, as San Francisco plans for a portion of its enrollment, in 400 transportables.

San Jose, with $6.7 million available from a previously voted bond issue, is in better shape. Assistant Supt. Charles Schmale said they expect to occupy five new schools by September, 1972. A bond election, hoped for for next fall, but more likely to occur around February, would be expected to make up the balance needed.

Projecting children on double sessions throughout California on the basis of two districts is not advisable, but figures supplied the Legislature in 1970 by the Bureau of School Planning in the Department of Education will give some idea, assuming that San Jose's responsible attitude becomes general.

The report indicated that 1,777 buildings had been inspected and found wanting under Field Act terms.

It said $672 million was estimated as the compliance requirement, but Charles D. Gibson, head of the Bureau of School Planning, notes that construction costs are doubling every five years, which would place the bill in the neighborhood of $1.3 billion by the compliance deadline of 1975.

TONIGHT while MARIN sleeps . . .

employees of Casa Marin will be busily engaged in placing 13-HOUR SALE price tags on many, many home furnishings throughout our store. Why? Because the tremendous volume of business usually anticipated at this season has not come in — to date. A lag in traffic, with its resulting loss in movement of goods, cannot be tolerated for many days.

Fresh, new merchandise arrives almost daily and with these arrivals comes the problem of locating such items in the store . . . and in the warehouse. Now, to move out some $20,000 worth of overstock in one day takes some real doing. And the only way that we know to accomplish same is with a hotter-than-hot, door-busting sale. Consequently, we are offering TOMORROW (Friday) $114,500 worth of quality home furnishings for only $86,495 . . . every single item at a substantial saving to you.

This certainly will be the BIGGEST ONE-DAY SAVINGS OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR. So don't be late. Casa Marin opens at 9 A.M. tomorrow morning. No matter what furnishings you need or want for your home, you'll find them . . . and at almost unbelievably low, low prices.

Remember: SALE LASTS FROM 9 A.M. to 10 P.M. Don't miss it! Bring the entire family with you. You'll be glad you did!

13-HOUR SALE

TOMORROW
9:00 A.M. to 10 P.M.

- Extra salespeople to serve you!
- All items subject to prior sale
- Items under $25 priced less delivery!
- No returns, exchanges!
- Everything sold "as-is"!
- No sales to dealers!

W. Germany Recruits U.S. Teachers

By HOWARD A. TYNER

BONN (UPI) — Six months ago Philip Engstrom was teaching mathematics at Washington State University in Pullman and taking home $800 a month.

"Then things began looking a bit insecure in the department," he recalled in an interview here. "You know what the teaching situation in the States is like now. I thought it might be a good time to get out."

Today Engstrom, 44 and the father of four, has embarked on a new career as a math teacher in West Germany.

He is one of nearly 100 Americans taking part in a pilot project which West German educators hope may provide at least a temporary solution to this country's woeful lack of qualified teachers.

West Germany always has had a labor problem. Too few people are available to fill all the jobs created by the postwar "economic miracle."

But while two million foreign "guest workers" have been brought in to fill manual jobs, virtually nothing has been done about the teaching profession, where the shortage is acute.

By one estimate, West German schools need an additional 100,000 teachers. A survey in one state last year — when conditions were better than now —showed that one of every five schooltime hours was wasted because no instructor was on hand to use the time.

Early this year, education officials in Hamburg began casting looks at the American labor market, where it is said as many as 60,000 teachers may be out of work when schools open this fall.

The result: a program to bring unemployed U.S. teachers to West Germany.

Dr. Wilhelm Reuter, superintendent of the Hamburg school system, flew to Washington, where, with the aid of a German radio correspondent and an acquaintance in the State Department, he began recruiting.

"We had more than 500 applications for 100 jobs—we never expected such a return," Reuter said.

Surprisingly, a large number of applicants were unemployed members of the aerospace industry, trying to fill time until the U.S. economy perks up.

"But only those were selected who had previous teaching experience," said a spokesman for the U.S. consulate in Hamburg, which is helping with some of the arrangements.

The standards were high. Of the first group, which arrived July 29, more than one-third hold doctoral degrees. Twenty-six teach physics and 15, mathematics.

Salaries are on a German scale —but tax-free for the entire term of contract, which is two years in most cases. Including a family allowance, Engstrom will be netting more than the $800 monthly he made at Washington State University.

Morocco's Pot Dropout Crackdown

By RAYMOND WILKINSON

ESSAOIRA, Morocco (UPI)—The living is easy and drugs are cheap in this most beautiful of Moroccan coastal towns, which is why about 300 American and European young people now call it home.

The tolerant locals, however, are becoming alarmed, the police are cracking down against the foreigners and there are signs their drug-oriented community may not last much longer.

Hendrix Belling, a 23-year-old religious studies major from Copenhagen University, is typical of the disenchanted youth who drifted to Morocco and then settled in this tiny village of whitewashed and blue shuttered buildings and sandy beaches two hours drive south of Rabat, described by many Moroccans as the most beautiful of the nation's coastal towns.

Belling, who sports a long flowing beard, and dresses —as do all the foreigners here —in Levis or local Arab shirts and robes, stayed because he was short of money, and anyway life was easy and cheap.

He rents a tiny but clean room at the Hotel Les Amis, rendezvous for all newcomers, which costs him four dirhams (80 cents) a night. A double room rents for 12 dirhams ($2.40) with no questions asked.

Outside, on a brightly tiled balcony open to a sun which shines almost every day of the year, and below in a private apartment, pot parties are in progress around the clock.

The foreigners buy hashish for five dirhams ($1) an ounce or the locally grown marijuana, for half that price.

Those staying permanently can rent seaview apartments for 150 dirhams ($30) a month.

"Kids soon drop into an easy routine here," Belling says. By mid-morning the foreigners gather at the Cafe de France to sip coffee and "watch the scene." They occasionally break off "to do things," a visit to a local teahouse where they smoke hashish with the Arabs and sip mint tea.

One enterprising Moroccan has opened the "Hippie Bar" which has become another focal point for the foreigners. "Janet and Susan" and other travellers advertise "for a ride going north to Rabat. Will share expenses," at its entrance.

Though prices are double those of other places (a meat and rice dish of "couscous" costs three dirhams or 60 cents here), they sit around a tiled courtyard with a central fountain listening to deafening out-of-date rock music because, as Belling explained, "there's so few places to go and most people become bored after a time."

Disturbed by the foreigners dress, easy sexual habits and the influence they wield over local youth, many Moroccans here and in other hippie centers such as Tangier and Marrakech are showing their concern.

They are especially frightened by one practice by some foreigners who make money by smuggling LSD into the country and selling it to local teenagers.

The police have begun to crack down. In Essaoira they force many people to move on after three months, although the foreign community remains approximately 300.

At least seven Americans and an undetermined number of other foreigners currently are in Moroccan jails

Future Prospect: Levitated Trains

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — High-speed trains held above the ground by the power of magnetic force are well within the range of technical feasibility, according to Paul L. Richards, professor of Physics at UC-Berkeley.

Whether magnetic suspension trains "get off the ground" in the U.S. in the next decade or two may depend more upon economic and political considerations than upon any severe technical problems, Prof. Richards said.

The big problem of providing magnets that are both powerful and lightweight can apparently be solved by applying the principle of superconductivity — something that has existed mainly in the laboratory until recently.

There is already a major commitment to magnetic suspension development in Japan, Prof. Richards pointed out, and small but growing numbers of experts in the U.S. are at work on various phases of research.

Held up by the same force that causes like poles of two magnets to repel each other, a magnetically levitated train could give a fast and smooth ride with complete safety in case of power failure.

Children Work Hard For Their Pennies

BANGKOK (UPI) — Youngsters selling flowers swarm over Bangkok's traffic circles at night, risking life and limb to earn a few pennies.

Some motorists consider the young entrepreneurs a nuisance. Police frequently haul the children off to the station for lectures.

"These children make a lot of problems for us," said Police Maj. Chamlong Iamchaengphan. "They block traffic. It is dangerous for the children too."

Despite all their efforts, the police haven't been able to stop the practice. Many motorists buy the sweet-smelling jasmine garlands, which may make Bangkok's stifling heat and monumental traffic jams a little more bearable.

"My parents cannot afford to send me to school any more," said Lek Saengthong, a 14-year-old garland seller. "When I finished the fifth grade, my mother told me to sell flowers in the streets. I buy the garlands for 70 satang (3.5 cents) each and sell them for one baht (5 cents). I give all the money I make to my mother every day and she gives me a baht for myself. I help support my family," she added proudly.

Wanchai Somsri got into the business this summer at the age of seven. He never went to school a day in his life. Both his parents have remarried and he lives with his grandmother.

"I sell about 10 garlands a day and give all the money to my grandmother," he said.

Wanchai, barefoot and very dirty, explained: "My grandmother feeds me and she is too old to work."

Aew Boonmee, 13, sells more garlands than most of her competitors, but the risks are great.

"I was struck by a car a year ago," she said, explaining that she approached a car she thought was going to stop at a red light.

"The man who was driving didn't even stop to ask if I was hurt," she said, adding that her injuries were minor.

Eight-year-old Lek Cammee also was struck by a car last year.

"The man who was driving took me to a hospital," he said. "After the doctor took care of me, the driver gave me 300 baht ($15) for damages. He was very kind."

Daeng Meechoke, 12, thinks the police should leave him and the other flower sellers alone.

"I asked a policeman if he would rather we should be pickpockets or juvenile delinquents," he said. "The policeman got angry, but he let me go."

Daeng looks for cars with women passengers.

"Most women like the garlands but the men try to chase us away," he said with a grin.

Fabian Working On New Career

DALLAS (UPI) —Remember Fabian? The guy with the catchy name who looked like a cross between Elvis and Ricky Nelson and sold one million copies of "Tiger"?

Back in 1959 he was the biggest thing since bobby sox and penny loafers and ducktails. Now he's 28, married and a father, trying to make a comeback as an actor.

"I have to laugh when I hear I'm considered 'nostalgia' now. I'm only 28," he said in an interview.

"But I understand it. My name has become synonymous with the beginning of the rock 'n' roll era and most of the people who were there with me were much older.

"I never had any aspirations to be a singer when Iwas discovered," he said. "I was 15 at the time and I wanted to be an engineer. I quit singing three years later and bought out my contract for $65,000.

"I haven't really sung since," he said.

But Fabian Forte —his real name and the one he uses professionally now —doesn't look like a has-been or a washup or anything like a tarnished teen idol. He opened his apartment door for the interview with a nervous smile and a come-on-in wave. Dressed in a blue terry robe and tapered pants, he looked like Warren Beatty's younger brother.

WHALE ON A DIET

Fabian is currently touring with the Windmill Dinner Theater, starring in the comedy, "Love Is A Time of Day." Local reviewers were unenthusiastic about the play, but hoorahed Fabian for his relaxed boyish appeal and his easy approach to comedy.

"They wanted Sal Mineo for the part first. They finally came to me because I was the only actor who had done this play," Fabian said goodnaturedly as he lit another cigaret.

He harbors few illusions about cut-throat competition in show business. He was "discovered" as a teen-ager on his Philadelphia doorstep by record promoter Bob Marcucci, who balleyhooed the handsome son of a policeman into an instant star. Hits like the single, "Tiger," and the album, "The Fabulous Fabian" made millions.

"Actually I wasn't really discovered, I was created," he said. "I could carry a tune, but that's about all. The rest was all ballyhoo."

"You grow up fast when you're a star at 15. In many ways it was fun, but then you become conscious that you're a business. I never did like that.

Almost overnight Fabian won the American Bandstand popularity poll, the Cashbox award and decorated his den with gold records.

"I didn't know who the hell I was. It happened too fast, too much, too soon, that type of thing. I was under a doctor's care a lot of the time.

"But I don't think we were necessarily exploited. No." He studied his cigaret. "No, I think we all got out of it what we wanted."

"I bought myself out. I can't believe a boy of 18 making all those decisions. But the casualty rate for teen-age idols is pretty high and one-record-wonders were dropping like flies. It's better to be a has-been than a never-was, but I had to make something else out of my life."

He tried to make the switch to movies, and made 24, bkt usually was typecast in the beach and motorbike romances.

"They were innocuous kind of things," he recalled, "most of the time we sat and smiled around and then jumped up and sang."

One of the few roles he remembers with pride is his portrayal of a homicidal killer in a segment of TV's "Bus Stop" called "A Lion Walks Among Us." It caused a stir in critical circles even though people in some areas of the country didn't see it because it was blacked out by sponsors who didn't want to offend teen-age fans by ruining his "nice guy" image.

"Producers still think of me as what I was, what I'm not any longer," he said. "It's my connection with the late 50s and 60s. So as an actor you have to make a living and you get hung up in things not by choice. Someday I'll get lucky and get the right film."

Until the big break comes, there's a wife, Katie, a 20-month-old son, Christian, and "another on the way."

Fabian jogs to keep in shape and punches a sand bag to work out his aggressions. Then there's film classes and acting lessons.

"I'm preparing myself for later. I have my first photo credit now. I shot a film on Glen Cowan, the colorful member of the ping-pong team that went to Red China. A friend of mine suggested we shoot it because ping-pong doesn't get much publicity. Little did we know —some of my footage was used afterwards on network television."

Fabian said he would like to do more television acting ("if they'd ask me") or try singing again.

"I've got a good songwriter now, so I might try it. Critics have been saying I have good comedy timing and should try situation comedy. I don't know."

He stubbed out another cigaret and ran his hands through the famous hair.

"I just want to be judged on what I do. You're lucky if you get one break. Two I don't know about."
